These Cooking Bags are now available by mail or at The London Advertiser Office in quantity and at cost, as stated on coupon, which must be clipped out and presented or sent with order. A Paper Bag Cooking Coupon will be found in every issue of The London Advertiser as long as the bags are on sale.

Directions---How to Use Cooking Bags:

1. Select one that "fits" the food intended to be cooked. 2. Grease slightly the inside of the bag, except in the case of vegetables, or when water is to be added.

3. When the food has been prepared for the bag, place the same on the table, and lift the uppermost edge of the bag while you insert the contents,

4. Fold the mouth of the bag two or three times and fasten with a clip, or pins, or in any other way that will secure as nearly as possible a hermetical closing.

Should it ever happen that a bag leaks, simply transfer it with contents undisturbed to another bag.

5. The oven, any kind of which will do, should be kept clean, and if properly heated, as with the old style of cooking, results should satisfactorily follow. Average oven heat should be about 200 degrees, Fahr., and when the bag is put into the over this heat should be reduced by about 30 degrees. In the case of ovens with solid shelves, a wire grid should be placed on the shelf with a space between and the bag with contents on the grid. Experience will soon teach the cook when the oven is hot enough without the use of a

6. The oven loor will not require to be opened every now and then "to see how the roast is doing." The whole force of the heat is playing upon the bag and from within

7. Exercise care in taking the bag out of the oven, and if gas is used the bag should be kept out of danger of contact with the flame.

A plate inserted under the bag will best remove it from the oven.

8. When taken out for use the bag should be ripped open from the top and the fragments thrown away.

IRISH VICEROY FROM ROYALTY

King George May Change the Policy in Regard to the Governor-General.

ISLESMEN DODGING TAXES

ounty of Sligo Having Touble With

Dublin, Aug. 15.—This city long ago took up and improved the plan fathered in Detroit a number of years ago by Hazen S. Pingree, then mayor, of using vacant lots about the city for raising vegetables by and for the poor. A "Vacant Land Cultivation Society" was formed, which, though working on modest lines, has done a good deal of practical work. Many vacant spaces in the poorer quarters of the city, which a few years ago were used as dumping grounds for refuse, have been transformed into handsome gardens, producing flowers and vegetables, which find a ready sale in the markets. The plots are let to deserving applicants, and at present there are 200 persons benefitting by the scheme. The society's report for 1910-11 states that there has been a steady improvement in the work of the plot holders, and ther number has increased from 23 to 36. There are many vacant spaces in and around Dublin, which are not only eyesores, but a source of danger to public health. The society wants to turn all these waste lands, until built on, into office of viceroy, and would like to sea a member of the post. This can only mean, now that the Duke of Connaught is to be viceroy in Canada, that either the duke's son, Prince Arthur of Connaught, or the Queen's brother, Prince Alexander of Teck, may be sent to Ireland.

Clever Plot Falls.

sent to Ireland. Clever Plot Fails. Here's a good story of a plot that failed in connection with King George's recent visit to Dublin. The attitude of Lord Mayor O'Farrell failed in connection with King George's recent visit to Dublin. The attitude of Lord Mayor O'Farrell caused a lot of criticism among the more ardent Nationalists, and it was feared by them for a while that he was going to offer an official welcome to the King, in spite of the decision of the Dublin corporation to take no part in the proceedings. Well, on the afternoon of the day before the King's arrival, a splendidly-appointed automobile drove up to the door of the Mansion House, and the chauffeur declared that he had been sent to bring the lord mayor to the Viceregal Lodge for a private conference with the Viceroy about the reception to the King. The lord mayor smelt a rat, however, and telephoned to the Viceregal Lodge and learned that no car had been sent for him. It has been learned since then that the car was chartered by a party of extreme Nationalists, who had planned to kidnap the lord mayor and deposit him the wilds of Donegal, from which

The theory is that if the lord mayor of Dublin had "done his duby he would have received a knighthood, and would have received a knighthood, and would have been correspondingly honored." As it was the King couldn't confer honors on chairmen of district councils and the like when the lord mayor of Dublin was left out.

"Women have thrown away their pads and are dressing more naturally, but men, some of them, still insist upon retaining their unnatural figures built up with heavy padding, hair-cloth and canvas. Look at this English modelled suit, with its perfectly natural shouders unpadded, just cut to fit the figure without "stuffing." its closely fitting vest and its straight, narrow trousers without superfluous cloth. Compare this with the long, loose-fitting American coat, with its heavily padded shoulders and hard front. Which seems the more natural? Isn't the English suit just chock full of common sense? You can't deny it."
