-In an action for breach o premise the other day in England the defendant's counsel asked the into a positive agreement to marry you?" "Well, not exactly," she replied, "but he courted me a good deal, and told my sister he intended to marry into our family."

-" My dear fellow," said a critic, after examining a painting by his artist friend, "do you not see that you have pinned that angel's robe together with a gold brooch? Who ever saw an angel with a brooch?"
Artist, after a moment's reflection?
—"True, but who ever saw an angel without a brooch?" Critic silenced, but feeling that he had not stated his case properly.

-A more or less worthy Scotch ife was remonstrated with by her minister for her habit of beating her husband; she explained that her husband's conduct was not all that it ought to be. The minister, recommending kindness and forgiveness, enjoined her no more to use her fists and nails, but to "heap coals of fire upon his head."
"Weel, minister," replied the now enlightened wife, "since you say sae, I'll try the coals; but I may tell ye that twa or three kettles o' boiling water hae wrocht nae improvement."

—He was positive: "You say you heard both shots fired? asked an Austin lawyer who was cross-examining a witness in a murdof case. "Yes, sah, I heard bofe shots. Dey were fired simultaneously, sah." "Are you sure of it?" "Yes, sah; bofe ob 'em was fired simultaneously. I wasn't more dan forty feet off at de time." "But on the direct examination you swore the shots were fired one after another, and now you say that they were fired simultaneously?" "Jess what I said, sah.
