weather continues fine it may dry out again.

Mr. W. W. Ogilvie, who has returned from a trip of inspection throughout the province, in an interview, speaking of the general result of the harvest as a whole, specially referred to the continued prosperity of the Mennousite farmers, which he attributed to their farming within their capacity and not sowing more than they could properly take care of. Nearly all of the wheat was stacked, while in many cases further west a considerable portion of the wheat is still in stook, and the recent rains will a certainly not benefit the grade. Where the wheat is stacked it allows the grain to sweat properly pacity and not sowing more tima stay could properly take care of. Nearty all of the wheat was stacked, while in many cases further west a considerable portion of the wheat is still in stock, and the recent rains will .cereally not benefit the grade. Where the grain to wreat, properly and improves the color. However, Mr. Ogitrie feels that Manitoha is to be congratulated on the very large quantity of wheat raised this year. The quantity of good milling wheat is certainly far in excess of any previous year; but he thinks that the quantity of good milling wheat is certainly far in excess of any previous year; but he thinks that the quantity of good wheat might have been still further augmented if less had been allowed to remain in the stock before the bad weather set in. He hopes that the farmers will not overlock the importance of sowing the very begt seed.

Mr. Ogitvie was plassed to notice the very large increase in the sumber of cattle in the country. This trade, he observed, and papeared to be developing rapidly and would like you can be developing rapidly and would be completed to the contract of sowing the very large proportions before long.

Ald Hallam on the Engineership.

Editor World: As there seems to have been some misappreheasion as to the real issue between the city and the late engineer, I beg to inform your readers that the question in dispute was wisther Mr. Jennings had the right to fix salaigs, increase or decrease them whenever he thought proper. I wish to state that I regret very unchant and the same than the same than the proper of the complete with the world. I am not going to disjuss Mr. Jennings and the one of the decrease them whenever he thought proper. I want to state that I regret very unchant they were, no doubt, the near future will reveal. But silow me to state that Mr. Jennings had other motives for presigning. What they were, no doubt, the near future will reveal. But silow me to state that Mr. Jennings had other mother of the decrease of the condition of the proper of the condit nim for situations for my friends, nor tries to influence him in giving contracts to certain contractors. So, on this score, Mr. Jennings cannot complain of my conduct. I am not one of those aldermen who have a satellite, whatever that may mean in Jennings' increasing or decreasing salaries or fixing them in any way.

Bylaw No. 2490, under which Mr. Jennings was appointed City Engineer at a salary of $5000 per year, gives him power to engage all necessary assistance, but not one word about increasing or decreasing salaries.

Bylaw No. 2534. regulating the duties of the City Engineer, gives him power to engage certain officials. Clause 5 distinctly sets forth that he shall have power to engage foremen, inspectors and laborers necessary to do the work in his office, and they shall be paid such wages as may be determined upon by him, subject to the approval and concurrence of the Board of Works, and that he shall have power to discharge, with and concurrence of the board of works, and that he shall have power to discharge, without notice or compensation, or reinstate any official so discharged. But there is not one word about increasing or decreasing salaries; and in my opinion the Municipal Act will not allow the aldermen, who are elected by and representation to the property their allow the aldermen, who are elected by and responsible to the people, to abrogate their functions as administrators of public money to paid officials, however capable and honest these officials may be.

I went to the Board of Trade meeting with the desire to do all I possibly could to bring about a settlement between the connoil and Mr. Jennings. With the exception of a few words in the resolution moved by John Hoswords in the resolution moved by John Hoskin, I agreed with the resolution and voted for it, and if they had been a little more reasonable and a little less abusive and allowed my resolution to be put it would have been carried and Mr. Jennings would now be the City Engineer.

City Engineer.
The Board of Trade meeting did Mr. Jenas cool-headed business men.
I considered myself very badly used at that meeting. They stamped and yelled more like madmen than rational beings.

There was no occasion for this manifestation of disorder and the tendent will be the control of the of disorder, and the tendency will be that their utterances on public questions will have no influence.

I think Mr. Jennings made a great mistake in speaking in his own defence at the Board of Trade meeting and using anything but complimentary language towards the aldermen and then made threats to the effect that he could reveal something to their discredit if he had a mind to. He used the expression "Aldermen and their satellites" and other language that was unbaccoming a gentleman of his position.

But, to come to the point, some of Mr. Jennings' friends seem to think it will be a serious calamity if the city should lose his Jennings friends seem to think it will be a serious calamity if the city should lose his services as Engineer. This may or may not be the case; but reflect for a moment and it will be found that there are just as good fish in the Sea as were ever yet caught, and for a salary/oxi, $5000 per year we can command the services of the best engineer in this country, free room all entanglements and railway influences.

What we want in an engineer is a man of good common sense and one who understands infaring roads, sewers, bridges and dealing with general numerical work.

I have not be slightest doubt that in a very short time the council will be able to fill Mr. Jennings' nosition with just as good very short time the council will be able to fill Mr. Jennings' position with just as good as man, as regards ability and honesty, and who will accept the situation to control his office by engaging and discharging his officials without the authority to increase or decrease salaries.

STOCK YARDS FOR TORONTO THAT would be large and having the requirements of rest and food for cattle would fill an important gap and supply a want that calls for immediste attention. The growth of the cattle trade must rapidly increase and will soon reach immense breadth, owing to the facilities offered by our railways for direct shipment to England. As a rich and prolific feeding ground for cattle our Northwest leads the world, and Toronto should wake up so as to be the central shipping port of Canada.
