

Come To Church Tomorrow

"YES, I know all the excuses. I know that one can worship the Creator in a grove of trees or by a running brook, or in a man's own house, just as well as in a church. But I also know as a matter of fact the average man does not thus worship."

Here are a few benefits to be derived from church attendance:

"You will listen to and take part in reading some beautiful passages from the Bible. And if you are not familiar with the Bible, you have suffered loss."

"You will take part in singing some good hymns."

"You will meet and nod or speak to good neighbors. You will come away feeling a little more charitably inclined toward all the world, even toward those excessively foolish young men who regard church-going as a soft performance."

"Join in church work for the sake of showing your faith in your works."

Make your start in church service tomorrow. A fair trial of church attendance will convince you it's well worth while.

VACATIONS

(BY REV. D. ROGERS.)

A FEW LINES ON THE PERENNIAL SUBJECT OF VACATIONS.

In many households the question for months has been as to the best mode of vacation. It is generally conceded that all need rest and change. Perhaps the first and best thing to do is to measure the length of your purpose.

"Dear John," the wife wrote from a fashionable resort, "I inclose the hotel bill."

"Dear Mary," he responded, "I inclose check to cover the bill, but please do not buy any more hotels at this figure—they are cheating you."

There may be as much health, good cheer and recuperation in a country farm house, where the cows come up every night and yield milk without any chink in it. What the people of the cities need is quiet—lying down on their backs under a tree, looking up through the branches, five miles distant from a telephone or a postoffice. And what the people of the country need is sight-seeing. Independent of what others do or say, in the selection of summer recreations let us study our own temperaments and finances. The healthiest recreations do not necessarily cost much. There is a great area of enjoyment within the circumference of a five-dollar bill if we only know how to make the circuit. More depends upon ourselves than upon the affluence of our surroundings.

It is well to get away from business, and if possible, from the excessive heat. Heat is debilitating. It dissipates physical, mental and moral energy. Nerve exhaustion impoverishes spirituality. Heat has a moral effect. Races of hot climates have a peppery nature, and it is hard for a peppery man to be the "salt of the earth."

James Whitcomb Riley writes:

Hot weather? yes, but really not compared with weather twice as hot. Find comfort, then, in arguing this. And you'll pull through victorious. For instance, while you gasp and pant, And try to cool yourself—and can't— With soda, cream and lemonade, The heat is ninety in the shade— Just calmly sit and ponder o'er These same degrees, with ninety more In tow of them, and so concede The weather now is cool indeed!

The man who has been in close proximity to humanity—or in heated shop, store or office, needs to get in touch with nature. There is an ancient legend of an earth-born wrestler whose strength was renewed every time he came into contact with his native earth, and that legend is finding its fulfillment today in the history of tens of thousands of earth workers. There is strength and healing in the return to God's great outdoors. There is strange helpfulness in the pine-forest and on the bosom of the lake, and the wide open fields and the breezy hills seem to exhale a vigor which the busy city cannot supply.

While there are phases of nature more attractive than others, it does not matter so much where as how you enjoy it. There may be little paradise within ten miles of where we exist in which one may find the springs and joys of living. If you are compelled to stay home all summer you may be as happy as though you went away—for with some the enjoyment of the first of July, when they go away is surpassed only by the first of September when they return home.

And next fall and winter they will rehearse the incidents of the vacation time. It will be worth all the discomforts endured to be able to relate that new story which no one has had the opportunity to place in his compendium of ready wit.

Life is not to be made one round of vacation and pleasure seeking. To make and keep life interesting we must be active. Vacations, rightly used, are well as interludes, but as a habit they are fatal to happiness. In closing I cannot resist telling the story told me by my good friend, Dr. Hugh Johnston, concerning a man from the East, who was seeking rejuvenation in Los Angeles, Cal. At the end of the first month of mid-winter he wrote back that he was ten years younger, at the end of the second month he was twenty years younger, and so it went on until at length his letters ceased. They wrote to inquire about him and learned that he had died of cholera infanum.

Of course it must be remembered always by the Christian man or woman on vacation that our Master is with us for fidelity, and we must let our light shine even amid our pleasures, and while deprived for the time being of our home religious privileges. If we give the devil a mortgage on the summer time it will be hard to get him to sign a quit claim in the fall. Remembering this we shall not miss the religious profit.

IS AGAINST ANY CHANGE IN CONNAUGHT CUP GAMES

MONTREAL, July 14.—Tom Mitchell, president of the Province of Quebec Football Association, has put his foot firmly down in the matter of again changing the arrangements of the Connaught Cup games.

Tom Holland of the Ontario Football Association wired today asking Mitchell to change the dates of the Connaught Cup games played as in the past, one home-and-home game each, instead of two, one in each city. Mitchell refused, saying in a wire sent at noon that the P. W. F. A. has three times refused to plan to please Ontario, and present plans to play on July 22 and 24 could not be changed again. They had been completed at the behest of the D. E. A., and would have to stay as they were.

POLICE BATTLE TO TRY BLACK

Sarnia Authorities Opposed by County in Dealing With Thief.

Prisoner Sentenced To Penitentiary For Three Years On Charges.

Special to London Advertiser.

SARNIA, July 14.—One of the most extraordinary situations in local police circles opened this morning with a bitter controversy between county and city police authorities for the right to deal with Archie Black of Point Edward, alleged housebreaker, receiver of stolen property, and bicycle thief. It culminated this afternoon with the sentencing of Black to three years in Kingston Penitentiary by Henry Gorman, city police magistrate, for the bicycle theft, three years' sentence for being in possession of stolen property, by J. J. Jarvis, county magistrate, the sentences to run concurrently.

Three months' sentence also by Mr. Jarvis, on a charge of jumping a board bill at Point Edward was imposed.

It is also alleged that Black, with two other men, was responsible for the string of burglaries committed in Sarnia last winter, when houses and stores were successfully robbed.

Black is also wanted badly by the police at Sherbrooke, Que., for burglary, and may be re-arrested on conclusion of his term at Kingston.

When only 19 years of age, Black, it is said, admitted mixing with crooks in order to obtain $400 necessary to put him through college, and admitted to the police that he helped to dispose of a quantity of articles stolen in Sarnia
