

of mankind, as long as the human race is capable of estimating the worth and value of the truly great and good, so long will the name of Lister live, and the memory of him who bears it remain enshrined and held in affectionate reverence by succeeding generations. Three-quarters of a century ago there lived in adjacent houses at Upton, in Essex, two Quakers, Joseph Jackson Lister and Joseph Dimsdale, my grandfather. A dear relative of mine still living, can well remember "little Joseph Lister" as a playmate. The "little Joseph Lister" of those days is the great Lord Lister to whom we pay just and heartfelt honor to-day.

THE DOCTOR AND THE AUTOMOBILE.

Physicians and professional men generally have found the automobile of the utmost benefit. In the first place, a doctor with a large practice saves expense, for a motor car can do all the work necessary day or night where two or three horses would ordinarily be required. Then, again, with an auto always at his command, the doctor finds he is able to cover his round of visits, increase his practice, and at the same time have leisure for other pressing affairs.

An automobile is ready at any time you require it. It is not necessary to keep a coachman standing outside of your patient's door. It is true that a chauffeur is advisable, but still he is not by any means necessary, and if a chauffeur is unavailable, the doctor can easily run his own car.

Attention is called to the advertisement of the Chatham Motor Car Co. in this issue. The Chatham Motor Car Co. of Chatham, Ont., are an all Canadian concern, manufacturing the "Chatham" motor car. The "Chatham," it is stated, has points of advantages over American cars. It is not over weighted and therefore easy on tires, and again has all the power necessary for any purpose. The "Chatham" motor car, with its four-cylinder 25 horse power engine, and seating five, is quite equal in finish, construction and durability to many imported cars, averaging upwards of $5,000.00. The cost of the "Chatham" is $2,500.00.

The Chatham Motor Car Co. are offering special inducements to the people who buy the first of their cars in each district. Any one interested may find it very worth while inquiring in regard to their proposition.
