The "Royal" coal, for which the Regina Flour Mill Co. have the general agency for South-east Saskatchewan and which is the output of the Royal mine, Lethbridge, Alta., is in many respects an ideal fuel, possessing qualities which make it among the foremost grades of coal now being offered to the public in the province. Giving an enormous heat, Royal coal is free from slate and does not clinker and experts who have subjected it to searching tests have not hesitated to declare it to be unequalled all round excellence. One very material advantage to the household in connection with the coal handled by the Regina Flour Mill Co., is that it is practically free of all dust and small coal, every pound of the coal received by the general agents here being carefully screened upon its arrival, the screenings being used in the mill. The Regina agents, who are also the agents for a wide sweep of territory served from here, have completed arrangements which will enable them to carry at all times a large stock of Royal coal, which in view of the popularity which this special grade of coal is likely to gain for itself is undoubtedly a wise and business like precaution.

The advances will be made by way of a loan at the usual government rate of interest, repayable in three

An organization known as the west Canada Colonist Society has been formed, and it is proposed to settle them on a large tract of land able to accommodate thousands of settlers that has been selected in the Moose Jaw district, and which is now being surveyed.
