A Physician's Testimony for Labatt's Ale

"We find that the ale uniformly and well agreed with the patients, that it stimulated the appetite, and thereby increased nutrition. The taste, likewise, is always highly spoken of. In nervous women, we found that a glass at bedtime acted as a very effective and harmless hypnotic."—SUPERINTENDENT OF LARGE U. S. HOSPITAL.

Two thousand, two hundred and forty-three children competed the other day at the South London School sports at the Crystal Palace.
To be a teacher and superintendent in a Church Sunday-school for seventy years is surely unique! Miss Hamerton, of Elland, near Halifax, has completed that number of years in connection with her parish church, and still continues her work with unabated interest, although she has just passed her eighty-sixth birthday. The occasion of her birthday a short time ago proved a fitting opportunity for the teachers of the girls' Sunday-school to make her a little presentation, which they did in the shape of two nicely bound volumes of the "Life of Bishop Wilkinson," the late Primus of the Scottish Church.

The village blacksmith of Southborough, Tunbridge Wells, Mr. W. H. Holden, has lately celebrated the completion of sixty years as a chorister, and the Vicar and parishioners have marked the occasion by presenting to him a silver medal. Mr. Holden, who is said to be the oldest member of a church choir in England, comes of a decidedly musical family. Every member of it is the possessor of musical gifts in some form or another. Twenty-six of his mother's relatives some years ago formed themselves into a village brass band, which achieved a good deal of fame in the county. It is stated that during sixty years, Mr. Holden has never missed a service or choir practice, except on two or three occasions when serious illness confined him to his bed.
