This is the crucial point in the whole affair. We are told this company has millions behind it. Now, if that is so why should it ask the Government for a guarantee on a trifle of $150,000 ? Is it in order that it may have the Government so placed that the Company will be able to influence legislation in its own favor? If as is not design this company is merely a wing of the great meat trust of Chicago, its object in desiring a guarantee of bonds is evidently intended to strengthen their hands in completing their monopoly. All rea sonable people in the Province will be glad to see our packing and other industries increased and extended in an independent business way, without Government favor or undue advantage over any genuine straightforward competition. This is the view that almost unanimously prevailed at the meeting of the Board of Trade. The leading business men and legislators who spoke, all favored in a legitmate way the encouragement of business in the company's lines; but with equal unanimity they disapproved of the Gov ernment guaranteeing the company' bonds. It certainly does not look like a sound transaction for the Govern ment to become partners in a concern capable of monopolizing any particular line of trade, and thus placing themselves in antagonism to the peo ple. ### Does Your Baking Powder Contain Alum?

Prof. Geo. F. Barker, M.D., University of Penn.: "All the constituents of alum remain (from alum baking powders) in the bread, and the alum itself is reproduced to all intents and purposes when the bread is dissolved by the gastric juice in the process of digestion. I regard the use of alum as highly injurious."

Dr. Alonzo Clark: "A substance (alum) which can derange the stomach should not be tolerated in baking powder."

Prof. W. G. Tucker, New York State Chemist: "I believe it (alum) to be decidedly injurious when used as a constituent of food articles."

Prof. S. W. Johnson, Yale College: "I regard their (alum and soluble alumina salts) introduction into baking powders as most dangerous to health."

In view of such testimony as this. every care must be exercised by the housewife to exclude the over and over condemned cheap, alum baking powders from the food.

Baking powders made from cream of tartar, which is highly refined grape acid, are promotive of health, and more efficient. No other kind should be used in leavening food. Royal Baking Powder is the highest example of a pure cream of tartar powder.
