

about particular persons, or countries, or places, you must read the books which will best inform you. And, after all, particular information is the most valuable. But we must stop. We will close with a few words from one of the greatest men that ever lived. "One class of readers," he says, "is like an hour-glass; their reading being as the sand: it runs in and runs out, and leaves nothing behind. A second class resembles a sponge; which imbibes everything, and returns it in nearly the same state, only a little dirtier. A third class is like a jelly-bag, which allows all that is pure to pass away, and retains only the refuse and the dregs. The fourth may be compared to the slave of Golconda, who casting aside all that is worthless, preserves only the pure gems."—Parish Visitor, N. Y.

Appeal.

To the Editor of the CHURCH GUARDIAN:—

SIR,—Will you kindly allow me through your columns to call the attention of the Church to our trouble? Our Church building has gone in the terrible destruction of Gravenhurst. We must rebuild, but our people here, who could give, are now utterly unable to do anything. I appeal for help that I may rebuild and carry on the work here. If I am to hold my ground assistance must come from the outside. All donations should be sent to, yours faithfully,
ALFRED OSBORNE,
Incumbent and Examining Chaplain to the Bishop of Algoma.
Gravenhurst, Muskoka, Sept. 24, 1887.

LIFE is like a museum in which one sees fragments, and torsos, and casts of ancient art. Our best efforts are but weak and feeble copies of excellence—sad, mutilated, some deformed, all imperfect.
