

FROM ALL OVER THE MARITIME PROVINCES

SALISBURY

Salisbury, N. B., Sept. 8.—The first sales from a Salisbury fox ranch took place last week when A. E. Tritts, V. E. Gowland, and R. A. Brown sold three black puppies, two males and one female for a lump sum of $18,000.

Cap. F. W. Carter, John Kennedy and W. J. Chapman, of the Salisbury Black Fox & Fur Company, Limited, returned home last week from Prince Edward Island, bringing three pairs of black foxes with them for their ranch here.

V. E. Gowland reached here last week from a business trip to Montreal. Rev. J. B. Champion, who has been enjoying a month's holidays, resumed his pastoral duties here on Sunday.

The condition of Mrs. Francis, wife of the pastor of the Salisbury Baptist church, is slightly improved this week. Duncan MacNeughton of Portage Kings county, is visiting at Salisbury, the guests of his sister, Mrs. John W. Patterson.

Cheston Murray, of Oakland (Cal.), spent Saturday with relatives here. Mr. Murray is spending a month with his parents at Weston Settlement.

An interesting game of baseball was played here on Saturday afternoon between a team from the Petitediac high school and a team from the Salisbury high school. The score stood 12-7 in favor of Salisbury. The batteries were Petitediac, Moore and Chapman; Salisbury, Wheaton and Wortman. A return match will be played on the Petitediac diamond next Saturday afternoon.

Isiah Duncan, of this village, last week lost his pocketbook containing cash and promissory notes aggregating nearly $400. He has been unable to find any trace of the missing articles.

Lloyd Taylor, who has been home for the summer holidays, returned to Mount Allison, Sackville, this week to resume his studies.

Salisbury, N. B., Sept. 10.—Mr. Edgett, a New York man, who is touring New Brunswick, accompanied by several members of his family, is stalled at the Depot Hotel here for a day or two owing to a mishap to his touring car. He left on the early train this morning for St. John to get the new parts required, and will probably be able to continue on his tour on Thursday. Over the roads which this tourist has traveled in New Brunswick, he found the best wheeling in Albert county, and the worst in Kings county. Mr. Edgett, who has done well in New York, was formerly of Hillboro (N. B.).

Misses Louise, Trice and Helen Barnes, who have been spending the summer holidays here at their homes, will not resume their studies at the Sackville Ladies' College until the beginning of the next term.

Mrs. Charles McCarthy, of Moncton, was in Salisbury this week for a brief visit with her sister, Mrs. A. E. Tritts. William E. Smith, of Jacksonville, Florida, who was a resident of Salisbury some thirty years ago, and was a prominent member of the Salisbury Baptist church, recently wrote the pastor of the church here that he would be pleased to donate to the church a lot of land here, if the church would care to accept it. It is needless to say that the church officers gladly accepted Mr. Smith's kind offer, and the transfer will be made in the course of a few days.

APOHAQUI

Apoahqui, N. B., Sept. 8.—George B. Jones, M. F. P., and Mrs. Jones returned last week from a very pleasant trip to the upper Canadian cities. Mr. and Mrs. Jones attended the Toronto exhibition and also visited Ottawa, Niagara, Quebec and Montreal.

Mrs. Geo. K. Harvey, who has been spending two weeks with her mother, Mrs. Secord, left on Tuesday last for her home in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. James Earle, of St. John, are boarding with the Misses Sharp for a few weeks.

Water Lawson, of St. John, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Murray for the week-end here that he was in.

Miss Margaret Purdy, of Westchester (N. S.), returned on Saturday to resume her duties here.

Miss Bertha Ogilvie, of Doaktown, Northumberland county, is the guest of Mrs. Edward White.

Mr. and Mrs. John Little, of Port Elgin, are in the village guests of Mr. Little's brother, David Little.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Scott, of St. John, spent a few days last week with Mrs. Scott's mother, Mrs. Mason.

Miss Lavinia Simont, of Sussex, was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Percy I. Polkins, on Sunday.

Apoahqui, Sept. 10.—Contractor Lutz has the new school building well under way, and when completed it will be commodious and convenient and a much needed improvement to the village. The residence of John Little and Adam Murray are nearing completion and add much to the appearance of Campbell street.

Theodore Long, who has been a resident of this place for a number of years, has closed his business here and moved his family to Sussex.

A number of the residents of the village have been making quite extensive improvements around their homes.

CLARK'S SOUPS advertisement with image of a soup can and text describing the product.

this summer, J. P. McAuley's new residence is completed and makes a very neat and handsome appearance. Mr. McAuley has recently had cement walks and driveway laid. W. A. Jones and Neil Johnson have also had cement walks and steps made around their homes, and the steps into the Baptist church have been laid in cement.

The illness of Mrs. J. S. Secord regret to hear of her illness, but she was much improved last evening.

The death of Mrs. Wellington Johnson occurred at her home on Monday evening. Deceased was Miss Amy Kierstead before marriage, and was a highly respected lady. Mrs. Johnson has been ill for a number of years, and leaves to mourn, her husband and three daughters, viz: Mrs. John Bell, Mrs. Whitfield Menzie and Mrs. Lee Polkins.

Miss Annie Johnson, who has been visiting her mother here, left last week for Boston to continue her studies in the kindergarten work.

Mr. Wickham, of Fall River, is spending the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wadsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Secord spent last Sunday in Bellefleur, with Mr. Secord's father, James H. Secord, and Mrs. Secord.

Miss Purdy is spending a few days in St. John attending the fall millinery openings.

Herbert S. Jones has been confined to his home, the last few days through illness.

Mrs. Geo. H. Secord went to Sussex on Wednesday evening to attend the dance given by the members of the Institute.

W. A. Jones is in St. John today on business.

Mrs. Chas. Keith, Petitediac, visited her mother, Mrs. Geo. I. Vevey, last week.

Greenwich Hill, Sept. 8.—Walker Wedon, of the tug Admiral, spent Sunday with his family here.

Miss A. V. Bonnell, of St. John, spent the week-end at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Israel McKenney, of West St. John, their family and friends, spent the latter part of the week at their summer home, Hillside cottage.

Miss Brooks, who has been spending a week with Mrs. Chisholm, has returned to Gagetown.

Herbert S. Jones, Corfield and friends, of St. John, motored to Day's Corner Friday, where they spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. T. Y. Oddie.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McBay and daughter Rachel, of St. John, and Mrs. J. A. Wallace, of Brown's Flats, were guests of Mrs. W. L. Belyea-Wednesday.

Mrs. William Day and Mrs. Walker Wedon are spending this week in St. John.

M. Short, of Boston, with his mother and Mrs. G. Worden, were guests of Mrs. W. L. Belyea, Thursday.

Captain Grayville, of the schooner Nettie Shipman, and Mrs. Grayville spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pitt and daughter Annie are spending the week-end in St. John.

Hopewell Hill, Sept. 8.—The Albert Southern Railway, built twenty-five years ago and never operated, is finally off the map, the somewhat ill-fated line passing out of existence on Saturday, when the roadbed, from which the rails had already been taken, was sold in sections to the farmers through whose property the road passes.

The whole road, from Harvey to Alma, some twenty miles, including a wharf and a station building at the latter place, brought less than $500. The wharf was bid in by the White Lumber concern, and the land owners along the route bought the trackway in small lots which will now again become part of the farms.

The property was sold by M. D. Fullerton, auctioneer, at the direction of W. A. Trauman, barrister of Campbellton, formerly of Albert, and trustee of the estate of the late Hon. G. S. Turner, of Harvey, these interests covering all the railway property. It is understood, the provincial government holds a lien on the road.

The Albert Southern was connected with the Harvey branch three miles in length, with the Salisbury & Albert road, but though the track was proposed one of the best among the branch lines in the province, business complications arose, and the road was never regularly operated. Some freight was carried over the line in the early days of its history, and an annual picnic used to be held over the road for a few years, but a passenger or regular freight service was never inaugurated. Later on the bridge on Harvey branch, the connecting link, was destroyed and not rebuilt, and the Southern road's doom was sealed.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Stewart, of Campbellton, and family, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Stewart's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McGorman.

Miss Bessie Rogers, who recently took a shorthand and bookkeeping course at the Harvey branch, is spending the summer months at her home here, left for Montreal today, to take a position in a business office.

Rev. J. B. Colwell and Mrs. Colwell, lately of Hampton, have been visiting friends in this county. Mr. Colwell was at one time pastor of the Hopewell Baptist church.

Mrs. Maria Derry, of Mary's Point, is visiting her niece, Miss Helena Nichol, here. Mrs. Derry is one of the oldest residents of the county, being now in her 90th year, and is remarkably well preserved for her years, being active and well physically and in the full possession of her mental faculties. She says she thinks she will live to be a hundred as she is well, and also from the fact that she came of a long-lived family. Her maternal grandfather, in Scotland, lived to the age of 110, and then met death in an accident.

Hopewell Hill, Sept. 8.—Miss Alice Haley, trained nurse, of Boston, visited friends hereabout this week. Miss Haley lived here for a few years when her father, H. A. Haley, was manager of the Champlain Road plaster quarry.

Mrs. J. E. Rogers this week moved into the residence here formerly owned by her father, the late E. R. Moore, which has been undergoing extensive improvements, including concrete cellar, piazza, etc.

Benjamin Reid, an old and highly respected resident of Harvey, died this morning at the home of his nephew, Frank S. Reid, Harvey Bank. Mr. Reid was 81 years of age. He was twice married, his first wife being Miss McAlmon and the last wife a Miss Stevens. The latter's death occurred a few years ago. No children survive.

Newcastle, Sept. 8.—George McLean, of Strathadam, while working in the harvest field one day last week was stricken with paralysis of the tongue and all the left side. He is 79 years of age and is not expected to recover.

The services in the Presbyterian churches of Harcourt, Beaverville and Cook Branch, Kent county, were in the absence of Rev. R. H. Stavert in Toronto, conducted yesterday by Ald. H. H. Stewart, of Newcastle.

Mrs. Fred Howe went to Montreal hospital yesterday to see her husband who is recovering from an operation for cancer of the rectum.

Harrison M. Gough returned to North Sydney yesterday.

While cleaning a gun Saturday afternoon Archibald Fletcher had part of one of his fingers shot off.

One of Sinclair's horses Saturday afternoon ran away at the I. C. R. station, struck itself against an electric light pole and was killed.

Mrs. Demers' delivery horse ran away Saturday afternoon, smashing the wagon.

Fredericton, Sept. 8.—On Thatch Island, at Ormogroft, last night, two Indians named Nicholas Saco and Peter Pouches were out duck shooting and remained near a pond hole until about dark, one on each side. A brace of ducks alighted in a water between the two men. Pouches opened fire and, besides shooting a duck seriously wounded his companion, part of the charge of duck shot striking him in the face, and passing through both cheeks.

The wounded man was removed to Ormogroft, no doctor being available, his wounds were not properly treated, and he died on the way.

The engagement of Miss Marjorie Massey, daughter of a former manager of the bank here, to Mr. William Torie of the Bank of Nova Scotia staff is announced.

Douglas town, Sept. 10.—Mrs. William Wood is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Loran, of Bathurst.

Mrs. E. C. Mullin has returned to Bathurst after several months' visit to her sister, Miss Adelaide McKendry, and brother, Howard McKendry, of Douglas town.

Wm. Wood, of St. John, spent Sunday with his sisters here.

Miss Ella Donovan began to teach this week at Upper Derby.

Mr. and Mrs. George Norman are giving congratulations upon the arrival of the funeral of Miss Laura Kenna, who died on Wednesday at Bathurst, aged 20 years, took place at St. Peter's church, Bathurst. Death was due to consumption. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Norman, and two brothers, James and William, and sister, Miss Margaret.

Hampton, Kings Co., Sept. 10.—Last Saturday Louis Conway, who has conducted a meat and produce market business on Railway avenue for the past few years under the firm name of Conway Bros, sold out to John W. Pierce, who took immediate possession. Mr. Conway has accepted a traveling agency for the Ogilvie Flour Milling Company, and his territory includes the city of St. John and surrounding places. He is a bright and enterprising young man with considerable experience and wide business connections, and his many friends wish him every success in his new enterprise. Mr. Pierce, who follows him here, is a young man ambitious to establish himself on good business principles, and with a knowledge of the preparation and display of daily supplies, will no doubt win all the custom he hopes to secure.

Clarence Conway, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Conway, will return to his studies at Bathurst on Friday. Mr. Conway is a member of the Harvey branch of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Merton, wife of the Rev. Dr. Merton, arrived here on Saturday and have taken temporary quarters at the home of Mr. Edwin Evans on Everett street.

Mrs. E. Evans is visiting her daughter, Mrs. S. C. Ritchie, at Halifax.

MAXWELL'S HIGH SPEED CHAMPION advertisement with image of a car and text describing its features.

MESSAGE FROM A VERY LIVE WOMAN

"Every Woman Should Take 'Fruit-a-tives'"

Lakelet, Ont., May 12th, 1913. "Kindly publish this letter of mine if you think it will benefit other women who are afflicted with the diseases I have had in the past, but am now cured of. It is my firm belief that every woman should take 'Fruit-a-tives' if she wants to keep herself in good health. Before taking 'Fruit-a-tives' I was constantly troubled with what is commonly known as 'Nerves' or 'Neurosis'. This Nervousness brought on the most violent attacks of Sick Headache, for which I was constantly taking doctors' medicine without any permanent relief. Conditions were also a source of great trouble to me and for which the Doctors said 'I would have to take medicine all my life,' but 'Fruit-a-tives' banished my troubles and now I am a well woman."

MRS. FRED GADKE. Box 6, 6 for $2.00—trial size, 25c. At dealers or direct from receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, through Charlotte county and will also visit at St. Stephen.

T. Wm. Wainwright returned on Monday from a trip to Cape Breton and P. E. Island.

Dr. F. H. Wetmore, chairman of the Kings county extended health, has been for the past two weeks at St. John, New York, Philadelphia and other United States cities. Dr. S. S. King looking after his medical practice during his absence.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church will give a "special tea" all-comers on the lawn of Mrs. S. S. King, on Saturday evening, on Saturday afternoon.

The Junior Aid of the Methodist church met on Saturday evening at the home of Miss Margaret Evans, erecting a table and chairs, and a table and chairs, and spent one hour in sewing and one hour in literary study. It is intended to carry this on from house to house during the autumn and possibly the winter months.

Frank S. White and family returned to the city on Sunday after sojourning at the Wayside Inn for some weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Wilson, of St. John, who have been having their automobile thoroughly overhauled at the machine shop of G. M. Wilson, returned home on Saturday.

The regular Tuesday Kensington tea was served at the home of Mrs. E. C. Creed at the Methodist parsonage. It was a very pleasant occasion and well patronized, and the ladies were very patriotic presented its being held on the lawn.

A garden party in aid of the Baptist church was held on the lawn of Frank Titus this afternoon and evening. This is an annual affair and always very successful. In addition to the usual supper of things in the evening, a merry-go-round, swings and in the evening the grounds will be illumined.

After a ten weeks' visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Purdy, taking their children and grandchildren to the eastern states, Mrs. Theodore Purdy returned to her home at Wakefield (Mass.), and Mrs. Doris Steeves, of Gardiner (Me.), and her daughter, returned to their respective homes on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, St. John, spent the last week-end at the Wayside Inn.

Miss Travers and Miss Frances Travers, St. John, and Miss Ferguson, of New York, were visitors to Hampton last Saturday.

Tuesday Miss Greg and Miss Bentley, of St. Martin, returned from the millinery trip to the fall openings at Boston.

Monday Robert Thomas, his daughter, Miss Marie G. Thomas, and Miss Harrison motored to Hampton and return.

It is stated that Mr. Thomson has purchased the Ball property just above the Station. This is the farm and residential property created by Thomas A. Peters many years ago, and since successively owned by the late Mr. Thomson, by J. M. Scovill and Mr. Bell, the latter occupying the site in a very stately one, with large house and many buildings, and the large farm, in fine condition.

Richibucto, Sept. 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Bruce A. Brown and their two children left this morning for St. John, where they will spend a day or two before going to Fort Fairfield (Me.) to visit Mrs. Brown's mother.

Mrs. Sarah Warner went on Wednesday to Bouchouche, where she expects to remain for some weeks.

A splendid missionary sermon was given in Chalmers' church last evening by Rev. Mr. Ross, of St. John, minister superintendent of the maritime synod. A solo "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," by Miss C. D. Buck, of St. John, was much enjoyed.

Louis O'Leary was taken to the Moncton Hospital last week for another operation on his shoulder.

Yincom Doucet and Tilmann, Edgar Dorina and Semida Leger went on Thursday to Tracadie to attend school. Miss Margaret Haloran went last week to Kouchibouguac to meet school.

Miss Dorothy Thompson went to St. John last week to visit relatives.

James Irving, who spent vacation at home, has returned some little time ago to Logville.

Miss Kate Purcell, of Chatham, was a guest last week of Mrs. Arthur A. O'Leary.

DORCHESTER A VERY LIVE TOWN

Occupies an Important Position in Wealthy County

HAS FINE HISTORY

Years Ago it Was the Centre of a Flourishing Shipbuilding Industry—Now Looking for Business Just as Many Other Live Towns Are Doing.

Dorchester, N. B., Sept. 9.—Go almost anywhere in New Brunswick and you will find one of the stock jokes of the rural wit is "You ought to go to Dorchester." And there could be far worse fates than going to Dorchester, for it is known that the whole life of this enterprising little town is not centered within the four walls and the farm section of the Federal Penitentiary for the maritime provinces. As the shire town of New Brunswick's most populous county, Dorchester occupies an important position and had the stock-beaten out the census man by a couple of days when he made his rounds two years ago last April, the town and parish population of 5,000. As it was, the figure was 4,468. With a natural beauty unsurpassed by few towns in Canada, the best of rail and steamer facilities, and the citizens showing a commendable spirit of enterprise, this town promises to stay in the front rank of the march towards progress in New Brunswick.

Its Famous Ships. Time was, when shipyards dotted the banks of the Memramook and within the range of vision twenty-five or thirty noble wooden vessels heaved their bows under the hand of their makers. With the passing of that industry Dorchester suffered with other towns of the province and except for the transport business handled for inland centres, the town has been almost without industries for a quarter of a century. Now a start has been made. With some encouragement an Amherst concern has decided to reorganize under the name of Oxford Worted, Limited, and backed by local capital to the extent of about $50,000, are taking over an unused building here and expect to have their machines running for the manufacture of line and woolen cloth yarn, knitted goods, etc., in a short time now. H. Lockwood, of Amherst, has spent considerable time in town in the interests of the concern, and prospects are most favorable. Although a start is being made in a small way, it is expected the business and capital will be handled by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

Up over a hill so steep that every auto driver assists his thrilling engine by releasing the clutch, whether from necessity or from necessity, another road from Dorchester civic centre leads away to a little further on is Anderson's mill, set down among the rocks and trees on a tiny stream, owned by one brother and run by another, a pulsating life-breathing energy and enterprise. Hardly out of sound of the buzz-saw in one brother's house the writer heard the piano playing triumphantly, without ceasing, for the Robert H. Leonard piano.

FREE TO YOU—MY SISTER

FREE TO YOU AND EVERY SISTER SUFFERING FROM WOMEN'S AFFLICTIONS.

I know woman's sufferings. I have found the cure. I will mail free of any charge, my home treatment, and full instructions to any sufferer from women's ailments. I want to tell all women who are suffering from any of the following ailments: Pains in the back, neck, shoulders, arms, hands, feet, legs, hips, knees, ankles, wrists, fingers, toes, etc. I want to tell you that my home treatment is a safe and sure cure for all these ailments. It is a simple, natural, and effective treatment. It is a cure that has helped thousands of women. It is a cure that is free to you and every sister suffering from women's ailments. Write to-day, as you may not see this offer again. Address: MRS. M. SUMMERS, Box 11, 70 WINDSOR, Ont.

college-trained Sackville. Making a detour a fourth street turns into the main road traversing the little peninsula between the watersheds of