OPEN SEASON FOR SPECKLED TROUT

Began Today and London Anglers Are Sorting Out Their Files.

The open season for speckled trout began today. Since the first of September the speckled trout, who, by the way, bears the distinguished name Salvelinus Fontinalis, has been busy about domestic duties. Like the salmon, the speckled trout seeks gravelly bottoms in streams to deposit the spawn in the fall of the season, lasting from three to six months, during which period a benign government forbids the angler to molest them. The female excavates a nest in the gravel, and fans out the sand by means of the anal fin, which is in progress. The eggs are 3-16 of an inch in diameter, varying, however, considerably in size and number with the weight of the fish. A one-pound trout has furnished 1,800. The eggs require about 150 days to hatch, although in the higher temperature of the spring house ponds, they have been hatched in another month or two after hatching, when the independent life of the young trout begins.

London anglers should keep in mind that the close of the fisheries regulations regarding speckled trout for the local inspectors have received strict instructions to have the law carried out in every detail.

1. It is illegal for any person to catch in any one day more than 10 trout, or more than 15 pounds of trout, though the number weighing 15 pounds may be less than 10.

2. It is illegal to catch a trout less than six inches in length.

3. It is illegal to fish for trout in any manner except by angling.

4. No trout caught in provincial waters may be exposed for sale or exported from the province before July 1, 1903.

WALL STREET'S BUSY DAY!

Extraordinary Transactions Recorded on the New York Stock Board.

New York, April 30.—Wall street—Extraordinary transactions were recorded in the opening dealings in stocks and sensational gains were shown all through the list. The first sales numbered 30,000 for United States Steel, 25,000 each for United States Steel, common and preferred, 10,000 for Southern Pacific, and from 1,000 to 5,000 shares for many other stocks among the Trunk lines, Grangers, Pacifics, Southwesterns and Southern Railway groups. There were gains of from one to two points scattered all through the list of leading railroad stocks and prominent specialties. The fluctuations became rather wild after the opening under the enormous volume of transactions, heavy selling to realize meeting the advances.

The transactions yesterday were by far the largest in the history of that institution, the total being estimated at 2,760,000 shares.

SUFFERED LIKE JOB

Boils and Pimples, the Result of Bad Blood, Make Life Unbearable.

Ruisseau La Blanc, Que., April 29.—(Special).—An estimable lady, whose home is in this village, has been much afflicted with boils. Miss Marie Arthur is her name, and the torture she has endured is beyond description.

For a long time, these unpleasant and painful evidences of bad blood have been appearing, first on one part of her body, then on another. She was never free from them.

She doctored and tried medicines of many kinds, but nothing did her any good, or lessened the trouble in the least. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her. She writes:

"It is a long time that I have been suffering from boils on the leg, which was caused through bad blood. I tried many medicines, but no good. Two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me. I praise them always." Dodd's Kidney Pills purify the blood in nature's way, through the kidneys.

Rev. W. A. Vrooman, of the Maple Street Congregational Church, Winnipeg, has received and accepted a call from the Vancouver Congregational Church.

FOR THE OVERWORKED.—What are the causes of despondency and melancholy? A disordered liver is one cause and a prime one. A disordered liver means a disordered stomach, and a disordered stomach means a disturbed nervous system. This brings the whole body into subjection and the victim feels sick all over. Farmelee's Vegetable Pills are a recognized remedy in this state, and relief will follow their use.

HEAVY LOSSES FROM FIRE!

A $225,000 Blaze at Pittsburg Leaves Many Homeless.

Conflagration and Panic in a Chicago Hotel—Fires in Other Places.

Pittsburg, April 30.—Fire at the corner of Carson and Seventeenth streets, south side, yesterday caused a property loss of $225,000, consumed over a dozen buildings and rendered a score of persons homeless. The flames were discovered in the basement of the four-story department store of Geo. E. Lorsch & Bros., and in a very short time the entire building was consumed furiously. It was in ruins within 30 minutes.

A shower of burning timbers were thrown from the Lorsch building, carrying destruction in all directions. Several stores and a number of dwellings were destroyed.

When the fire broke out Mrs. Donley and child were on the fourth floor of the Lorsch building. In her haste to escape, the mother fell on the stairs and was rendered unconscious. In the excitement it was whether forgotten or burned before aid could reach it. The child was 2½ years old.

FIRE AND ROBBERY.

Arlington, Mass., April 30.—Fire was discovered in the attic of the Town Hall yesterday when the attention of the firemen and the police were directed to putting out the blaze, robbers entered the office of the town clerk, on the second floor, forced open the safe and secured $1,200. The fire caused a damage of $2,000.

PAINING AMONG HOTEL GUESTS.

Chicago, April 30.—Shortly before 1 this morning fire broke out in the Revere House, a six-story hotel building, situated at the corner of Michigan and North Clark streets. The fire created a lively panic among the numerous guests of the hotel, many of whom left the building in their night clothes. No one was injured. The fire was gotten under control within twenty minutes. The damage to the hotel by fire and water did not amount to more than $5,000.

FOREST FIRE.

New York, April 29.—The forest fire which started at Wading River, L. I., on Saturday afternoon was under control this morning. The flames swept over a territory of from 2,000 to 3,000 acres. The region was all woodland. In some spots the trees had been cut down and were waiting for removal. All were destroyed by the flames. Many farmhouses and barns were in danger, but all were saved, except a few small structures.

Dr. M. B. Baldwin, of Warden Cliff, was caught in the path of the fire, and it is supposed that he was suffocated by the smoke, and lay unconscious until he was reached him. When his body was found it was identified by the melted watch. Dr. Baldwin was a retired physician. He started home from home on the morning of the fire, and it is possible, to aid in fighting it.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 29.—A special from Saranac Lake says: About four o'clock yesterday afternoon fire caught in the drying-room of the Calhoun mill, in the center of the village. The mill, four storehouses and 600,000 feet of lumber were destroyed. Several of the dwelling houses and freight cars were damaged. The total loss will be $150,000; partially covered by insurance.

SMALLPOX IN BERLIN

For Nine Days Mrs. Castor Was Treated by Christian Science Women Without Avail.

Berlin, Ont., April 29.—There is a case of smallpox in Waterloo. The patient is Mrs. Castor, who lives in Waterloo township. For the past nine days she has been treated by Christian Science healers, Mrs. Adams, of Berlin, and Mrs. Winkler, of Waterloo.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Kastor's condition became so serious that Dr. Bauman was called. He pronounced the illness a serious case of smallpox. He wanted for the last night, Dr. Webb. They held a consultation and sustained Dr. Bauman's decision. Prompt action was then taken; the house of the patient and neighbors were quarantined, as were also the homes of Mrs. Winkler in Waterloo and Mrs. Adams in Berlin. A special meeting of the Berlin board of health was held this morning, when a resolution for compulsory vaccination was presented, but not passed.

THE PASSING OF THE RED COAT.

Carling's Heights This Year Will Lack the Color of Former Years.

It will be a motley gathering of soldiers which will go under canvas on Carling's Heights during the summer camp of instruction this year, providing the commanding officers of the various western regiments act upon the suggestion of the district officer commanding. The latter has issued orders that the commanding officer of each regiment coming into camp shall select whatever material he deems suitable for a common-sea drill uniform. The day of the old heavy red tunic, except for dress purposes, is over. Last year many of the rural regiments in camp drilled in gray flannel blouse shirts and straw hats, and the experiment was highly successful. Military men are coming to realize that it is not the uniform that makes the soldier, and that T. Atkins, of the Canadian militia, can do quite as efficient work in his shirt sleeves as in a heavy uniform that blisters his back and unfits him for hard marching. There will be all sorts of new, light-colored coats seen on Carling's Heights this year.

New Yorkers will invest in a million-dollar winter resort on the island of Bermuda.

ONE THOUSAND BLOOMS

Big Shipment of Carnations to the Pan-American.

The Canadian Express Company handled its first Pan-American exhibit yesterday, being a shipment of 1,000 carnations, sent by Gamgam & Sons. They were packed in two large boxes, and sent by way of Fort Erie, where they entered the port of Buffalo with no unnecessary customs restrictions. Exhibit sent that way, and addressed to the director-general of the Pan-American Exposition, enter free of duty. Gamgam & Sons will be in the first judging. London is situated in a famous district for carnations, and as Gamgam's are splendid specimens, the well-known firm will doubtless come out of the conflict with flying colors.

GEN. BULLER APPEALED

To the King Against Lord Roberts' Report—Semi-Annual Meeting of the Grand Trunk Shareholders.

BULLER TO THE KING.

London, April 29.—It is persistently reported at the military clubs that General Sir Redvers Buller, on the publication of the Official Gazette, in which Earl Roberts damned him with even less than faint praise, applied to the secretary of state for war for the appointment of allowing the river to be straightened somewhat, and so lessen the tendency of ice to jam at the bridge in the spring.

BURIED THIRTY YEARS

Curious Coffin Unearthed at the Opera House Excavations.

A small sealed box was unearthed yesterday while the excavations for the Opera House were being made, and when it was opened a flood of tender thoughts was suggested to the workers who looked at it, for it bore unmistakable proof of a love that lived many years ago. Inside the outer shell was a metal coffin made of wood, with a small glass top, and all except the glass portion was covered with silk. Below the glass a canary was lying, perfect in form, with feathers neither ruffled nor discolored. It may have been the loved pet of some child, but for some reason its burial was most ceremonious. The bird must have lain there, five or six feet deep, for more than 30 years, as the barn beneath which it rested was erected in 1868.

TRAFFIC IS VERY HEAVY.

Fifteen Hundred Freight Cars Pull Out of London in 24 Hours.

What an Old Roadrunner Has to Say About the Outlook for the Future—Double Tracks From Hamilton to Komoka.

As the belt line car in which I sat the other evening crossed Westminster bridge, my attention was momentarily attracted by the heavy freight train which rumbled over the lofty G. T. R. bridge and jolted its way down through the yard. The trolley sped swiftly on its way westward for a couple of blocks and turned the corner on to the Wharncliffe road. As the car mounted the bridge crossing the railway track there was a roar underneath the structure, and my eyes followed the green tail lights of a passenger train which had come spinning down the grade from Hyatt Park. I drew the attention of my companion, an old railway man, to the closeness with which the one train was following the other in.

"Yes," he said, "they do run pretty close sometimes. I have been at the depot here and seen a passenger train follow a freight so close, that when they ran into the station on parallel tracks the engine of the passenger train was even with the van of the freight."

"Slightly dangerous, isn't it?" I inquired.

"Well, yes, it is," he answered. "There may be a big accident in this vicinity some day, careful as the railway men are. There is a rule that trains may not leave a station within ten minutes of each other, but it is a rule more honored in the breach than in the observance. Still, what is a company to do? The traffic is there and it has to be handled. Few people have any idea of the enormous freight traffic over the line of the Grand Trunk. I was out past the Cove bridge on a recent Sunday, and within ten minutes four heavy freight trains went in, two of them double-headed. Less than ten minutes after the fourth had passed, the New York express came singing down the grade, going like a cannon ball.

1,500 CARS EVERY 24 HOURS.

"From 25 to 30 is a low estimate of the number of freight trains that pull out of London East yard every day, and this means from 1,000 to 1,500 cars every 24 hours. The big double-header trains from 50 to 80 cars, which means a train from three-eighths to half a mile in length."

"Do you think the Grand Trunk will double-track its road through London?"

"It probably will do so some time in the not-far distant future. Such a course would relieve the congestion of the traffic to some extent, but not so much as it would be the traffic not all one way. There is practically no freight run west out of London. For all western freight is sent over the main line, through Stratford. Double-tracking would merely relieve the line of its western passenger traffic and allow freight to be hurried eastward with less delay."

"The Grand Trunk has been steadily improving its lines in the matter of double-tracking, and from Montreal to Niagara Falls the line is now as fine a piece of double-tracked road as can be found in America. I should not be surprised if within a few years the company proposed to double-track this line from Hamilton to Komoka, at which point, you know, the traffic divides. I believe it is the intention of the company that when the Cove bridge is renewed, as it will be done within a couple of years, it will be a double-track structure, and I believe also that an extra span will be added, with the object of allowing the river to be straightened somewhat, and so lessen the tendency of ice to jam at the bridge in the spring."

At this point the car reached my corner and I alighted, leaving my conversation with my railroading friend to be finished on a subsequent occasion.

MRS. NATION IS INSANE! TRIO RECEIVED TWENTY DAYS!

Breaks Down in Solitary Confinement in Wichita Jail—Physicians Think She Will Recover With Rest.

Wichita, Kan., April 30.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, the saloon wrecker, has broken down and is believed to be insane. The crisis in her condition followed a term of solitary confinement and the receipt of the news of her brother's death. It is thought by physicians who have examined her that she will soon recover, but others believe that her case is hopeless.

On Thursday Mrs. Nation had a fight with her friend, Mrs. Wilhoit, who was confined in the same prison. Mrs. Nation, who was accused of being a spy of the saloon men and that she cast evil spells upon her cause. Mrs. Nation slapped Mrs. Wilhoit and pulled her nose.

Sheriff Simmons was forced to place Mrs. Nation in solitary confinement in the rotary cell. She was also put on the bread and water diet.

On Saturday morning news came here that her brother was dying at Lewisburg, and she was advised to accept bail at once and go home. Jas. Ray, her attorney, and Wilbur Jones, her former bondsman, and best friend, visited the jail and asked to see her. They explained the reasons she should leave the jail.

Mrs. Nation stared at them, then burst into a hysterical trade against them and said if she wanted to get out she could fly. This alarmed her friends, who were discharged.

A sidewalk wheelman contributed the customary $2, while a citizen who drove a team over a sidewalk paid $1.
