

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., MAR 26, 1915.

Editorial Brevities.

No wonder hog cholera is breaking out here and there—when we have men so greedy that they squel over having to part with enough to pay their war taxes!

Notwithstanding the frequent shifting of the feminine waist line by designers of fashions, no young man has been heard to complain that he couldn't locate the right place for his arm, even in the dim religious light of the parlor Sunday evening.

Every community is cursed with a class of people who make it their business to attend to everybody's business but their own. Such people are the meanest specimens of depraved humanity which an all wise Providence permits to exist on this green earth.

In a recent address in Toronto, Mr. J. S. Woodworth, secretary of the Canadian Welfare League, said: "When once the farming population of this country and the great wage earning population of four cities can get together, we will then be able to do away with many of the special privileges which are now the curse of this country."

Bishop Taylor Smith, chaplain general of the British forces, has just returned from a visit to the front. He says that the chaplains are regarded by the men with the utmost respect and friendliness. There is no sneer by the soldiers at the front against the "sky pilot." Chaplains of all denominations and creeds do their duty bravely at the front, sharing the actual perils of the war when they are administering consolations of religion to the dying on the battle field.

When one reflects upon the ease with which men of ordinary business prudence can be swindled out of their hard earned money by a plausible scamp, it is scarcely surprising to us that the scamp flourishes as he, or she does. The slang proverb says that "a sucker is born every minute," but it seems that the birth rate must be more rapid than that, judging from the number of people who are duped every day and the number of sharpers who get a living by duping them.

The French government has ordered the commemoration of the heroic death on the battlefield, of Henry Collignon, a councillor of state. He was trying to bear a wounded soldier from the scene of a battle when a shell fragment killed him. The government orders that when the regimental roll is read, M. Collignon's name shall be called and the oldest sergeant is to answer "Dead on the field of honor." The idea is that the story shall live through retaining the name on the regimental roll.

Every Briton's Duty.

R. H. R. W. C. B., concludes an illustrative article on "Food Supplies in War Time," being one of a series of Oxford pamphlets, after pointing out that Great Britain might hold out a year if actually blockaded by saying, "Farmers, in my belief, will prove, in this crisis, not unworthy to be countrymen of those who are heroically defending British homes and hearts on the fields of Flanders. They will do their duty by working their utmost—often under grave difficulties—to maintain and, if possible, increase the produce of their farms, not because it is (as in fact it will be) profitable to do so, but because it is the desire, no less than the duty, of every Briton, each in his own sphere, to do his part to help his country in the time of her direct need." Is not every Canadian a Briton in heart and sympathy, if not by actual birth?

What Mothers Say of Baby's Own Tablets.

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she will use no other medicine. She quickly realizes the Tablets are an absolutely safe remedy and one that will give sure results. Concerning them Mrs. R. L. Wright, Pennabill, Sask., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my own three babies and think so much of them that I always keep them in the house." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Social Service.

Everyone will remember Mr. Bradford's lectures last winter on Social Services and Community Work. An effort is being made to put into practice some of the principles learned there. The College girls have been trying to get the girls at the Mission interested in forming a club. They have obtained permission to use one of the upstairs rooms. Through the generosity of friends in town the room has been partly furnished. A few rugs and racking chairs are yet needed. A social meeting was held last Friday evening and proved a success. It is hoped that it will be possible to have this room open every evening for recreational, social and educational gatherings.

The College girls wish to thank all those who have given their hearty support and they feel sure that their cooperation will help to make the venture a success. Friends who are interested may obtain further information from Miss Mildred Brown.

Sir George's Plea.

Extract from Sir George E. Foster's speech on the Budget.—Today Canada and the Empire are engaged in a colossal contest, the inner meaning and the possible consequences of which not one of us has an adequate realization. We know that in that contest Great Britain is fighting for her very life. You can hear the quick short pants of the contending forces and you can easily translate the breathless vigor of an empire and a series of nations who are fighting for their very lives. We are in the midst of that war. Our own friends, our own brothers, our own sons will be there. There is glory in the fighting line, but there is death on the fighting line as well. As we take up our papers from day to day and read that traction of what comes to us, there is forced upon us some small comprehension of the mighty struggle, of the blood and tears and tribulation through which final victory will be won. What I plead for in this House, in the country, everywhere, is that the best in the Dominion, Liberal as well as Tory, outside of race or creed or of political faith, may look upon the realities of this war, and may learn to value the comparative merits of the trivial and the great. These things I plead for. Let us all bend our backs to the burden, putting behind what is trivial, facing steadfastly the mighty issue, in which the proud and the highest and best of civilization that the world has seen developed is fighting for its life and continuance in the trench and under circumstances of difficulty and of peril.

Beautiful English Home Where Canadian Soldiers Will Convalesce.

Through the kind co-operation of Mr. Waldorf Astor, a Red Cross Hospital (called the Duchess of Connaught's Hospital) has been established at Clivedon (Mr Astor's country seat at Taplow, Buckinghamshire) for wounded Canadian soldiers. This institution received the first batch of patients last week, when 100 wounded soldiers, straight from the firing line, were accommodated with beds. Of these 99 belonged to the home forces. The other was Private Craig of the Princess Patricia Light Infantry.

The institution contains 500 beds, and is entirely officered by Canadian doctors and nurses. Its equipment cost several thousand pounds of which amount £4,000 were contributed by Major Leonard, of London, Ont. Other Canadian subscriptions were also received. Individual subscriptions of $50 will pay for the equipment of a single bed. The institution is charmingly situated in the grounds of Clivedon, and the patients, when convalescent, will be able to walk about these grounds and explore their many beauties. Clivedon is one of the most beautiful of the stately homes of England and enormous sums of money have been spent not only on the upkeep of the house itself but on the park in which it is situated.

Her Majesty's Thanks Sent to Canadian Workers.

MONTREAL, March 23.—Lady Williams-Taylor, president of Queen Mary's Needlework Guild in Canada, has received from the Hon. Lady Lawley, honorary secretary of the guild at London, England, an acknowledgment of the splendid co-operation that Canadian workers has given to this most commendable movement. The work is being very actively continued in Canada and it is hoped that the results in the next few months will even surpass the splendid support that has already been given. The acknowledgement is as follows: Queen Mary's Needlework Guild, Friary Court, St. James Palace, S. W., 18th February, 1915.

Hon. Lady Lawley, Hon. Secretary DEAR LADY WILLIAMS-TAYLOR.—The splendid contributions from the Canadian Queen Mary's Needlework Guild has just arrived and been packed, and I am desired by her majesty to convey to the workers of the branch her very high appreciation of their kindness in helping her guild in so practical a manner. A large number of things have been sent to the Canadian contingent and some of the beautiful dressing gowns and hospital things have been sent to her majesty's convalescent home at Cimiez. I mention this as I feel it may interest your workers to know where their things go. I hope you have received our weekly list, and will tell everybody in Canada how grateful we are for the splendid help they are giving us—our grand total for things received being now $67,319—and how greedy we still are for all warm comforts for our men. (Sgd.) ANNIE LAWLEY. [A second box has been sent by the Wolfville ladies, containing about eighty five articles for this worthy cause.]

Tuesday Evening, March 30, College Hall. "THE ROSE MAIDEN"

ARGUMENT.
The Queen of the Flower Fairies, weary of a life of unbroken calm physics of the newly returned Spring that he will bestow upon her also the gift of love that he bestows upon man. He wears her of the risk she runs, but finally yields to her entreaties by changing her while she sleeps into the form of a beautiful girl. Under the name of Roseblossom, she wanders through the world to find the love that she seeks, and meets with a girl who, having been betrayed and deserted by her lover, loses her senses and dies broken-hearted. But, undeterred from her search, Roseblossom becomes the wife of a forester, with whom she lives for a time in such perfect happiness that she cannot survive his death. The elves bewail the fate of their Queen, and curse love as fatal to peace and happiness.

The Solists for the Evening will be
MRS. MAUDE PIERCE ALLEN, Soprano
MISS ELEANOR P. SANDS, Contralto
MR. GEORGE ELIOT RABEY, Tenor
MR. GERALD McELHINNEY, Bass.

MR. RABEY who is so well and favorably known to a Wolfville Audience, "It has been well said that Mr. Rabey is one of the most reliable singers in the country. His work the last two years in New England has included engagements with most of the leading societies, including the Handel and Haydn Society in Boston and the Concord Musical Festival, Concord, N. H. A competent critic says, "His tenor is of beautiful quality, rarely sweet and of adequate range and finesse, arousing quite unusual interest and admiration. All of his work was markedly artistic."

"Mrs. Maude Allen is an American woman with a remarkable voice. It has rich coloring, a phenomenal range and is most sympathetic in quality."

OF MR. McELHINNEY'S work as Baritone Solist a critic says, "He sang with a feeling, clearness of voice and dramatic power that fully justified his reputation as one of our best singers."

MISS ELEANOR P. SANDS, of the Seminary Conservatory Staff, has won a deserved reputation as a most artistic singer. She is one of Mr. Wolfville's pupils and shows to a marked degree the fine quality of her training. She sings with great musical intelligence and always pleases by the remarkably artistic quality of her work.

Fire Company. A fire company composed of ten students has been formed at Acadia. This will be a part of the town equipment and under the direction of the chief, but the apparatus will be kept upon the hill and for special service among the buildings of the institutions. The apparatus consists of hose and reel and a small chemical engine. This apparatus is kept in the basement of Rhodes Hall.

Big Order Placed. Nathaniel Curry, President of the Canadian Car and Foundry Co., has returned from New York, having succeeded in placing an order from the Russian Government for two million shells, the value being about $32,000,000. This will mean that the shops at Montreal and Amherst will again run full time. A portion of the contract will be sublet to other firms in Canada and the United States.

HINTS TO KODAKERS, NO. 2

If light is a necessity in making Photographs, so is shade. Stand facing a white house, Sun behind you—no shade—no beauty. Shade in the right place makes Your picture "stand out." Light—just enough, gives life and "snap." Look for the lights and shadows.
These hints are not pure benevolence on our part. We develop a lot of Kodakers' films and it is to our advantage as well as theirs to have them turn out "good."
