MR. LOWMAN: If you find later that there is any information further that we can give you, just communicate with Mr. Vallance and we will produce it.

THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you very much. You of course understand that our work is simply that of an Inquiry Commission; we can make no promises, and we make no promises. We hold out high hopes, however, that as a result of the information which we will be able to bring back to the government, something will result which will be helpful to you as well as to us.

MR. LOWMAN: Thank you.

THE CHAIRMAN: I don't think there is anything further that we can say. We will now take adjournment.
