Algoma and an Author

Sault Ste. Marie.

If an author can be said to be the product of any particular district—and why not, just as much as a variety of flower, or fruit, or grain?—Alan Sullivan, the distinguished Canadian poet and novelist, should be most properly identified with Algoma, that curiously shaped county of Ontario, which stretches from the cities and settlements of the shores of Lake Huron and Lake Superior, up through the 2,900 square miles of the Missisquoi Forest Reserve, to the great furtrading territories three hundred and sixty miles north, where it is bounded by the Albany River, the chief tributary of James Bay. The southern shores of this county were colonized some thirty years ago at the instance of C. P. R. agents, by hardy pioneers from the older counties of Kincardine and Bruce, but the city of Sault Ste. Marie has its roots in the remoter past, as it was a trading post for the voyageurs, who travelled for the furtraders of Montreal into the far West. Alan Sullivan, whose father was Bishop of the Algoma Diocese, was at one time engineer of the work of construction and ballasting the Algoma branch of the C. P. R. between Sudbury and the Sault Ste. Marie, and uses the local color in several of his short stories. "It was fascinating," he says, "in those days to watch the psychological effect of the arrival of the track or even of the survey party on the settlers. They brightened up, and looked at their farms with new eyes. They were in touch with the world that heretofore had seemed so distant." The bush fires, the miners the hunters, the mail carriers, the Indian agents, and the trappers have provided rich material for Alan Sullivan's stories, some of the best of which have been collected in the volume called "The Passing of Owl-Butt." More recently he has enlarged his field, and in his latest volume, "The Inner Door," he takes for atmosphere the labor movement in a small industrial town. But the town is still in Ontario, a fact that makes it all the more interesting to the Canadian reader, who takes an interest in the now rapid growth of a distinctive Canadian literature.

DIAMOND RING AS TEE

Seattle Society Woman Plays Unique Golf at Banff Springs

MRS. MAE Stehle, of Seattle, Wash., was recently the heroine of a unique bet at Banff Springs which caused much comment.

Wagering with a fellow member of the fashionable colony at Banff Springs that she could make nine perfect drives on the mountain golf course, Mrs. Mae Stehle, of Seattle, Wash., teed her ball from the top of a fifteen hundred dollar diamond ring on each hole. A slip, a low swing or anything that would not come under the title of a perfect drive would have sent the ring spinning after the ball and ruined or lost it.

A large gallery left the Banff Springs Hotel to watch Mrs. Stehle use a magnificent politaire ring in fulfilling her unique wager. The Seattle society woman, who is a crack golfer and who finished high in the recent tournament at Banff, placed her ring on a small mound of sand, teed her ball upon it, and with the utmost composure made her drive as though the safety of a valuable ring did not depend upon her sureness. Nine times Mrs. Stehle repeated her feat on each tee and by her success won one of the most elaborate dinners of the season.

The Difference.

Tennyson could take a worthless piece of paper, write a poem on it and make it worth $65,000—that's genius. Vanderbilt could write a few words on a sheet of paper and make it worth $5,000,000—that's capital.

The United States can take an ounce and a quarter of gold and stamp upon it an eagle bird and make it worth $20—that's money.

A mechanic can take material worth $5 and make it into a watch springs worth $1,000—that's skill.

A merchant can take an article worth $.75 and sell it for $1.00—that's business.

A lady can purchase a seventy-five cent hat, but she prefers one that costs $27—that's foolishness.

A ditch digger works ten hours a day and handles several tons of earth for $1.50—that's labor.

The writer of this could write a check for $80,000,000, but it would not be worth a dime—that's rough.

A young man can take out a certificate of membership in an Order and protect himself in case of sickness or injury, besides providing good, honest, serviceable protection to his loved ones at his death—that's good common sense.

LEMONS MAKE SKIN

WHITE, SOFT, CLEAR

Make This Beauty Lotion for a Few Cents and See for Yourself.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to whiten the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white this way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quarter pint of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily to the face, neck, arms and hands it should help to bleach, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost and the grocer has the lemons.

The longest known survival of any seed is that of a certain Egyptian lily. A dried seed-pod kept in the South Kensington Museum in London contained seed which was tested and found to grow after a period of 95 years.
