SILCOTT TRACKED.

THE EX-SERGEANT-AT-ARMS IN NEW BRUNSWICK WILDS.

A French Canadian Woman His Companion for the Winter in a Little Hut in the Woods—The Couple Well Supplied with Funds—They Slip Away from Pursuit.

GRAND FALLS, N. B., via BANGOR, Me., May 26.—Coming over from St. John to Bangor Saturday a Herald man learned that parties were close on the track of ex-Sergeant-at-Arms Silcott of the United States Congress. From Mr. Mayberry of the Grand Falls Hotel it was learned that some weeks ago he was informed by lumbermen coming down through the province of Quebec that Silcott had been seen in that vicinity with a woman. Mr. Mayberry procured from Boston pictures of Silcott and the woman to be with him. These he sent to the people who had seen the couple, and they identified them at once. The priest of the parish, who had met the woman, she being a French Catholic communicant, also recognized the pictures. He instructed the people of his parish to have nothing more to do with the pair, on learning who they were. The messenger then returned to Grand Falls and reported to Mr. Mayberry. A warrant was procured for Silcott's arrest and that of his companion. Mr. Mayberry than wrote to Boston and Washington for further advice. Instead of telegraphing they wrote, and three days were lost. About 10 days ago the messenger, a trusty native, was again despatched to find Silcott and his companion. Taking the New Brunswick railway to Edmundston and the Temiscouata road to Riviere du Loup, he crossed the St. Lawrence, a distance of some 20 miles, to Tadousac, at the mouth of the Saguenay river, and thence went to St. Louis parish. He returned to Grand Falls late Saturday night, and reported that the game had flown. Three days before he reached the place the woman came out and took the Quebec steamer. The man was not to be found. None of the natives know where he is. The little hut 12 miles in the woods, which the two occupied all winter, was empty. Silcott bought the lumber and had the hut built. It was near the camp of some lumbermen, who supplied the couple with most of their food, for which they were well paid. To all other persons they professed to be very poor, and when people came into the hut they found the woman wrapped in an old quilt, which she claimed was all she had to cover her nakedness. On the way out to the steamer her old wooden box was accidently broken open, and a lot of silk dresses and other finery exposed. The lumbermen say the couple had plenty of money. During the winter they were taken with "La Grippe," and came out to the settlement for assistance and medicine. Mr. Mayberry has no doubt the man was Silcott, but is of the opinion that he will elude pursuit now by taking a European steamer at Rimouski, or he can travel through the woods for some miles toward Quebec and take a stage for 40 miles further. It is understood that being an offender against the United States government, the Dominion government is ready to deliver him over if sought, or to proceed against him for living with another woman not his wife.

WATTS COMMITTED IT WILFULLY.

So the Coroner's Jury Decide in the Torry Murder, and Grey was an Accessory.

George Palmer was the second witness sworn at the Torry inquiry yesterday afternoon. He testified to being at Torry's house on the night of the murder. At the time Torry was stabbed witness was standing alongside the door, partly behind it. He saw Grey and heard him talking to some one outside. He did not see Grey do the stabbing nor had he seen anything in Torry hand. Witness went immediately for the police and met officer Codyre. He said "Torry is stabbed and dying" and asked him to get a doctor. Codyre replied that he had nothing to do with that beat and told witness to see Woods or Corbett.

Robt. Ready, sworn, testified to knowing little of the murder beyond the fact that he had been in the house at the time it was committed. This concluded the evidence which the coroner wished submitted, and he addressed the jury briefly. He reviewed the evidence and said that the question for the jury to decide was whether or not there had been malice aforethought in the murder—if so the verdict should be wilful murder; if not, then manslaughter.

After some 20 minutes consideration the jury returned the following verdict:—

We the jury, empanelled to inquire into the cause of the death of Samuel Torry, find that the deceased came to his death from a wound by a knife in the hand of Theodore Watts, and that the said Theodore Watts, did, feloniously, wilfully and of his malice aforethought, kill and murder the said Samuel Torry, and that one William Gray was an accessory to the fact.

TIRED OF DEATH.

HOW A JOB WAS PUT UP ON AN INSURANCE COMPANY.

A War Relic Sold—Embezzlement—Murders—The Blue and the Gray—Floods in California—Earthquake—Launch of a Four-master.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 28.—James Dillon, a well known citizen of Tyrrell county, who has been missing for a year and who was supposed to be drowned has turned up.

It seems that he had put up a job on a life insurance company, had become tired during the consequent litigation and returned just as the company was about to pay the money. He overturned a boat in the presence of persons who saw him on the shore and swam under water to the land without being perceived.

Later he found the corpse of a drowned man, rigged it in his clothes and planted it near the spot, and then went into hiding. The body was subsequently identified as his by 25 persons.

AMERICUS Ga., May 28.—The Andersonville prison stockade has been sold to the Georgia encampment G. A. R. acting for the national body.

WATERBURY, Conn., May 28.—The investigation of the books of George Roberts, the confidential book-keeper who was arrested a few days ago, show an embezzlement of thirty thousand instead of ten thousand as at first supposed.

As his speculations have been going on for 13 years it is expected he will secure immunity from punishment for a large part of his stealings under the statute limiting the prosecution to within five years of when the act was committed.

JACKSON, Miss., May 28.—Major A. N. Kimball, a native of New Hampshire, but for 40 years a prominent newspaper man in this state, and receiver of public moneys under President Garfield, was found murdered yesterday. He had been beaten to death with a club.

It is believed the deed was committed by negroes, with the object of robbery.

ST. LOUIS, May 28.—Henry Hall, a farm hand, was shot dead at Sikeston, N. W. yesterday by Jacob Haines, a fellow workman. Haines yelled as he fled, "He only came here to find out what he could about the James boys." He is supposed to be crazy, and has not yet been captured.

VICKSBURG, Miss., May 28.—The reunion of the blue and gray yesterday was a complete success. It was attended by thousands.

In the parade the grand army occupied the post of honor, followed by the confederate veterans.

FRESNO, Cal., May 28.—The San Joaquin and Kings rivers are higher than ever before, about Elkhorn and many thousand of acres are already inundated. The snow in the mountains has just commenced to melt and a few warm days will cause disastrous floods.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 28.—Nine distinct earthquake shocks were felt here yesterday. No damage.

BATH, Me., May, 28.—The four masted schooner Edith Olcott, owned in New York, was launched this morning.

A Captain's Opinion.

A few days ago the barque Tanjore was taken off the blocks after having undergone very extensive repairs. She is now loading deals at the end of North wharf for Swansea. It will be remembered that through some mismanagement the Tanjore was run ashore at Little River head during the month of February, where she was considerably damaged. She was brought back to St. John full of water, was put on the blocks and had her cargo taken out and was then thoroughly repaired, recaulked and coppered. The vessel had been somewhat hogged. She was coppered just as she lay when first put upon the blocks, and the consequence was that when she was floated off and took her proper bearings the copper wrinkled so badly in several places that quite a lot of it had to be taken off and be rolled out, after which it was put on smoothly. If the vessel had been floated so that her bearings could be properly ascertained this trouble would not have happened, so says the Tanjore's captain. The captain thinks St. John is much in need of a dry dock.

He says, "The workmen here are the best I have seen anywhere but they have not got the chance to do real good work in the way they have to work on repairing vessels where they can only work a few hours and then be driven away by the tide and have their work soaked with the water. Although this same thing might have occurred in a dry dock in regard to our copper if the vessel had not been floated and her bearings taken before the copper was put on, still the work could be done a great deal quicker and better in a dry dock. The repairs have cost about $15,000. If there had been a dry dock here the work could have been done considerably less than that and the vessel would have been away with her cargo over a month ago.

We have 18 to 20 feet rise and fall of tide at Quebec and have gridiron blocks for repairing the same as you have here. They answer well enough to put a vessel on to overhaul or look at her and make slight repairs, but when there are any extensive repairs needed it pays better to put the vessel in one of the dry docks. Captains say "There's no dock there," we will not go to St. John as they always prefer having extensive repairs made in a dry dock. The captain thought St. John had excellent facilities for doing work of this kind and that a dry dock was among our greatest needs.

A MONTREAL MURDER.

THE BODY OF A MISSING ENGLISHMAN FOUND.

The Throat Gashed in Four Places—Dissatisfaction Over the Verdict of Suicide Found by the Coroner's Jury.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

MONTREAL, May 28.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of a young Englishman named Kimber has to a certain extent been solved.

This morning shortly after six a man named Antoine B. Richon was proceeding to his work; he noticed when passing the high level reservoir what appeared to be a body floating on the surface of the water. He shouted for assistance to a man employed breaking stones a short distance away, and together with the assistance of a watchman attracted by their shouts, they dragged the body to the side of the reservoir. Dumain, the morgue undertaker, was then telegraphed for and the body taken from the water to the morgue where an inquest was held.

The body was apparently that of a young man about twenty-five or thirty years of age. Decomposition was far advanced. The hair had fallen from the head and the features had practically disappeared. Around the throat was a towel bearing the name T. Styles, the name of proprietor of the Central hotel where Kimber stayed. The throat had a cut five inches long across it and there were three wounds near the jugular vein. His two shirts were saturated with blood and in the pocket of his coat were found three stones each weighing five pounds. In his pockets were found fifteen cents, two pocket knives and several small articles.

Dr. E. P. Mount gave evidence to show that the wounds were serious enough to cause death.

The inquest was hurried through and is considered most unsatisfactory, a verdict of suicide being returned. Dr. Mount will, however, hold a post mortem.

RUN AWAY FROM HOME.

A FATHER LOOKING FOR HIS DAUGHTER.

She Has Been Living on Brussels Street For a Week or so With the man Who Enticed Her To Leave Home.

A few weeks ago a young girl, daughter of a respectable citizens of the town of New Bedford, Mass., was missed from her home and her disappearance caused quite a ripple of excitement in that city. The story of the disappearance of the girl became quite a sensation when it was learned that there were good grounds for believing that she had been enticed to leave home by a man named Porter, who was some sort of a foreman in a cotton factory there.

The father of the girl, whose name is Woodacres, felt strongly in the matter, as it was said that the man who had run away with his pretty daughter was already in the possession of a couple of wives. He is an Englishman and has quite a large family. After learning all he could of the matter and the route the fugitives would be likely to take, he started in pursuit. He was successful in tracing them through several New England towns and then for a time lost track of them. But circumstances led him to believe that the pair had made their way to St. John. Porter and Woodacres had an acquaintance here named Campbell who worked in a cotton fatory and the father shrewdly suspected that Porter would come to St. John and apply to Campbell to get him work in a cotton factory.

Anyway Mr. Woodacres arrived here yesterday and placed the matter in the hands of the police, who have been engaged in working it up today. It has been ascertained that to a considerable extent the suppositions of the father are correct.

Porter and the girl have been in this city for about a week or ten days. The girl is a very pretty blonde of sweet sixteen, and the man with whom she fled is nearly thirty years of age, tall and dark and is far from being attractive in appearance. The father apparently does not care much whether the man is captured or not, but is very anxious to secure his wayward daughter and make her return to her house.

Whether the pair have been married cannot be learned, but it is probable that no ceremony of that kind has taken place. When they were living together on Brussels street, however, they were known as man and wife by the few people who had noticed them. It was learned today that they had suddenly changed their quarters, as they had probably got wind of the father being on the track. It is not known whether they have left the city or not, and there is an open chance for some nice detective work.

Torry's Landlord Speaks.

To the Editor of THE GAZETTE:—

Sir,—I wish to make a statement in your paper in regard to the Torry affair and how the unfortunate man came to be in my house.

One cold morning in the spring my wife saw the wife of the late Torry and her child in my yard and on enquiry found out that they had been turned out of the house where they had lived. The basement had a lot of old furniture stored in it such as chairs, tables, one sofa, a lot of pictures and many useful articles together with other necessary things. My wife, out of charity to the poor unfortunates, gave them admittance until such time as they could get a place. Unfortunately they have never found one and I have many times threatened to put them out but they made many promises that they would do better. I must say they are a bad pair, for rum from Saturday to Monday was all they wanted. Their house was a decoy for many young men who spent all they had there and then were put out on the street. Sam. Torry was a worthless man who drank and starved and froze his unfortunate wife and child.

I must also say that Torry was very brutal, for I saw him many times throw some of his chums off the stoop. He was a very bad man. Many things I have seen since they came here which space would not permit me to describe. All that I can say is they have been a bad lot.

Nearly everything in the house is broken and destroyed. Fighting with his wife and breaking was his delight when he was crazed with rum and starved with hunger.

300 Siwash Ancestors Illuminate the Banks of the Squamish.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

WINNIPEG, May 28.—An outbreak is feared among the Indians of Northern British Columbia, who are in a terrible state of excitement over the burning of their burying-ground. The practice of most of the Indian tribes is to dispose of their dead by hanging them up in large trees. The Siwash tribe had 300 of their ancestors hung up in this manner. White men accidentally set the forest on fire and the entire lot of bodies was burned. Most of the bodies were dried, and once the fire got among them they burned like tar barrels. The Indians were horrified and gesticulated in the wildest manner. Their grief was unconsolable, as nothing is as sacred to them as their dead. Without taking the trouble to reason out the cause of the fire, they came to the conclusion that the white settlers along the Squamish had purposely brought it about, and so far did their feeling carry them that violence against these people was openly talked of. Indian Agents, who have gone to the scene, are having a hard task restraining them.

THE PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION.

Policeman Laskey and Mrs Torry on the Stand

Officer Laskey was the first witness to take the stand this afternoon. He testified that he was to Samuel Torry's house on Monday morning and saw Torry on the floor dead. He then told how he and Hamilton went to the Bridge road and arrested Watts and Grey. They seemed to know what they were arrested for as Watts asked the officers a question about the state of Torry. When the prisoners were taken to the station, they were searched and knife found on Grey. The rest of the evidence corrobrated that given by Laskey at the coroner's inquest.

Mrs. Torrey, wife of the murdered man was the next witnessed called. She testified to the two Ready's coming to her house in the afternoon of Sunday. A quart of ale and a gill of gin were sent for. Torrey drank gin Philip the ale. Robert took no liquor. This was about four o'clock. Robert Ready became intoxicated. The men went out about 7 o'clock. Philip Ready and Torry came back about 8 o'clock, stayed a few minutes and went out again. when they came back about an hour and a half afterwards they were accompanied by George Palmer. Witness did not hear anything said until the knock came to the door, and somebody asked for a drink. She did not hear anything else until her husband said "Mother I'm stabbed." Palmer told her Gray had stabbed her husband. She asked him to go for a policeman. She then found that her husband was certainly dead.

HARBOR FISHING.

The Best Fishing in the Harbor That Has Been Known for Years.

The fishing in the harbor this spring is the best that has been known for years. The run of gaspereaux has been very large and the fish of good quality. Large quantities of them are still being taken in the weirs. The largest and best of them have, however, gone before this and the present run consists mostly of smaller fish than those that come earlier. Some weeks ago shad began to come into the harbor quite plentifully and the fishermen with drift nets have since then abandoned the gaspereaux fishing almost altogether and have gone into shad fishing with a will. They have been rewarded with

UNPARALLELED SUCCESS.

Last week the drift fishermen in the harbor reaped a great harvest. They made from $100 to $186 per boat, catching altogether about $10,000 worth of shad.

They have been greatly inconvenienced since yesterday by a brig which is anchored off Sand Point, Carleton, and which prevents them from drifting. The harbor master, although asked to remove the vessel, does not seem to take any notice of it. Evidently he has not the interests of the fishermen at heart.

Mr. F. W. Thompson who is well posted in the fish business, having been fish inspector for a number of years, told a GAZETTE reporter this morning that the run of shad in the harbor this spring was the largest he had ever known in his time. The fishing is now about its best, and the fishermen get from 300 to 700 fish per boat, and sell them at $5 to $6 a hundred.

AN IRISH PROHIBITED MEETING.

Hide and Seek with the Police—Dillon Struck with a Baton.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

DUBLIN, May 28.—The demonstration at Cashel to-day, which was prohibited by Government proclamation, was a game of hide and seek. Dillon managed to address a fugitive meeting outside of Boherlahin, and then drove to the village to address another meeting which the police dispersed with their batons. O'Brien and Dillon protested against the action of the police, and Dillon was struck with a baton. A military detachment arriving, several charges were made. One policeman was injured.
