

life, deemed it a duty, a privilege, and an honour, to be connected with the great Wesleyan Missionary enterprise.

He entered the Ministry in 1841, and, during his ministerial life, travelled extensively, and laboured successfully.

At the Conference of 1864, he was elected Chairman of the Stanstead District. He keenly felt the responsibility of his twofold office. After a few days illness, he finished his earthly work on the 12th of October, 1865.

He was a man of sterling worth. He laboured hard and perseveringly to promote the glory of God. Amongst his last words were—"The grace that has sustained me through life is sufficient now." He died at his post, emphatically falling asleep in Jesus. The esteem in which he was held was manifested by a large circle of surviving friends.

REV. WILLIAM HENRY WINANT

Departed this life on the 30th May, 1866, in the 25th year of his age, and the third of his ministry. In early life he was the subject of gracious influences, thrown around him by the prayers and example of pious parents. These influences resulted in his conversion to God, in the 11th year of his age. In youth, his piety was genuine and conspicuous, and in maturer life he "adorned the gospel of God our Saviour in all things. Three years ago he entered our itinerant work as a candidate for the Christian Ministry. His first year in the work was spent in the Exeter Circuit, where his labours were crowned with great success. His next appointment was the Strathroy Circuit. Here, too, the blessing of God succeeded his efforts, and many were added to the Church. At the Conference of 1865, he was appointed to the Ingersoll Circuit, where even greater success attended his ministrations than that which marked the previous years.

In the Autumn of last year, it became apparent to his Superintendent and friends that his health was giving way. He was urged to take rest, but refused, till his physical weakness absolutely compelled him to do so. He went to the home of his parents, where he gradually wasted away under the blighting influence of consumption. During his illness his faith in Christ, as a present and all-sufficient Saviour, was strong and unwavering. He frequently expressed a desire to live that he might preach Christ to perishing sinners. His last hours were crowned with the gracious presence of the Saviour.
