

WESTMINSTER EMPLOYEE CLEARED OF 'DOPE' CHARGE

FOUND MINCHALL INNOCENT THOUGH ACTING UNWISELY

Westminster Hospital Attendant Cleared of Charge of Distributing "Drugs."

GOT DOPE AS FAVOR

"Doing favors" for A. R. Murray, a patient at Westminster Hospital gave Harry Minchall, an attendant at the hospital two anxious hours in police court today. Minchall was charged with distributing drugs, and had been found guilty would have faced a long prison term as well as a fine, as recent amendments to the criminal code make this offense particularly serious.

Magistrate Graydon held, however, that the evidence went to show that Minchall had merely been a messenger and had carried the tablets from Saunders' wholesale drug establishment to Murray, and had not distributed heroin to other patients. The orders given Minchall proved to be forgeries.

Minchall, who sat nervously throughout the hearing, was visibly relieved when the magistrate announced his decision, and was soon in the arms of his wife and mother, who were in court.

Dr. McGhie, medical superintendent of Westminster Hospital, said Murray had been removed to Westminster from Eyrton because he was addicted to drugs, although a tubercular. On Oct. 26 he was found to be under the influence of narcotics. Murray was not a mental patient, witness said.

Nursing Sister Jane Fraser told of finding tablets in a tobacco bag in Murray's locker, while Nursing Sister Harriet Chilton told of Murray's condition after taking tablets. It was her opinion that he had been taking dope.

Murray's Story.
Murray was the next witness called. He told of serving overseas and being in hospital at Shorncliffe, Eyrton Sanatorium and Westminster. "I approached Minchall one night and told him a hard-luck story about my health. 'I had an order in my hand for tablets, and what I was getting was harmless, and I told him no, but said there were chemicals that made them harmless. He got about eight orders from me and they were not bona fide. I got about 500 tablets the first time."

"Minchall asked me one time if the tablets were doing me good, and I said yes. He was just doing me a good turn and got no remuneration for it. I signed the name of Dr. F. W. Hughes to the orders, and he gave me seven in number, to give the people at Saunders the idea that Dr. Hughes was giving me the tablets. I put the last tablets in a bag in my locker."

Questioned by counsel for defense, Murray admitted telling Minchall to go to Mr. Woolley at Saunders for the parcels, as he knew Mr. Woolley.

Thought Orders Genuine.
Thomas Woolley Jun. said he was a druggist at Saunders off and on for 30 years. He knew Minchall and gave him for about 18 months, and had filled prescriptions for Murray on the orders alleged to have been signed by Dr. Hughes. He thought some called for 500 tablets and some for 1,000. The orders were always in envelopes.

Asked why he didn't call up the doctor to verify the order, Mr. Woolley stated it was not customary to doubt the orders of any doctor. The average dose of heroin was one-twelfth of a grain.

"I had no conversation with Minchall except to ask him how Murray was getting on," said Mr. Woolley. "I have known Murray since he was a little boy. The charge for 500 tablets was $2."

Dr. F. W. Hughes testified he had never issued any order to Murray at any time.

According to the orders produced in court, some 5,600 tablets were given Minchall to take to Murray at different times.

Dr. D. H. Nichol, Westminster, stated Murray was responsible for all his actions.

Minchall, in the witness box, stated he thought he was merely doing Murray a favor when the latter asked him to take a note to Mr. Woolley. He objected at first, because he knew he was breaking hospital rules.

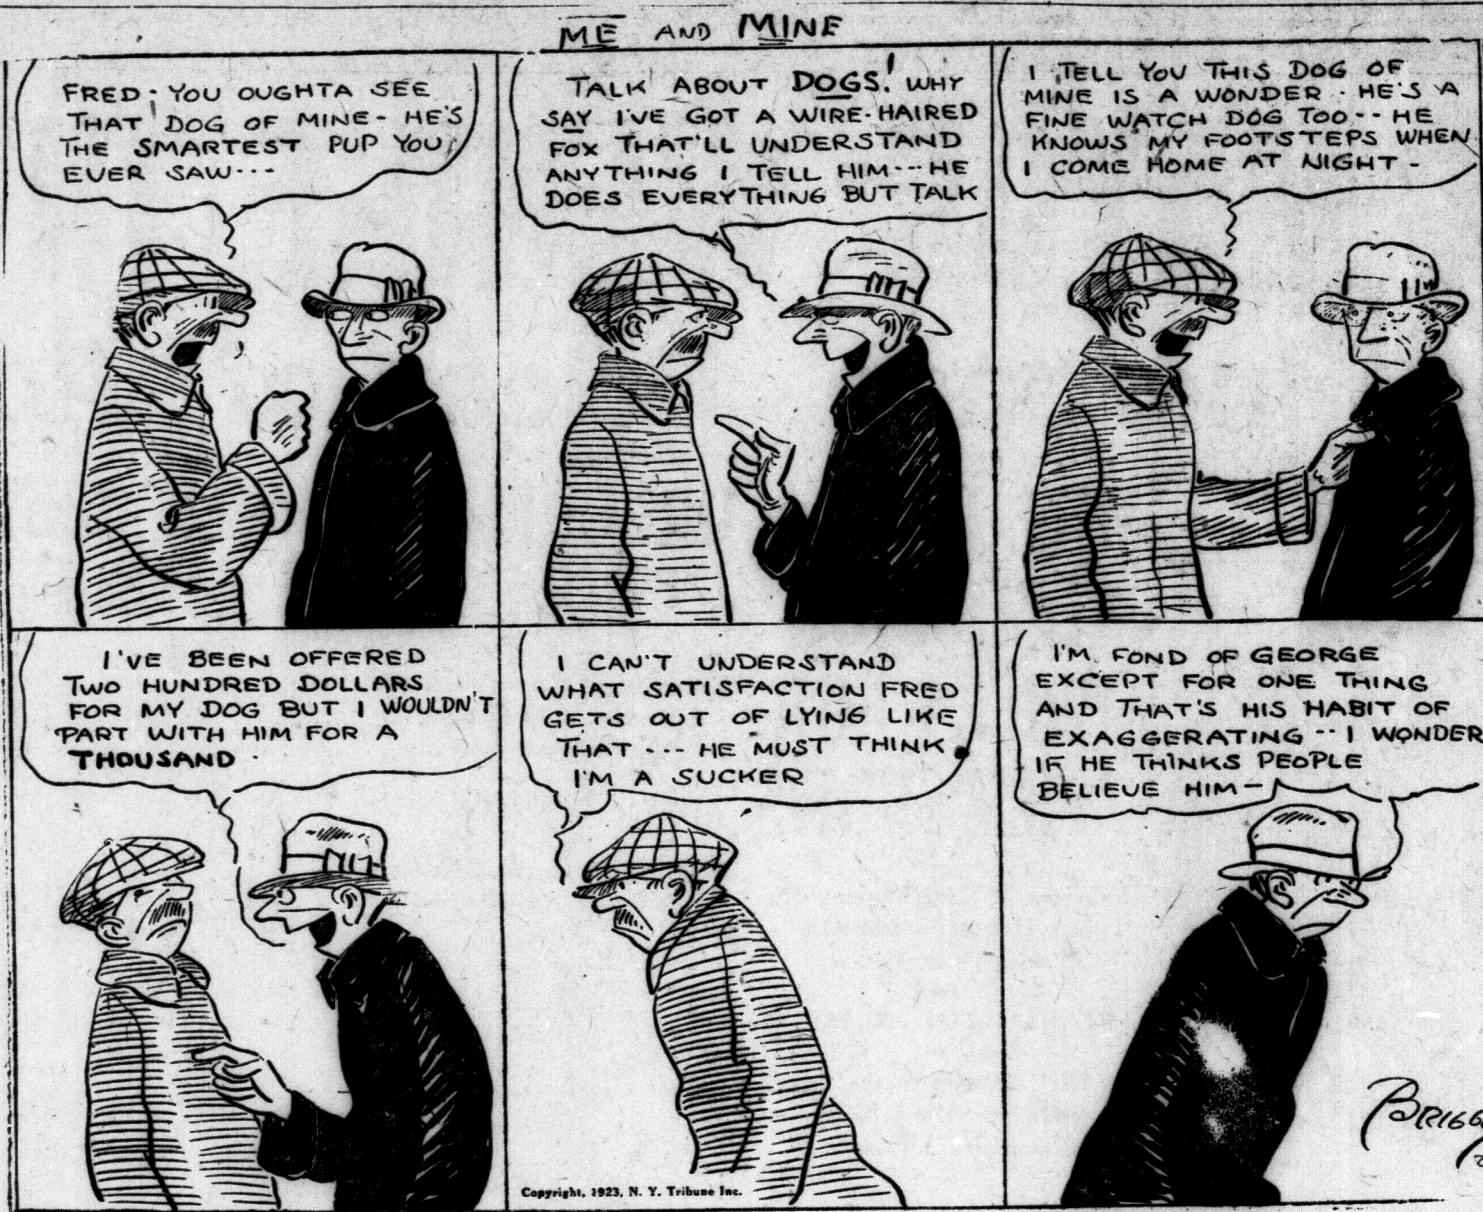

Had No Suspicion.
Minchall declared he didn't know what the parcels contained and didn't have any conversation with Mr. Woolley about them.

"I didn't know they were drugs," witness declared. "I didn't have the slightest suspicion what the orders were about. I was just doing Murray a little favor, as I was sorry for him. He told me he was getting cough tablets."

"If you told Dr. McGhie what you were doing you would have been cleared, wouldn't you?" asked Mr. Gilchrist, who appeared for the crown.

"No, I would have been fined," promptly responded witness.

"I think this case was acted very wrongly," said Mr. Graydon. "I don't think this case comes under that section of the act, as apparently all the tablets went to Murray. There is no evidence that he was distributing them to other patients. I have followed the evidence closely, and although the man's conduct was not what it should be, I don't think I should convict him on the charge."

ST. THOMAS BOARD UNABLE TO SETTLE WITH TEACHERS

St. Thomas Trustees Find Themselves Facing perplexing Situation.

MAY GIVE NOTE

Special to The Advertiser.
St. Thomas, Nov. 20.—At the regular meeting of the board of education held last night in the city hall they found themselves without sufficient funds to pay the teachers' salaries for the concluding month. At the request of the council early in the year the board had lowered their budget from $180,000 to $147,000 on condition that $20,000 would be issued in debentures by the city treasurer to cover the expense of necessary improvements to several schools.

The acting chairman read a communication from Mr. F. M. Peim, treasurer, asking for an itemized statement of all money spent for improvements and furniture during the year. These accounts are the only ones according to the bylaws, that can be met with debentures.

Board May Give Note.
Trustee Baines directed a reply to the city council, ignoring their letter and requesting that all surplus money collected during the last five years for school purposes in the city's tax be credited to the account of the board of education. In the event of this surplus not meeting the demands of the board, the chairman and secretary were authorized to issue a promissory note on the bank for the rest.

A delegation, comprising Major W. F. L. Edwards and Col. W. J. Green from the Kiwanis Club, and Perry Dobson and R. Kidner from the Chamber of Commerce, waited on the board, asking them to take active steps to provide adequate fire escapes and ventilators for the city schools.

Major Edwards, as spokesman, made an eloquent appeal to the members of the board, stating, "Gentlemen, if a fire was to destroy one of the schools tomorrow, I wouldn't be in your position for all the world."

Lacks Accommodation.
It was pointed out by Trustee Baines that the only solution for ventilation difficulties in the collection was an entire new school. "It is preposterous to think that 300 pupils can do justice to their work in a school intended for 450. The pupils are dull and listless, and with the support of these two live organizations there is no doubt but what some solution could be reached next year."

Acting Chairman Harvey thanked the delegation for the interest they had taken in the matter, and pointed out to them the depleted condition of their exchequer which prohibited them from remedying the matter at once.

JUST A FEW more weeks to Christmas. It is a good time to select a bottle of Perfume or Toilet Water.

STRONG'S Drug Store
184 DUNDAS STREET.

F. STEELE
Expert Work. Satisfaction Guaranteed.
DUNDAS STREET.

STRONG'S Drug Store
184 DUNDAS STREET.

For Colds, Grip or Influenza, and as a Preventive, take Laxative, BROMO QUININE Tablets. The box bears the signature of E. W. Grove, 30c. Made in Canada.—Adv.

TWO MORE BOYS ENTER IN RACE FOR PARLIAMENT

Ben Faulkes and Robert S. Ferguson Announce Their Platforms.

ARE WELL KNOWN

Candidates are almost plentiful in the elections for the Boys' Parliament as for the civic honors. Here are two more platforms just issued by Ben Faulkes and Robert S. Ferguson, two later candidates.

Ben Faulkes was a member of one of the C. S. E. T. groups organized in London Y. M. C. A. and from there took up the program at Talbot street with A. E. Miller as leader. Taking up the Tuxis program under Mr. Huddell, Ben was twice preter.

When Wellington street Live Wires started Tuxis work, they gave him the reins of leadership and in one year they put over the program and came second in the city. Ben was also president of the Young People's Council, a body governing all the young people's activities in the church.

His platform was:
1. That the use of the initials C. S. E. T. be used only by fully qualified and registered groups.

2. That more stress be placed on vocational guidance as part of the C. S. E. T. program.

3. That financial support be given to the non-supported groups of the city.

4. That more attention be paid to the religious side of the program.

5. That interest be stimulated in the winning of the badges.

6. That more competitions be arranged to promote keener rivalry.

7. That a code of ideals be established to promote clean sports.

Robert S. Ferguson's Platform:
1. That every C.S.E.T. group emphasize more the devotional side of the program and take a more active part in the work of the church.

2. That the use of the initials C.S.E.T. be restricted to groups that have not only registered, but also are prepared to carry on the four-fold course of training.

3. That some kind of a simple, but standard uniform be adopted for Trail Rangers.

4. That through the elimination of some of the present red tape, the winning of red, blue and white honors may become a pleasure to the mentor as well as the C. S. E. T. boy.

5. That the athletic standards for national competition be reorganized.

6. That circulars be prepared and sent to communities where city councils have not yet been formed, telling them the great advantage of the city council system and suggesting ways of carrying different projects across.

TAKES OWN LIFE BY USING DYNAMITE CARTRIDGE
Canadian Press Despatch.
Fredericton, N.B., Nov. 20.—Suicide by means of a dynamite cartridge was the fate of a young man, Urie Morehouse, an aged man who lived the life of a recluse near Zealand Station on the branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway. He passed away after suffering terribly for 36 hours. Those who discovered him at his home on Sunday found him with the left side of his head partly blown away and the thumb and forefinger of his left hand in the same condition. The old man had attached a lengthy fuse to a dynamite cap and had ignited it. He then held the cap in his left ear.

Finds Families Getting Smaller

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Nov. 20.—Canadian families are growing smaller, according to a report dealing with dwellings and families in the Dominion, exclusive of the Yukon and northwest territories, which has been compiled by the Dominion bureau of statistics and is based upon the sixth decennial census completed in 1921.

In 1881 the average size of a family was 5.33 persons, as against 4.62 in 1921.

DECLARES BRITAIN OWES PREFERENCE TRADE TO CANADA

Sir Robert Horne Doesn't Believe Lloyd George Will Recant Promises.

REJECTED U. S. PLAN

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Nov. 20.—Sir Robert S. Horne, former chancellor of the exchequer, speaking at Glasgow last night when accepting the Unionist nomination, referred to criticism of Lloyd George because he did not favor preference being granted to Canada.

"H. H. Asquith and Sir John Simon have been busy denouncing my preference being granted to our dominions. Is Lloyd George now going to recant everything which in the grave months of the war he solemnly agreed to with the dominion ministers? I do not for a moment believe it. He has just returned from Canada and must know of the immense pressure being applied to Canada by her great neighbor in their commercial relations."

"That was the spirit in Canada then, but how long do you expect her to continue this attitude if you flout all the proposals for closer business relations and leave her to find such benefits as she may in other directions?"

"I was in Canada in 1911, when the general election was fought on the issue whether Canada would make an agreement of reciprocity with the United States. Obviously this would have involved the death blow of our preferential position in her market. Proposals for reciprocity were then rejected by a great majority. I remember a remark made by a defeated reciprocity candidate: 'I was beaten,' he said, 'by the man who wrote Rule Britannia.'"

"That was the spirit in Canada then, but how long do you expect her to continue this attitude if you flout all the proposals for closer business relations and leave her to find such benefits as she may in other directions?"

"I was in Canada in 1911, when the general election was fought on the issue whether Canada would make an agreement of reciprocity with the United States. Obviously this would have involved the death blow of our preferential position in her market. Proposals for reciprocity were then rejected by a great majority. I remember a remark made by a defeated reciprocity candidate: 'I was beaten,' he said, 'by the man who wrote Rule Britannia.'"

"That was the spirit in Canada then, but how long do you expect her to continue this attitude if you flout all the proposals for closer business relations and leave her to find such benefits as she may in other directions?"

"I was in Canada in 1911, when the general election was fought on the issue whether Canada would make an agreement of reciprocity with the United States. Obviously this would have involved the death blow of our preferential position in her market. Proposals for reciprocity were then rejected by a great majority. I remember a remark made by a defeated reciprocity candidate: 'I was beaten,' he said, 'by the man who wrote Rule Britannia.'"

"That was the spirit in Canada then, but how long do you expect her to continue this attitude if you flout all the proposals for closer business relations and leave her to find such benefits as she may in other directions?"

"I was in Canada in 1911, when the general election was fought on the issue whether Canada would make an agreement of reciprocity with the United States. Obviously this would have involved the death blow of our preferential position in her market. Proposals for reciprocity were then rejected by a great majority. I remember a remark made by a defeated reciprocity candidate: 'I was beaten,' he said, 'by the man who wrote Rule Britannia.'"

"That was the spirit in Canada then, but how long do you expect her to continue this attitude if you flout all the proposals for closer business relations and leave her to find such benefits as she may in other directions?"

"I was in Canada in 1911, when the general election was fought on the issue whether Canada would make an agreement of reciprocity with the United States. Obviously this would have involved the death blow of our preferential position in her market. Proposals for reciprocity were then rejected by a great majority. I remember a remark made by a defeated reciprocity candidate: 'I was beaten,' he said, 'by the man who wrote Rule Britannia.'"

"That was the spirit in Canada then, but how long do you expect her to continue this attitude if you flout all the proposals for closer business relations and leave her to find such benefits as she may in other directions?"

"I was in Canada in 1911, when the general election was fought on the issue whether Canada would make an agreement of reciprocity with the United States. Obviously this would have involved the death blow of our preferential position in her market. Proposals for reciprocity were then rejected by a great majority. I remember a remark made by a defeated reciprocity candidate: 'I was beaten,' he said, 'by the man who wrote Rule Britannia.'"

"That was the spirit in Canada then, but how long do you expect her to continue this attitude if you flout all the proposals for closer business relations and leave her to find such benefits as she may in other directions?"

M'CORMICK APPEAL BEING HEARD TODAY

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE.

way board, and that the supreme court was the right place in which to hear his appeal. Mr. Justice Kelly, after listening to numerous citations of similar cases, preferred to reach a decision later on this question of procedure. In the meantime, he said he was willing to hear the evidence.

City Clerk Baker was the first witness called by Mr. Elliott. He was on the stand for two hours, and admitted in the course of his evidence that by the terms of the original agreement of 1912 whereby the areas in Ealing and Pottersburg were annexed by the city, the fixed taxation for a period of 15 years was to be 15 mills on the dollar, which was to be inclusive of all taxes. This year the city council levied a business tax on the factories in that area in accordance with the high education rates in London, and in order to recover a matter of $20,000, which is now being paid by other ratepayers within the city.

If they win the present case, they will be able to collect some $15,000 from all the factories in the annexed area. The amount that the McCormick Company is charged as a business tax is $5,500, he said.

Examining City Clerk Baker, Mr. Elliott elicited the fact that in 1911, the year before the annexation agreement came into being, the assessment on the McCormick property, which was a matter of seventy acres, was made to Sir John Carling at $10,700.

He also forced the admission from the city clerk that, at the instance of the chairman of the annexation committee at that time, he had solicited the names of several people then living in the Pottersburg area to be assessed for the year before the annexation agreement came into being, the assessment on the McCormick property, which was a matter of seventy acres, was made to Sir John Carling at $10,700.

Mr. Elliott declared in his evidence that the rate established by the city for the annexed area at the time of the agreement was determined by making 14 mills for general purposes and eight mills for school purposes. They then deducted seven mills for the debenture debt and settled on 15 mills left as the annexed rate.

The agreement between the city and the McCormick Company at the time of the sale of the McCormick property in the city on Dundas and Wellington streets, to the city, was then read by the witness at the request of Mr. Elliott.

In this agreement, as read today, the McCormick Company agreed to pay the city $125,000 cash if the annexation agreement was passed as it stood, and as now force; that if the annexation agreement was not adopted as it was then drawn up and is now in force, and finally that they would then pay to the city only on the distinct understanding that the city would build a city hall on it.

Miss Mary Grant, clerk of London Township, the next witness, verified what the last witness had said as to the assessment of the McCormick property in 1911 to the year previous to annexation. At that time she said the county rate in Middlesex was 12.5 mills on the dollar, minus the debenture rate. The general rate in the Pottersburg and Ealing area in 1912 was 18.4 mills on the dollar.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

URGES ONTARIO TORIERS TO SHOVE ON TO OTTAWA

Delegates From All Parts of Province Gather in Toronto.

WILL LAY PLANS

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Nov. 20.—Still preserving the feeling of elation which followed the victory over the U. F. O. government, Conservatives from all parts of Ontario came in large numbers to the third annual meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Association of Ontario, which opened here today.

J. R. MacNicol, recording secretary, of Toronto, and assistants were on hand early enrolling the delegates and answering inquiries for information.

"During the past three years our slogan has been 'On to Queen's Park,'" Mr. MacNicol said in his message to the members, "and we have pardonable pride that the efforts of this association to further organize and co-ordinate our forces played a part along with local and unselfish service by all Liberal-Conservatives in the victory. Ontario being redeemed, our slogan should now be 'On to Ottawa.'"

Vigorous effort now will receive momentum of public opinion that on election day will sweep out of power the unstable responsibility-shirking government at Ottawa and elect in its place a strong Liberal-Conservative administration pledged to maintain the traditional principles of our party."

The speech of Joseph E. Thompson, M. L. A. president, was full of the same spirit. He congratulated the members on the manner in which they rallied to the Conservative standard last June, and spoke in optimistic terms of the future. Mr. Thompson, who is to be appointed speaker of the legislature, announced his retirement from the presidency.

City Clerk Baker was the first witness called by Mr. Elliott. He was on the stand for two hours, and admitted in the course of his evidence that by the terms of the original agreement of 1912 whereby the areas in Ealing and Pottersburg were annexed by the city, the fixed taxation for a period of 15 years was to be 15 mills on the dollar, which was to be inclusive of all taxes. This year the city council levied a business tax on the factories in that area in accordance with the high education rates in London, and in order to recover a matter of $20,000, which is now being paid by other ratepayers within the city.

If they win the present case, they will be able to collect some $15,000 from all the factories in the annexed area. The amount that the McCormick Company is charged as a business tax is $5,500, he said.

Examining City Clerk Baker, Mr. Elliott elicited the fact that in 1911, the year before the annexation agreement came into being, the assessment on the McCormick property, which was a matter of seventy acres, was made to Sir John Carling at $10,700.

He also forced the admission from the city clerk that, at the instance of the chairman of the annexation committee at that time, he had solicited the names of several people then living in the Pottersburg area to be assessed for the year before the annexation agreement came into being, the assessment on the McCormick property, which was a matter of seventy acres, was made to Sir John Carling at $10,700.

Mr. Elliott declared in his evidence that the rate established by the city for the annexed area at the time of the agreement was determined by making 14 mills for general purposes and eight mills for school purposes. They then deducted seven mills for the debenture debt and settled on 15 mills left as the annexed rate.

The agreement between the city and the McCormick Company at the time of the sale of the McCormick property in the city on Dundas and Wellington streets, to the city, was then read by the witness at the request of Mr. Elliott.

In this agreement, as read today, the McCormick Company agreed to pay the city $125,000 cash if the annexation agreement was passed as it stood, and as now force; that if the annexation agreement was not adopted as it was then drawn up and is now in force, and finally that they would then pay to the city only on the distinct understanding that the city would build a city hall on it.

Miss Mary Grant, clerk of London Township, the next witness, verified what the last witness had said as to the assessment of the McCormick property in 1911 to the year previous to annexation. At that time she said the county rate in Middlesex was 12.5 mills on the dollar, minus the debenture rate. The general rate in the Pottersburg and Ealing area in 1912 was 18.4 mills on the dollar.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when Meryl Adelen, daughter of Mrs. Clara F. Webb and the late Mr. F. J. Webb, of this city, became the bride of George William Blay, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blay will reside in the city.

Blay-Webb.
An interesting wedding took place very quietly in Stratford on Tuesday, Nov.