The Weekly Review.
There is very little doing in the wholosale trade this week. Around the drygoods houses there is considerable activity preparing for spring trade, and there are several decidedly favorable features apparent. Payments have been fair. The banks are scrutinizing country merchants' paper much more closely than heretofore. This has led wholesale merchants to exercise more care in the selection of their customers. The tendency of this is to bring about a healthier state of affairs.

Boots and shores.
Trade fair for immediate requirements and spring orders are fully up to average. Factories are running on full time. Payments unsatisfactory.

The Weekly Review.
The babasen form his place of business about a before the 9th day of the said december about a week, and he is believed to have absconded.
