Death of Councilor Channing

In chronicling the death of Councilor James J. Channing, which occurred at his residence, Theatre Hill, this morning, we do so with feelings of sincere regret. The deceased Councilor was known to all in the city and was a man who possessed many friends, to whom his death will occasion much sadness. Mr. Channing received his education at the schools of the Christian Brothers, St. Patrick's Hall and after finishing his course entered the pharmacy of Mr. M. Connors where he learned the drug business, later going into the drug store of the late John T. O'Sullivan, remaining there many years. Then he went into business for himself on New Gower Street and conducted a prosperous business on the north side of that thoroughfare, later transferring to the splendid premises which is on the south side of the same thoroughfare. Mr. Channing contested the last Municipal election and polled a splendid vote coming next to Councilor Martin, the Deputy Mayor, a testimony to the esteem and regard which his fellow citizens entertained for him. Being a man of more than average intelligence and ability he gave his best thoughts to civic matters and had his health not failed possibly legislative honours would have been his in the near future. Mr. Channing was of a kindly, affable and optimistic temperament and was highly esteemed in his native city. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus and occupied a prominent position in the Pharmaceutical Society. The deceased married Miss Fannie Dunphy, daughter of the late John Dunphy, Assistant Commissioner of Charities, and was a brother-in-law of Mr. Wm. Dunphy, of the Poor Office. He leave a mother, father, wife and several children, two brothers, Messrs. John and Lewis, and one sister, Miss Kennedy, who have our sincere sympathy in their bereavement.

Last Night's Concert.

The concert held in the Presbyterian hall, last night, was a great success. The programme consisted of: Scotch Reels, Miss Ross; Scottish Bluebells, Miss Strang; Recitation, Miss Doyle; Bonnie Dundee, Mr. Clark; Will ye come back again, Miss Winter; Loch Lomond, Mr. Strang; Comin' Tro' the Rye, Misses Herder, Winter and Anderson; Hundred Pipers, Mrs. Sherriff; Recitation, Miss Hamlin; Cam' ye, by Athol, Miss Herder; Jessie's Dream, Mr. Anderson; Land o' the Leaf, Misses Strang and Anderson; Within a Mile o' Edinboro' Town, Miss J. Strang. After the concert a pleasing ceremony took place when Miss Jean Strang was presented with a bouquet of flowers by Misses Mary Syme and Dorothy Baird. Miss Strang will soon go abroad to resume her studies, and this was a surprise given her in appreciation of her generous help to every worthy cause. Cheers called for by Mr. Hepburn, the Chairman, were heartily given for Miss Strang, Mrs. R. H. Anderson and the members we congratulate on the success of their efforts. Tea was served at the conclusion and the singing of the National Anthem brought this pleasing affair to a close. Mr. Hepburn conducted the proceedings with grace and dignity, and the rendition of Jessie's Dream by Mr. R. H. Anderson was excellent and deserved the applause accorded.

OBITUARY.—There passed away last night a well-known and respected citizen in the person of John Clarke, after a protracted illness. Deceased came to this country from Belfast, Ireland, thirty-five years ago when he joined the staff of the Colonial Cordage Company, of which concern he was foreman previous to his death. Mr. Clarke was a prominent member of Avalon Masonic Lodge. A wife, two sons and one daughter survive. To the bereaved family sincere sympathy will be extended.

Sealing Notes.

A message was received from the S. S. Eagle this morning, reading as follows:—
"Have on board between four-teen and fifteen thousand seals."

Up to dinner hour to-day the S. S. Stephano had landed 30,000 seals, which are still averaging 50 lbs. The ship will finish discharging to-morrow.

This morning, the accompanying message was received by the Fisheries Department from the Customs officer at Bonavista:—

"S.S. Erik in Bonavista Harbor; report says crew on strike."
Messrs. Job Bros have no knowledge of any unusual happening on board their steamer. As to what the nature of the strike may be, is only a matter of conjecture just yet.

Bennett's Band Scores.

Mr. Edwards-Wall, carpenter, writing from Montreal, to his brother John, of this city, says that St. Patrick's Day was celebrated in Montreal with great eclat. The principal feature of the festivities was the parade of the Irish Societies in which 7,000 men lined up and marched through the principal streets. The music was furnished by 15 bands of music prominent among which was Bennett's famous band led by Professor John Bennett, whose cornet playing often thrilled friends in this city. The music of this splendid band of 22 pieces charmed all who heard it, and the following was the programme, in the execution of which Mr. Bennett was heartily congratulated:

- 1.—St. Patrick's Day.
- 2.—Medley of Irish Airs.
- 3.—The Harp That Once.
- 4.—Let Erin Remember.
- 5.—Enraptured Isle.
- 6.—The Exile of Erin.
- 7.—I Love to Hear an Irish Band.
- 8.—The Irish Victory.
- 9.—Come Back to Erin.

Mrs. Pankhurst's Trial.

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, To-day. Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, militant suffragette, from the prisoners' enclosure at Old Bailey Court house yesterday pleaded not guilty to charge of having counselled several persons whose names are unknown to place gunpowder and other explosive substances with intent thereby to damage Lloyd George's country house at Walton Heath. Frail looking and pale the suffragette leader when she looked at the jury, she was dressed in a round court room found practically all the public seats were occupied by women wearing rosettes and suffragette colors. Then she turned composedly to Sir Charles Montague Lush, Judge, and announced, I will defend myself. She was given a table on which to place her papers. Archibald H. Bodkin counsel for the Treasury had not proceeded far with his case when Mrs. Pankhurst interposed with the objection, I do not mind counsel introducing reports of my speeches made by Journalists, but I object to police reports. They are grossly inaccurate, very ignorant, ungrammatical and convey absolutely wrong impressions of what I said. The judge soothed her by promising her she should have an opportunity later of correcting them. Bodkin's speech closely followed the arguments used, during the preliminary hearing in police court, he said. It was not suggested Mrs. Pankhurst was present at the time the bomb was placed in Lloyd George's house, but the prosecution charged that she was necessary before the fact.

A Runaway.

To-day at 1 o'clock while Mr. John Dodd, of McDougall Street, was at dinner he left his horse which was harnessed to a carriage in the yard in the rear of his house. The animal took fright, breaking down his fence, and ran down McDougall Street, colliding with Mr. Roll's fence, taking away the corner. Then he proceeded out Hayward Avenue down Catherine Street, killing a hen, then in Monkstown Road, striking two lads named Crane and Grant, hurting the latter in the right leg, then again colliding with Mr. Griev's fence. He damaged the wagon, smashing the front wheel hood and lamps, besides destroying the harness, but was stopped on Mullock Street without doing any further damage.

Household Notes.

Cloth-topped shoes are growing in favor.

The bolero seems to be firmly established.

A very few long coats are seen this spring.

A novelty cotton crepe has chenille borders.

White and magpie veillings are the favorites.

Hemp continues to be the favorite hat material.

Lace-trimmed gloves are an interesting novelty.

Colors in the new silks are brighter and brighter.

A few pleated skirts are seen in the tailors' suits.

The new wrap print ribbons have dark rich grounds.
