Berlin, Sept. 23.—Germany's mora or weaponless, warfare upon the French and Belgian encroachment of her territory and sovereignty may be said to have come to an end. Officially its termination has not yet been de creed, but, aside from a noisy minor-ity of super-Nationalists, competent opinion inside official circles and the ober judgment of political, industrial. financial and Labor leaders are no longer under the delusion that the drooping spirits of the people of the Ruhr and the Rhineland can be sufficiently reanimated to make passive resistance an effective weapon for another single day.

Our financial and commercial interests are demanding the more energetic development of our natural resources to assist in the liquidation of our war debt. This recognition of the value of our national heritage has created and intensified the demand from Canadian and foreign manufacturers for accuratei nformation as to the locuratei nformation as to the lo-progress in development of these resources, especially as they pertain to our forests, min-erals and water-powers. Raw materials and power supply are the first necessity of industry, and the Department of the In-terior at Ottawa, through its Natural Resources Intelligence Service, reports an increasing Service, reports an increasing number of requests regarding these. This branch, fortunately, is in a position to answer sucl enquiries, and has also issued a series of resource maps and other literature of value to the commercial interests. These are available on application, and it is suggested that our readers make themselves familiar with the services which the Natural Resources Intelligence Service ber in a twenty-hour day, lay in ruins.

At four o'clock, Thursday, the mill had shut down to enable the night foreman to repair this bearing as it had been giving trouble, and the work was done, so it was thought, satisfactorily. Just half an hour later the flames shot through the flooring and the dry flame of the mill was just so much tinder. There was one fatality in connection with the disaster. B. F. Rogers, an American, who came to Canada and enlisted with the First Canadian Overseas Expedition, and after the was married a Burks Falls girl and made Canada his home, was employed as boss filer. He had been gassed overseas and it is thought that he was overcome by smoke and could not get out in time. His mate escaped and said that he had had trouble with dense smoke. Early this morning the body was recovered. He leaves a wife and two children. There were nearly 300 men employed in and around the plant, which had been operating on two shifts, and they made a valiant attempt to check the flames and were able to keep it from spreading, saving the huge stocks of lumber, the store and bunkhouses. W. J. Bell, manager of the company,

Seeds Bill Made Effective Oct. 1 by Order-in-Council

A despatch from Ottawa says:— An Order-in-Council has been issued bringing into effect on October 1 next the bill respecting the testing, inspec-tion and sale of seeds, which was passed last session. The bill has to do passed last session. The bill has to do with the grading and specification of grades of seeds placed on the market. Thus if seeds prove not up to specified quality, the purchaser can get redress. An important provision of the legislation has to do with keeping grass and clover seed free from seeds of noxious weeds. It is provided that the seed package shall bear the name and address of the merchant, as well as the province and county in which the seed was grown. The bill also provides for the registration, through the Canadian Council of Horticulture, of newly-discovered varieties of agricultural or garden vegetable seeds or plants.
