Ass easier at 1/4 per can be continued as the following to the following to the continued as the following to th bushel. The short interest is very ingite and the present it looks to us as though we should see a dull, dragging market, until we know more definitely about the crop and more of the wheat is marketed. Corn weak, with a few spurts of activity. Yesterdy drove a large short interest out of market. We all see nothing to change our opinion regarding it. We believe long futures are a sale on all such rallies as we have had, and say, sell it and wait and you will make good profits. Oats stronger. Would rather sell them in the strong places than buy. Provisions were weak. Reports of yellow fever in south caused an unsteady nervous feeling. The principal sellers have been the, packers, and while we discredit these reports, it is well to be conservative, for, should yellow fever be prevalent in the septith with our heavy stocks, it would cause a sharp break. We feel, however, that on weak sports they are a better purchase than sale. Cash trade duli.

John J. Dixon & Co. received the following despatch over their private wire from Henry Allen & Co. of New York: Though efforts have been made to put up prices and create something like activity the result so far this week is nothing different from what we have been a long time used to. There is no speculation and no lavestment buying in any quarter. The bond list continues stagmant. Bond quotations droop. Under such conditions anything like life or buoyancy in the stock market would be not a marvel only but a miracle. Something of a short interest has created whatever firmness there has been in the market this week. Suggestions are heard here and there of new issues of stocks and bonds ready to be brought out by both off and use companies. This has the element of humor in its considering the fact that securities already issued panies. This has the element of humor in it considering the fact that securities already issued of humor of the fact that securities already issued the prospect of free coinage legislation by Congress this fall is making every money lender timid, and the despite all reports to the contrary time money is as hard as ever to get. Only gilt-edged stocks can be borrowed upon.
