

ARTICLE 11

Postponed or Temporary Surrender

1. When the person sought is being proceeded against or is serving a sentence in the Requested State for an offence other than that for which extradition is requested, the Requested State may, after having made its decision on the request, surrender or postpone surrender until the conclusion of the proceedings or the service of the whole or any part of the sentence imposed. The Requested State shall inform the Requesting State of any postponement.
2. To the extent permitted by its law, where extradition of a person has been granted, the Requested State may temporarily surrender the person sought for the purpose of prosecution to the Requesting State in accordance with conditions to be determined between the Contracting Parties.

ARTICLE 12

Surrender of Property

1. When a request for extradition is granted, the Requested State shall, so far as its law allows, hand over to the Requesting State all articles, including sums of money:
 - a) which may serve as proof of the offence; or
 - b) which have been acquired by the person sought as a result of the offence and are in his or her possession.
2. If the articles in question are liable to seizure or confiscation in the territory of the Requested State, the latter may, in connection with pending proceedings, temporarily retain them or hand them over on condition that they are returned.
3. These provisions shall not prejudice the rights of the Requested State or of any persons other than the person sought. When these rights exist, the articles shall, on request, be returned to the Requested State without charge as soon as possible after the end of the proceedings.
4. The property mentioned in paragraph 1 of this Article shall be surrendered even if extradition having been granted, cannot be carried out owing to the death or escape of the person sought.

ARTICLE 13

Rule of Specialty

1. Subject to paragraph 4 of this Article, a person extradited under this Treaty shall not be detained or prosecuted, nor be subject to any other restriction of personal liberty in the Requesting State for any offence committed or other matter arising before the surrender other than:
 - a) an offence for which extradition was granted; or
 - b) any other extraditable offence if the Requested State consents.
