German Entries Will Be Barred

Jockey Club of England Put Ban On Horses of Enemies

Ostracism of Germany, so far as horse racing and breeding are concerned, is the policy that has been adopted by the Jockey Club of England. The proposition that no entries for races in the future will be received from German, Austrian, Hungarian, Bulgarian, and Turkish subjects has been formally put before the club for a vote and it has been carried. It was also decided that no application for admission to the Stud Book of horses owned by the enemies shall be accepted.

In speaking of this action of the Jockey Club, The Field says the following: "It was decided that no application for admission to the Stud Book of horses owned by enemies shall be accepted by Messrs. Weatherby, and, further, that they (Messrs. Weatherby) are requested to give special consideration to the circumstances under which horses were stolen from Belgian owners, and the doubt which must prevail as to genuineness of certificates received from Germany."

"As regards the theft of Belgian horses, Lord Jersey told a curious tale to his fellow-members, a tale of disgraceful behavior which is quite in keeping with the Hun character. This tale was in fact a statement sent by the Belgian Jockey Club to the Jockey Club, and was to the effect that the Germans stole many Belgian thoroughbreds, brood mares as well as racehorses, and demanded from the Belgians the necessary papers to prove the identity of the animals. Naturally enough these were refused, and then the Belgian Jockey Club offices were searched, looted, without result. Next the Germans departed to Germany an Englishman, who is the starter of the Belgian Jockey Club, in order to force the hands of the Belgian authorities. The Belgian Jockey Club asked for the return of this official, and were told in reply by the Union Club of Berlin (the German Jockey Club) that a certain prince would have the starter sent back if he (the prince) received a certificate for a valuable mare which had been stolen from Belgium, and which the prince had commandeered for his own private stud.

"The above is the story in a nutshell, and readers will note how the ruling powers of the German turf identified themselves not only with the stealing of racehorses, but with the attempts to obtain the certificates of identity.

"Under the circumstances ostracism of Germany as far as racing and breeding are concerned was the obvious policy of our Jockey Club, and it is most satisfactory to note that the ostracism is now officially declared, and the national hunt committee has followed the Jockey Club lead, and has passed a similar resolution, barring the Germans and other enemies from all participation in the sport, as far as this country is concerned."

This Game Protested

In the East End League, last evening, the Rockwoods defeated the Roses with a score of 12 to 2 in a seven inning game. The game was protested in writing by Captain Stewart of the Roses on account of players from other parts of the city taking part in the game. The batteries for the winners were Appleby and Doherty, and for the losers McHugh, McKel and Stewart.

Tonight the Alerts and the Cotton Mills play at 7.15. A good game is expected for the Alerts have not lost a game so far and the Mills' team have been strong.

Fire losses in the United States for 1918 totalled $290,000,000, the highest since 1906, when the San Francisco earthquake occurred.

The Yankees Enjoy A New Popularity

Have Played to 364,000 People Since
June 4—Club is Leading the American League

(New York Times.)
The charge has been made quite frequently in the past that New York, from a baseball standpoint, was a National League city; that the fans looked upon the Giants as their own and the Yankees as simply a ball club. There is no disputing that the fandom of the big city has always pulled strongly for the Giants, particularly since John McGraw became the moving spirit of the club, but no longer can it be said that New York's baseball following is apathetic in regard to the Yankees. The Ruppert-Huggins combination, so ably directed by Miller Huggins in the current pennant chase, is now riding high on the wave of popularity and gaining more friends each day. The baseball colony of New York may be classed as not loving the Giants any less, but loving the Yankees more.

game series with Chicago covering a Saturday and a threatening Sunday. Detroit followed to play before 41,000 fans in four days. The St. Louis Browns, helped along by a pleasant Saturday and Sunday, drew 60,000 for four games. The Cleveland Indians, finishing a series on Saturday, played to 40,000 in three days. Then the Boston Red Sox dropped in for the Sunday date, and a crowd of 25,000 was attracted. The low Macken, playing four games from Monday to Thursday, inclusive, drew only 20,000, which was not surprising. The Red Sox, with a Saturday double-header, a Sunday game and a Monday double-header, drew a percentage on 66,000 admissions for the three days. The Senators, who finish up today, drew 30,000 on the holiday, a crowd of 25,000 for the twin bill Saturday, and 12,000 Sunday, a total of 67,000 to date on this series.

LOFTUS WAS SUSPENDED
Set Down For Two Days For Fouling With Ting-a-Ling in Stutch Run

New York, July 10.—Owners and trainers, made liberal use of the blue pencil in the opening number at the Aqueduct track today. There were twenty-eight entries originally, but after all the scratches had been posted, ten were left to go. Housemaid was the favorite, with Ting-a-Ling and Sedan heavily played also.

A disqualification and a suspension marked the race. Housemaid came under the wire by a narrow margin in front of Ting-a-Ling. The place was taken from the latter and given to Thomas F. McMahon. This placed Sedan third.

The action of the stewards was well justified. Loftus, on Ting-a-Ling, bore in on Housemaid all the way through the stretch, carrying the mare out. The foul was so flagrant that the officials acted without calling either of the jockeys into the stand. The victory lay between Housemaid and Ting-a-Ling from the barrier to the wire.

In addition to disqualifying his mount, the stewards gave a two-day suspension to Loftus.

Champions Won, 7 to 5.
In one of the fastest games ever witnessed in the North End the Champions defeated the Portlands by a score of 7 to 5. Nine innings were played and one error was made. The victory of the Champions was largely due to the good pitching of Paul Moore. Green made some sensational catches for the
