Mead, chairman, presided, and there was a very Mead, chairman, presided, and there was a very strong attendance of Conservative and exoffleto Guardians. The Nationalists, who are entirely in favor of the project, also mustered in force, and the Rev. Canon Cotter, P. P., of Linsale, and his two curates. Fathers i, chaine and Cummins, were also present. The motion was made by Mr. Desmond, Nationalist member of the Board, who made a strong case for his side, and showed that the entire cost to the ratepayers for the services of the Nuns would be only a farthing in the pound. It was seconded by Mr. Donovan and strongly advocated by Canon Cotter. The Conservatives and ex-officio Guardians maintained that there was no necessity for the introduction of the Nuns. The resolution was lost by IT votes to 12.

A Holy Religious Dead.

Miss Ryan and entered the convent in which she died, before she reached the age of sixteen. She was professed March 25, 1851. For many years Mother Mary was mistress of novices, for which position har piety, devotion and superior ability made her particularly well qualified. She was also for a long period in charge of the Children of Mary. She was fifty-nine years old and in the forty-first year of her religious life. Her funeral took place on Fo 2. The Solema Mass of Requiem was celebrated in the convent chapeloy Father Canning, Adm., assisted by the Rey, F. McDermott, deacon; Father Macken, subdeacon. The remains were interred in the cemetery attached to the convent. May she rest in peace!

Two Historical Coats.

Two coats belonging to the famous United rishman, Henry Joy McCracken, have been sent to the Belfast Museum by Mr. C. Acheson of Edinburg, Scotland. One of these was worn by McCracken as a member of the National Volunteers; the other while he was in command at the Battle of Antrim. The dress volunteer uniform is of all-wool cloth, emerald green color, slashed with gold braid, and gilt buttons. The facings and libings are of white twilled worsted serge. The lining of this is a fine, soil, domestic gray calico. The entire material was doubtless of home manufacture. The undress uniform is of a coarse, heavier cloth, evidently home-made, emerald green color and faced with yellow, and yellow epaulettes. It has silver-plated buttons, in the centre of which is an Irish harp, the initials N.V. (National Volunteers), Beliast Regiment; skirt faced with yellow, turned up, with a heart at the corner. ov McCracken as a member of the National
