Town and County News

"RECUSSITATE" is the way the St. Catharines Times spells it.
The Orangeville Cold Water Temple has presented Mr. B. Large with a purse of $12.

Rev. G. Seixsmith, pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist Church in Orangeville, died on Sunday last, in the 99th year of his age.

THE RUNAWAY ON FRIDAY NIGHT.—We are glad to learn that Mr. Henlock Young's horses, which ran away with the party returning from the social in Guelph Township, were found at Mr. Jackson's place in Paisley Block on Saturday morning, none the worse for their race.

THE SURPLUS.—A public meeting of the ratepayers of Mount Forest was held on Thursday to consider what disposition should be made of the appropriation of surplus due the municipality. After some discussion a resolution was carried advising the council to use the money in reducing the present indebtedness of the village.

A Reform Association has been formed in Orangeville. The following are the officers:—Thos. Jull, Esq., President; Messrs. John Green, Jesse Ketchum, Wm. Parsons, Joseph Pattullo, and S. H. McKibick, Vice-Presidents; Mr. J. S. Fead, Sec.-Treas.; Committee, Messrs. J. Lindsay, B. Fountain, Thos. McAdam, Hugh Haley, R. Irvine, Thos. Anderson, A. H. Crawford, F. Monro, F. G. Dunbar, J. Webster, J. W. Shaw, and C. B. Jackson.

MISSIONARY MEETING.—The annual missionary meeting of the Wesleyan Church, Guelph, will be held this evening, at half-past seven o'clock. Addresses will be delivered by the Rev. Thos. Crook, who has been laboring as a missionary for the past seven years among the Indians in British Columbia, and by the Rev. Mr. Messmore, for twelve years a missionary in India. A collection will be taken up in aid of the mission fund.

CONCERT AT MORRISTON.—The Victoria Fire Company held their annual concert, followed by a social dance, in the town hall, Morriston, on Friday last. The concert was a success, and the hall was filled. The Guelph Quadrille Band was in attendance. Music and recitations were given by Mr. McFarland, Mr. W. R. Langridge, Mr. Black, Mr. C. Cockburn, Mrs. E. S. Warne, Miss Leslie and others. The object of the concert was to raise funds for new hose for the company.

THE LATE THOS. C. CHISHOLM.—Mr. Charles E. Romain has received a telegram from New York informing him that the body of Mr. Thos. C. Chisholm, his son-in-law, of Chicago, formerly of Toronto, was found floating in the North River on Sunday. The circumstances connected with his disappearance in New York, and the suspicion that he had been the victim of foul play, will be fresh in the recollection of our readers, who understand Mr. Romain proceeds to-day to New York to bring the body of deceased home.

POLICE COURT.
(Before the Police Magistrate.)
Monday, March 2.
In the sidewalk obstruction cases, Mr. John A. Wood was fined $1 and costs; and Mr. Risk's case was dismissed with a caution, as the obstruction was not so pronounced an inconvenience as in the other case.

The Poultry Show.
Our Poultry Show opens to-morrow afternoon at six o'clock, and everything points to the probability of a successful show. The grill shed is now being prepared for the reception of the birds, and a large number of the coops are already in place. The arrangements for viewing the coops are excellent. Instead of the coops being piled on one another three and four tiers high, as at the central fair, there will only be two tiers of coops, placed on trestles at a convenient height for inspection; and the front of each coop is all wire, if we except one thin bar of wood running across the centre, so that there will be an unobstructed view of the feathered inmates. The coops are arranged in the centre of the hall in the form of one large hollow square, with the fronts of the coops outward, leaving a promenade some yards wide between the coop-fronts and the drill shed walls. Inside the square will be placed the empty packing-cases, the fuel, and all the cetera connected with the show. And the platform is to be used for the pigeon show.

In a splendid display may be expected. There are no less than 337 entries from various points, each for two or more birds; and the plumage will of course be in perfect condition. The recent show of the Quebec Poultry Association was reckoned a very good one, and the entries in our show are of a similar character. We believe, however, the largest ever held in the Province, and we hope to see a large attendance of visitors during the three days of its continuance.

Hon. A. Mackenzie is to take the chair at a lecture on Manitoba by Rev. Lachlan Taylor in Ottawa on Tuesday.

An Ottawa despatch to the Hamilton Times says that O'Donoghue has saved himself from the resentment of his constituents in that city by announcing himself a supporter of the Ontario Ministry. The people of Ottawa will sustain the Ontario Ministry irrespective of party.

The Bruce Herald states that Mrs. Managawa, well known around Maple Hill when she was Martha Ann Freedy, was burned to death with her husband and child in Michigan on the night of Jan. 2nd. She was a niece of Mrs. R. B. Clement.

Local and Other Items

The mail stage from Owen Sound on Tuesday ran away and upset, injuring the passengers on board more or less severely.

CURLING.—A match was played between Hamilton and Buffalo on Friday last. After an exciting contest Hamilton won by one shot.

A new post office has been opened in Keppel township—name Wolsley—location about half way between Oxenden and Kemble.

In the game lately played in North York, a DRAGON turned up trump. The Griss call this "big card," "right lower," but the Tories, true to their instincts, stick to the term "knave."—Grip.

SENIOUS ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday, a Mrs. Ellis, residing at Matlandville, was walking across the yard, and in passing over some ice, slipped and fell, breaking her leg near the hip. This will probably make her a cripple for the remainder of her days.—Goderich Star.

GOOD FRUIT YEAR.—Reports indicate that the fruit prospects are very flattering this year. Peach trees are in especially fine condition, and for the first time in years it is thought that the plum crop will not turn out a failure. Small fruits—berries, currants, etc.—all promise well.

THE END OF AN OUTLAW.—Moss Neck Depot, Robeson County, N. C., Feb. 23.—Stephen Lowery, the last and probably the worst of the Carolina Swamp Angels, who rioted in blood and held such a high carnival of crime in North Carolina for so many years, was killed at about half past four o'clock this morning in the Scuffletown region by three young white men, all farmers, named David Holcomb, Thomas Dutton, and McNeill Patterson. The three young men above mentioned had been out searching for the outlaw for several weeks past.

The people of Australia are just now very prosperous. One colonial treasurer boasts of a credit balance of nearly ten million dollars, besides the collections of the current month. Last year's revenue shows a net increase of $519,000 over the receipts for 1873. The grain harvest is so plentiful in all the Australian colonies that England will have to become the granary of a large portion of it. The wool-growers also boast of a most prosperous season.

PASS HIM ROUND.—On the 15th August last, says the Peterborough Review, a person calling himself John Round, and representing himself as a gardener, was married in due form to a respectable young girl belonging to the township of South Monaghan. Said John Round had at the time of the marriage a wife living in England, and was by her the father of several children, all of whom he deserted. Bold claims and plausible evasions, with which he met the charge at first, were followed, after a few days, by his flight from the neighborhood, and efforts to arrest him have proved unavailing.

NEW POTATOES.—On Friday evening we were shown some new potatoes grown this year by Mr. McDougall, of Macnab street, which were of a size and quality fit to fairly astonish any horticulturist in this city. We all know the rivalry existing between the gardeners to see who will have the earliest potatoes in the market, but we think Mr. McD. has got ahead of everybody this year. These potatoes were well formed and solid, presenting a very creditable appearance for this season of the year. We might add that they were raised in-doors and in a large flower pot. Who beats this?—Hamilton Times.

False Report.
It appears from a letter in the Huron Expositor that the report in the Lucknow Sentinel of the elopement of Eliza Reid is a falsehood. Her sister Sarah Reid, who writes the letter, states that Eliza "came home the evening of the same day she left Lucknow, and is at home at the present time, sick with erysipelas. She left Lucknow in company with a man and his wife who were coming to Goderich, and she walked the rest of the way home. She was sick a week at Lucknow and wanted to come home, but the unfeeling creatures she lived with would not let her come home, but wanted her to work, sick or well. The girl was not able to work, and that was the cause of her leaving in such a suspicious way."—The Sentinel appears to have been a little too watchful this time. We shall see what explanation it has to offer.

The question of a Reformed Episcopal Church is still agitating the churchmen of Ottawa. The evening papers to-day both publish in full a letter from the Rev. James A. Lafane, Rector of St. Matthew's Church, Wheeling, West Virginia, to Bishop Johns, resigning the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

A report is current in Ottawa that a portion, if not all, the Government business is to be transferred from the Bank of Montreal to the Bank of Commerce, which is about to open a branch in that city.

The coal famine in England is now almost at an end, as prices are rapidly attaining their normal level. Sixteen shillings per ton may be mentioned as the price of good useful coal, away from the mining districts.

CAUTION TO BALD-HEADED MEN.—Josh Billings has an entirely bald head; and it is related of him that once, when he was at the Zoological Gardens in Paris, the day being warm, he lay down upon one of the benches and went to sleep. After a while he was awakened by a sense of suffocation, and when he opened his eyes he found that something covered his face. He began to struggle to release himself, and the next moment a gigantic ostrich leaped up and began to prance down the path. The ostrich had observed the top of Josh's bald head, and mistaking it for one of its eggs, it had begun to sit upon it for the purpose of hatching.

The Tichborne Case.
A New Trial Wanted.
More New York Strikes.
Murder with a Flat-Iron.
Fire and Irregularity.

New York, April 1.—George Lee, a farmer of Wilton, near Saratoga Springs, was killed last night by James H. Standish during a family quarrel. The latter was accused by Lee of insulting one of the women of his family, when he seized a flat-iron and crushed Lee's skull.

St. Louis, April 2.—The High School building at Lebanon, Illinois, was burned on Saturday. Loss about 30,000 dollars.

New York, April 2.—Tribune special from Washington says that many irregularities connected with the expenditure of money have been called to the attention of the members of the committee on district investigation.

The journeymen varnishers and polishers organized last night preparatory to demanding an increase of wages from 15 to 18 dollars per week. There are some four thousand of them.

London, Feb. 23.—The jury in the Tichborne case, after being out a short time, brought in a verdict of guilty of all the charges, and the Claimant was sentenced to fourteen years' penal servitude. There is great excitement over the verdict. After it was announced, the Claimant expressed a desire to address the Court, but the Lord Chief Justice refused permission. He maintained his usual composure when the sentence was pronounced. He shook hands with his counsel, and was then taken from the Court-room by a seldom-used exit, placed in a private carriage, and rapidly driven to Newgate, much to the disappointment of an immense, though orderly, crowd which gathered outside to see him pass.

It is asserted that the counsel for the Claimant will move for a new trial, on the ground that the jury were misled by the Lord Chief Justice.

Looking After the Voters' Lists.
We are glad to see that the press throughout the country is becoming thoroughly alive to the importance of having correct Voters' Lists, and are urging upon the people to take steps for securing these. We have already given several extracts from Reform papers on the subject, and are pleased to find that some of the Conservative journals are also taking up the matter. The following sensible remarks are from the Galt Reporter:—

It is certainly high time that some steps were taken in this matter. It is perhaps unfair to say that names are now left off the list of voters intention, but the simple fact of its being done time and again renders such a charge anything but unlikely. And, to put it in the mildest language, it is undeniable that great carelessness has always been shown in this matter by those having charge of the preparation of the list of voters throughout the country. They are found to be erroneous, and it is therefore certainly high time that some system should be adopted whereby publicity can be given to the list of voters as made out, with a provision that any complaints as to their incorrectness may be rectified within a certain time, before the list of voters is printed.

The people would thus themselves become responsible for the correctness of the lists of voters. As it is at present, no one has any knowledge of the matter except the compilers of the lists, and the knowledge that certain names are printed only becomes known when the votes are tendered at the polls. It is a slur on our progressiveness that such a system should have been borne with as long as it has been; and we trust that some of the amendments to our election laws that are at present mooted will contain a provision that will render errors in our voters' lists almost an impossibility. This should be done; and it is therefore certainly high time that some system should be adopted whereby publicity can be given to the list of voters as made out, with a provision that any complaints as to their incorrectness may be rectified within a certain time, before the list of voters is printed.

The greatest excitement prevailed in London and Stratroy, as the majority of the passengers on the train belonged to or were well known in both places.

A wrecking train was sent out at once to clear the track of the ruins, and Dr. Moore, the Company's physician, accompanied it to give assistance to the sufferers. Mr. McCann, Mr. Saxon, Mr. Blossing, Rev. Mr. Collamore, Mr. and Mrs. Zavitz, Mrs. Freeman, and Mrs. Crawford, and Miss Spiers were brought back to London. Drs. Payne and Strathroy were in attendance on the arrival of the train. Mr. Orton, Mr. Braithwick, Mr. McKellar, and Mr. Hays were too badly burned to bear removal. They were left in a hotel at Komoka. Miss Lawrence and the remainder of the injured went on to their homes. A more deplorable disaster or one more extraordinary in its character, never occurred in the history of the Great Western.

A coroner's inquest was convened on Sunday, and adjourned.

FURTHER DETAILS.
Mr. McKellar was, owing to a broken leg, incapable of active exertion, and from a desire to avoid the crowding at the rear door allowed the remaining passengers to pass him; at the same time endeavoring to quell the excitement that existed. Portions of his body were afterwards found lying inside the rear door. From their position it is surmised that he survived a few minutes longer than Miss Purvis, who was recognized from her having fallen upon her. W. H. Murray, dry goods merchant, Stratroy, was sitting about the centre of the car, on the south side, and when he perceived the progress of the flames, broke the window to let in the air. After remaining with his head out for a moment, retreat became impossible, and he moved his body outside, placing his overcoat around his right arm to prevent his hand being burned. As the fire gained, the coat took fire, and he let himself fall. Mr. Archibald Carruthers, glove maker, Stratroy, with Miss Claffin and another lady, all made for the rear platform on the first appearance of fire, and remained there till the train was brought to a stand. While in this position several parties jumped over their heads, and they were several times nearly pushed off. Mrs. Samuel Crawford, Globe Foundry, London, with a lady friend, Miss Spiers, escaped through the windows with their clothes partially burned. Mary Brown, recently living in Stratroy, but now of Petrolia, jumped from

AWFUL RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

A CAR IN FLAMES.
TEN LIVES LOST

A terrible accident occurred to the Barnia express on the Great Western Railway which left London on Saturday evening about 6.30. About seven miles west of the city, and within about three miles from Komoka, a fire broke out in the water-closet in the forward end of the first-class car at the rear of the train, caused by a lamp in the water-closet of the car falling on the floor. Fanned by the rapid motion of the train, which was running at a high rate of speed, the flames spread with great rapidity, driving the passengers, panic-stricken and in alarm, to the rear end of the car. The bell rope was not attached to the engine, and consequently there was no way of stopping the train. It was running at the rate of about thirty miles an hour, and ran about three miles burning. The car was destroyed in about six minutes, burning like tinder. Meantime men and women were leaping from the rear end of the car, preferring to risk death so rather than to face it in the more dreadful way that threatened them. For two miles or more along the track, maimed and mutilated passengers were lying where they jumped, many of them badly injured others slightly. Some few miraculously escaped unhurt. When the train was brought to a stand, it was found that a number of persons had been burned to death, their blackened calms remaining visible in the burning ruins. The car was consumed to the trucks. The casualties, so far as ascertained, are numerous—ten fatal, and fully twenty in various stages of injury. A correct list is scarcely ascertainable, as the dead are charred beyond recognition, and it is impossible to separate the remains so as to tell precisely how many actually suffered death. The following from the London correspondent of the Globe is as correct as possible.

DEAD.
Miss Purvis, Petrolia.
Frank Barnham and child, Petrolia.
Mr. McKellar, High School teacher, Stratroy.
Miss Scartiff, an Indian girl, and her mother.
Annie Dunn.

WOUNDED.
Mrs. S. Crawford, wife of Mr. Crawford of Crawford & Mahan, London, serious injury to spine, and several contusions.
Miss Spiers, severely burned about the head.

Mr. John Hay, of Brayley & Hay, Toronto, burned badly about the head, and otherwise injured.
Dr. Smith, head injured.
W. H. Murray, Stratroy, hands burned and slight injuries.
Mr. Geo. Moncrieff, Petrolia, slightly injured.
Mr. Deerness, Stratroy, slightly injured.
Mr. Miller, Stratroy, leg and shoulder hurt.

Mr. Blessing, Stratroy, both legs badly burned.
Mr. Orton, London, badly burned, and in a dangerous condition.
Neil McGugan, dangerously out about the head, and injuries to limb and body.
Mr. Robinson, Watford, also cut severely about the head, and suffering from injuries to limbs and body; in dangerous condition.
Rev. Mr. Collamore, London, legs and body badly bruised, but, it is thought, no bones broken.

A lady named Freeman, shoulder-blade dislocated, arms injured, severe contusions on head and face.
Mrs. Zavitz, Lobo, shoulder-blade dislocated, and other injuries.
Rev. Mr. Hooper, Woodstock, slightly injured.
Miss Lawrence, daughter of Dr. Lawrence, Paris, shoulder and arm seriously injured, and burned about the neck.
Mrs. Ryan, London, severely injured.
Mr. Zavitz, Lobo, hand burned, slight contusions.
Mr. Munro, slightly injured.
Mr. A. McKellar, severely injured.
Mr. Braithwick, London, very severely injured.

The greatest excitement prevailed in London and Stratroy, as the majority of the passengers on the train belonged to or were well known in both places.
