the public chest or credit had been reached, and that the Government had seen the end of its concessions. But such a fond delusion was not to last long. The Syndicate got a good deal, but it wanted more. Such a paltry consideration as a 3 per cent. dividend on a hundred millions could not help them on in their schemes. They want some twenty or thirty millions in hard cash. Instead of realising on their stock and on the immense land grants and earning the rest of the origmal cash subsidy, they run to the Government and demand the thirty millions they are in need of, in the shape of a loan.

The people of Montreal know what it is to loan money to a powerful and greedy corporation, such as the O. P. B. Syndicate. It is only last year that the City Council was. whether by fair or foul means is not generally known, induced to abandon the claim of the city of Montreal to a sum of something like a million on the Grand Trunk Bailway Company, which it restances as the C.P.B. are now seeking money from the Government. Experience teaches that it is all bosh to talk about security for the loan. Montreal had security on the money it gave the Grand Trunk Ballin the end to make a present of it to the Company. The following is a resume of what the Syndicate wants as a further inducement. for the country but for themselves:

- (1) To extend for four years the time for the payment by the Syndicate to the Government of the balance of $2,500,000 yet due the Government, on the dividend guarantee already referred to.
- (2) To give back to the Syndicate the $8,-691,000 it has already paid the Government on account of such guarantee; and
- (3) To loan the Syndicate a further sum of $22,500,000, to be advanced from time to away disappointed. Carnivals have extime as the work progresses.

In other words, the Government's proposal is virtually to loan the Syndicate a sum Of course the Syndicate is not mad enough to demand all those millions without making pliment. AN AUSPICIOUS OPENING-

Arrival of the Gevernor-General and Suite-The Civic Address-His Fxcellency's Reply - Incidents of the Day.

Everything seemed to smile success to our #3cond great Winter Carnival, which opened on Monday last, Nature and Weather King was happy and a joyous merry feeling had communicated itself to visitors and citizens slike. The sun shone brightly in a cloudless, pale blue sky and looked down upon a city fully prepared for a week of galety and diversion. And why not? Our old friend Jack Frost seems to come on purpose to give us a period of recreation. He looks up our rivers and ecived from the city corporation at the harbors in his toy embrace and sends our time, pretty much under the same circum- great mercantile marine, the third largest in the world, to the right at out, to the trade in the southern scas. He wields arbitrary power, but he does not mean to be unkind, Montrealers at last have arrived at that conclusion and of course we must be right. Who ever heard of a Montrealer coming out second best in anything? In the sporting way, and still what was the result? We had | world of Canada we are supreme, and what is the Carnival but the crown to it all, the climax of all our past honors and successes, and the precursor and harbinger of still greater triumphs in the field and in our own as it were, to continue to build the road not | peculiar sports. Montreal is the metropolitan city of the country, not only in trade, in commerce and in population, but also in the multiplicity of sports, for we stretch out our arms and embrace them all. We have friendly contests with Quebec and Ottawa in snowshoeing, curling and skating, and with Toronto and other Western towns in lacrosse, tootball, baseball and cricket.

And then the tobogganing! Is not
Mount Royal just the place? What can equal Jacques Cartier's famous Mount?

Montreal has a good deal to show her visitors and we feel sure none of them will go isted in the past, but we can well claim the honor of holding the first and the second Winter Carnival. Generally, the name has been associated with equal in round figures to $34,000,000 festivals in warm Southern lands, now it is brought into contact with ice and snow, and a low thermometer and our visitors must judge of the effect. THE ADDRESS. THE ADDRESS.

To His Excellency the Most Hon. Charles Keith Petty Fizmaurice, Marquis of Landowne, in the County of Somettet, Earl of Wycombe, or Chipping Wycombe, in the County of Bucks, Viscount Caine and Calstone, in the County of Wilts, and Lord Wycombe, Baron of Chipping Wycombe, in the County of Bucks, in the Peersge of Great Britain, Earl of Kerry and Earl of Shelborne, Viscount Chanmaurice and Fitzmaurice, Baron of Kerry, Lixnaw and Dunkerron, in the Peersge of Ireland, Governor General of the Dominion of Canada, and Vice-Admiral of the same, &c., &c.,

May it please Your Excellency: We, the Mayor and Addermen of the city of Montreal, deem it a high honor to be the of-ficial representatives of our fellow-citizens in welcoming Your Excellency and Lady Lans-downe to the commercial Capital of the Dodowne to the commercial Capital of the Dominion.

We: hared in the satisfaction with which it was learned that one to whom skill in states-manship was a family heirloom, whose public carrer inspired confidence in his ability and judgment, had been appointed to succeed the Marquis of Lorne.

The experience which the inhabitants of Canada have aiready had of Your Excellency's character, gives assurance that their hepes will not be disappointed. We welcome Your Excellency, not only as representing our beloved Queen, not only as heir to the talents of renowned and noble ancestors, but as a ruler to whom we may trustfully look for his influence and sympathy in all good works, in all that tends to make us a truly great people. tends to make us a truly great people.

We rejoice that the first visit of Your Excellencies to our city should occur at so auspicious a stage in its progressive history.

Last year we made the experiment of a winter carnival, one aim of which was to prove to the world that life in Canada was not only endurable, but enjoyable during the winter months. The verdict of many visitors pronounced our initial undertaking a success.

We have reason to hope that this year's repetition of it, on an enlarged scale and with additional attractions, will meet with your Excellency's approval.

additional attractions, will meet with your Excellency's approval.

It has been our earnest desire that yourself and Lady Lansdowne should see our city and ourselves in gala dress, and if the weather continues favorable, we trust your Excellencies will have no reason to regret your gracious acceptance of our invitatior.

Of one thing your Excellencies may be assured; you have the welcome of thousands of true and loyal hearts of whose sentiments we are glad to be the spokesmen.

And it is their wish that not only your visite our city on this occasion, but your entire stay in Canada may be as fruitful of happiness to your Excellencies as it is sure to be of benefit to us.

Montres!, 4th February, 1884.

CHS, GLACEMEYER,

CHS. GLACKMEYER, City Clerk.

His Excellency's reply to the civic address was as follows :--MR. MAYOR AND GENTLEMEN,-It is quite beyond my power to find words in which to thank you sufficiently for the magnificent reception which you have accorded me, a reception quite unique in its character-or for the hospitality with which the city of Montreal is about to enterteto us. I accept your representative of her of whom you speak as "your beloved Queen." (Loud applause.) I do not think you could bestow upon Her Majesty any title by which she would prefer to be remembered by her subjects. (Benewed applaces.) Canadian loyalty is a very complex feeling-personal devotion to a sovereign whose public and pri-vate qualities slike have carred for her a place unrivalled amongst the great rulers of the earth, (great spplause), admiration for a political ejstem of which she is the head and under which this portion of the empirebas undergone a rapid and marvellous development, friendly feeling towards the old conntry and your kissmen who inhabit it-all these are included in that single word and have a great deal to say to the indulgence and good-will with which the re-presentative of the Orown is welcomed by you and yours. Of your personal courtesy towards myself is is difficult for mo to speak without appearing to appropriate honors which belong rather to the office which I hold than to him whe, for the time being, happens to fill it. I may, at any rate, thank you for your reference to some members of my house who, in their day worked hard in the service of their country, and whose memory has, I dare say, secured for their descendant something of ready-made good will from those with whom he is brought into conisct in public life. Gentlemen, the wise policy which has been adopted with the concurrence of the states. men both of the colory and the motherland has given to the people of the Domiaion so large a share of liberty to the management of their national affeirs, and you have in the exercise of that liberty acquired so much practical ability to manage them, that the Governor-General may well hope that the powers with which he is entrusted will be very rarely called into operation. He has, however, and my predecessors have had opportunities of showing that the pulle life of your Governor-General need be neither idle nor unprofitable to the Dominion, and I can assure you that no wish is stronger in my heart than that you may remember me as one to whom, using your own words, "you were able to look trustfully for his influence and sympathy in all good works." (Loud appleause.) And I am bound to say that my short experence of your country has sufficed to make me believe that | sion. you on your side are anxious to much us more than half way. (Hear, hear.) Wo have been received ever since our arrival not with mere civility, but with an amount of genuine kindness which has greatly touched and encouraged us. Here, sir, in the city of Montreal, you are able to extend a kind of hospitality which no other olty in the world can exercise. (Applause). It is a source of the greatest satisfaction to me to find mysslf not only a visitor to your city, but its guest at a moment when it presents a remarkable spectacle which it affords to-day. Montreal, gentlemen, at any time presents attractions of no ordinary kind. The beauty of its surroundings, its commerolal prosperity, its remarkable bistory, the number and importance of its public buildings, the fact of its being the point of meeting between the two races who for a time struggled for the mastery of these lands, and who now occupy it side by side in peaceful emulation (loud applause)—all there render Montreal attractive and interesting in a special degree. But, gentlemen, Montreal at the time of your Winter Carnival, at the time when the most hifliant gooial gathering of the year is in progress. when not only visitors from all parts of the Deminion are flocking to you, but when our neighbors on the other side of the frontier and that no attraction which a people of 50.000,000 are able to hold out can compare with the entertainments provided here-(loud applause) - when every hour from morning till late at night brings a fresh surprise-at such a time to be the guest of the city of Montreal is indeed a privilege of which I can assure you that I appreciate the value. (Applause.) Sir, you have mentioned in your address the object with which this carnival, the success of which will I hope justify its promoters to annually repeating it, has been instituted, and you have told me that that object was to afford a proof that life during the winter months in Canada might be made not only endurable but enjoyable. [Laughter.) That, eir, seems to me to be a very modest way of putting the case, for I am sure without exaggeration that until I came to the Dominion I never knew how much of beauty and of pleasure was to be found at a temperature lower than anything to which we in the old country are accustomed. With your clear sky, your pure air, your healthy and exhibitating out-door exercises, you contrive to make cold weather not only endurable, but most delightful. Until I came to Canada

"I never knew
What charms our sternest season wore,
Was never yet the sky so blue,
Was never earth so white before.
Till now I never saw the glow
Of sunset on you hills of snow,
And never lea-ned the bough's designs
Of beauty in its leafless lines."

(Loud applause.) But, gentlemen, it seems to me that we may be quite mistaken if we regard these national aports and amusements which you have promoted with so much success as destined to provide amusement and to attract visitors, and nothing more. They have their serious place in our national as in our individual life. Neither the nation nor the individual can exist without recreation. Amid the strain and pressure of life, whether our ha-bitual vacation calls us to the field or to the city, to the deak or to the bar, to the legislature or to the study, the recreation which shall ence, which shall give refreshment to the the Northwest for the education of Indians. jaced body, and the overwrought mind, which shall render our youth manly and active and our maturity vigorous and robust, is as necessary to us as the air we breathe. (Applause.) This principle is one which is more and more forcing itself upon the attention of our medical men and of the educators of our youth. I am glad to find that you recognize it here in guage only will be taught. the commercial ospital of the Dominion, and that you are able to give expression to it by means of this grand national festival. It remains for me only to thank you once more very cordially for your courtesy and kindness, and to assure you that both Lady Lansdowne and I look forward with the greatest pleasure to spending the next few days in your hospit. able city. (Great applause.)

After the reading of the above His Worship the Mayor and the members of the Council were presented to Lord and Lady Lansdowne after which the members of the reception committee were also introduced. Messis, Angus Grant and Gao. R. Starke as the representatives of the snowshoers, were also presented to Their Excellencies, who stated that the snowshoers' arch was one of the most beautiful sights that they had ever seen, and that they had been delighted with the welcome secorded them by the snowsheers. The reception, which was most hearty in its ngture, was then brought to a close. Their Excellencies at once retired to the royal suite welcome. I accept this loyal address as the Montreal. The viceregal party consists of of rooms, which they will occupy while in the Marquis of Lansdowne and Lady Lansdowne, Lady Florence Anson, Lord and Lady Melgund, Hon. ST MARY'S CHURCH.

The Services on Sunday-Sermon by His Grace Archbishop O'Brien, of Halifax.

The services in St. Mary's Obulch on Sunday were very imposing, and the fact of His Grace the Archbishop of Hallfax being present for the purpose of preaching the sermon caused an immense congregation to assemble, the sacred edifice being crowded to the doors, including many people from other parishes. High Mass was celebrated by the Ray. Father Hogan, assisted by Rev. Father Levesque as descop, and Rev. Father Klernan as sub-deacon. The choir, under the leadership of Mr. Lebrun, with Miss Reed as organist, chanted the Mass with splendid effect, the singing on this occasion being particularly fine.

As previously mentioned, the sermon was preached by His Grace Archbishop O'Brien, of Halifax, and in introducing His Grace, the Bev. Father S. P. Lonergan, P.P., said: - We are highly honored to day by having among us His Grace the Right Rev. Dr. O'Brien, whom I now introduce. The Archbishop of St. Mary's Cathedral, of Halliax, comes to address the people of St. Mary's Church, Montreal, and I can truly exclaim, blessed is he that comes in the name of the Lord.' In thanking His Grace for the great honor he is doing us, I assure him that I am only scholing the voice of my people. A Bishop of the Catholic Church is a stranger nowhere, and His Grace will be as heartily, welcomed by one of my congregation as by myself." His Grace, in rising to deliver the sermon, was assisted by Rev. Fathers Murphy and S. P. Lonergan. He took his text from 1st Corinthians, ill chap., v. 22 and 23.

"All things are yours, whether it be Paul or Apolio, or Ocphas, or the world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come, for all are yours, and yours are Ohrlet's and Ohrlet's is God'e."

Salvation may be considered a difficult task, but it is by no means impossible, which is very encouraging. The teachers are ours, and they have been given to us to instruct and guide us in the way to heaven. The world was created by God for our ness and benefit, and we were placed in it to work out our own salvation. "Life is yours," continued His Grace. It is true that we cannot prolong it. We do not know when we may be called upon by Almighty God, but while we possess life it is ours, and we should improve our time by devoting our services to the love of Ohrist. Death is also one. Some may say that they have no power over death inasmuch as By a decision of His Lordship, the B.C. | they cannot keep it off from them, but who led truly Christian lives, as when it Tuesday, January 29th, was the festival of came it put an end to the tolls and troubles of for us to have faith, devote our services to the preter and expounder of the teachings of the Apostles, and the teachers were curs to guide us on our journey to Heaven. Having shown that all things are ours, things present and things to come, His Grace pointed out to whom we belong. We are Christ's by purchase of our redemption by His death on the cross, and Christ's is God's, consequently if we avail ourselves of the many opportunities offered us in this world, of saving our own souls and making ourselves worthy of Ohrlst, Ohrlst's being God's, we will also, after death, belong to God and eterments of the Church, which afford us an easy means of gaining salvation. He also said In the lower house of the Prussian Dict that we are often ungenerous to God, Belves. God is never ungenerous to us He does not only give to us, but he gives abundopportunity of devoting our services to the love of God. The person who goes to confession once a year is always late in coming to Church, and always in a hurry to get sooner or later bring down the anger of God upon him. His Grace said ind. it was really ead to think that so many Catholics should out themselves off from the service of could serve two masters, and it was imposof darkness at the same time. He asked his hearers if there were any among them who had departed from the sorvice of God and given themselves up to their own bitter passions. If there were any such among his large number of hearers, he exhorted them to repent in time and return to the service of God. His Grace concluded his excellent sermon, of which we give but a poor outline, by exhorting his hearers to look into their own souls and see how they stood with God, reminding them that they belonged to Christ by purchase of their redemption, and Christ's being God's, they would also, if they availed themselves of the opportunities offered
