Consumption No Barrier.

Shiloh Counteracts Hereditary Tendencies.

Many a man's life has been wrecked simply because he dare not marry. Being conscientious, and knowing that his ancestors have suffered and died from the dreaded disease of Consumption, he feels himself debarred from the pleasures and responsibilities of married life. Happily, it is now proven that this taint of Consumption is no longer an insuperable barrier. The tendency toward Consumption may be overcome in youth or early manhood and womanhood. Proper care, proper diet and proper exercise — together with Shiloh's Cure — will conquer the handicaps of heredity and make every body so placed equal to the burdens and joys of married life. A prominent young merchant of Winnipeg — who asks that names be not publicly given — became engaged to marry — but his conscience picked him for he carried hereditary taints of Consumption, and he feared to marry. One day, being in a very despondent mood, his sweetheart trying to cheer him, mentioned having read of several cures effected by Shiloh's Cure and tried to persuade him to give it a trial. He at last consented and at once began to take Shiloh's Cure regularly. The result was so encouraging that after a while they were married. That event occurred some eight or nine years ago and no signs of the dreaded malady have yet appeared and neither he nor their two children show exceptional proneness to coughs, colds, or any pulmonary weakness.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure is no common medicine. It is a medicine that cures. It is a guaranteed medicine, it won't fail, if you are not satisfied with the results after using two thirds of the contents of the bottle, return the balance to the druggist and he will at once refund you the whole of your purchase money. Sold in Canada and United States at 25c, 50c, and $1.00 a bottle. In Great Britain at 1s. 2d., 2s. 3d., and 4s. 6d. S. C. WELLS & Co., Toronto.

If taken in Time Cures Consumption.

AN INTERESTING LAW SUIT.

The Responsibility of a Directorate to be Tested—A Suit for $79,000 Damages, Etc.

Gold miners and those interested in mining operations will be interested in a peculiar suit that has just been entered in the Supreme Court in Nelson, B. C.

Mr. Ernest Mansfield, capitalist and mining promoter, has brought suit against Ren' Landi, Jules Savage, Charles Frederick de Baillencourt and Ferdinand de Baillencourt, all of whom live in France, for damages to the amount of nearly $80,000.

This mining lawsuit is one of the most interesting that has ever been brought before the courts of British Columbia, as it involves various questions of extreme importance. It is a question between the directors of a company and the manager of the properties operated by that company. It is a question where the company did not advance the necessary money to operate the property, the consequence of which serious damages to the manager will try to be proven. Similar cases have happened before but none so serious as this where the manager was thrown into prison for the company's debt. It will undoubtedly be watched with the greatest interest by all mining men. The defendants make up the directorate of the company which is operating the property at Camp Mansfield on the south fork of Kaslo Creek. And against the company Mansfield has brought six charges, probably none of which would have been brought had it not been for the claim being reached when he was placed behind the bars.

The first claim is for $14,000 due Mansfield for money advanced to work the property.

The second claim is for $50,000 damages for the defendants' breach of contract in not furnishing Mansfield with the necessary money for the payment of the men engaged at the mine, and the result of which he was imprisoned for eight days.

Mr. Mansfield claims a fifth interest in two properties now worked by the defendants.

He also claims one-fifth percent of the profits realized from work up the claims, by virtue of his contract with the defendants. Mr. Mansfield had engaged with the company for two years as manager and engineer, and was to be given, in addition to a large salary, a fifth interest in the property.

He also asks for an injunction restraining defendants from disposing of his interests in the property, and he also asks for the cancellation of his contract with the company owing to their breach of contract that they had made.

The last claim that he makes is for damages to the amount of $15,000 for this breach of contract in not furnishing the necessary funds to work the mines, and they were therefore closed down, and, of course, not only Mr. Mansfield, but all the stockholders, will not receive any income from them as the result.
