Ottawa, July 16, 1920

Dear Mr. Taschereau:

✓ You will hardly need this line to assure you of the great pleasure I derived from the announcement of your accession to the Premiership of the Province of Quebec. I have been away from Ottawa on a brief vacation, foregoing altogether any attempt at correspondence, or I should have written immediately to extend my heartiest congratulations and best of wishes.

I am sure that under your guidance another splendid chapter of progress and achievement will be added to the history of the Province of Quebec. If in any immediate or remote way, opportunity should ever be accorded me of co-operating with you toward that end, in any particular, you know, of course, it will be my highest privilege and pleasure to avail myself of it
