LATE SPORTING.

HOCKEY. THE KEYSTONE-QUEEN'S GAME.

Owing to the ban upon them, Peel and Pittsburg, in their game against Queen's The Pittsburg Dispatch thus describes the game:
The Queen's College hockey players, from Canada, who some years ago beat Yale, and since that time have been traveling on their shape, will limp back into Canada today sadder and wiser. Last night, after the battle, they gathered around Manager Conant at Duquesne Garden, and made him promise that he would have a few books on backey that he would buy a few books on hockey and send them up to Canada. They have come to the conclusion that they know nothing about hockey, and they go home filled with bitterness toward the man who told them they knew something

The Canuck bunch were not sure they were alive last night when the Keystones got through. They certainly never had a chance for the game. Five thousand people crowded into the Garden and cheered the Keystones as they play ed hockey all around and over the pride of Canada. Three to none was the final Sixsmith shot the first goal for the Keystones about the middle of the first half. There was a lively scrimmage in front of Queen's net, and it looked for a minute as if someone would be hurt. This ended the scoring in the first half. There was a time, however, when it looked as though Queen's would score. They were given the puck on a foul within five feet of Keystone's goal, but good work kept it away.

In the second half Morrison shot goal soon after the call of time. He got away from the field and made a nice run, shooting safe. Sixsmith shot the third and last goal but a few minutes before There was a time, however, when and last goal but a few minutes before the end of the game. Lineup:

The council laid over, also, the by-law for the construction of a tar macadam pavement on Talbot street. A bylaw to construct a tile sewer in parts of Rectory and King streets was given its first reading, and another to construct a cement walk on west side of Adelaide street, from King to York, The McClary and White assessment bylaws were given their third reading, and finally passed.

RULES UNHEEDED. During the passing of bylaws mo tions followed each other so rapidly and with such little regard for order, that the city clerk protested frequently, and Ald. McMechan said that "the business was being conducted in a very sloppy manner."
"Surely," he said, "it can be done in a more business-like manner.' The mayor requested the aldermen to assist him-being unused to the coun-

PORT STANLEY BOARD. It was moved that the Port Stanley Railway Board comprise Ald. Abram, Douglass, Dreaney, Gerry, Jolly, Cooper, Winnett, Messrs. C. B. Hunt and

John Pritchard. BOARD OF HEALTH. Chairman Dr. Cl. T. Campbell, of the board of health, was unanimously reelected. Mr. Robert Carrothers was also elected. Ald. Gerry moved that Ald. Stevely's name be substituted for Mr. Carrothers', but Ald. Stevely asked that his name be not considered, "as things had been settled, anyway."

PUBLIC LIBRARY BOARD. The city council's appointee to the board of the Public Library is Mr. Joseph Judd, who won in competition with Mr. Henry Macklin, whose name was submitted by Ald. McMechan.

WESTERN FAIR BOARD. The city's representatives on the Western Fair board will be Ald. Abram, Campbell, Cooper, Gerry, and Stevely.

Ald. Cooper first moved that Ald. Abram, Campbell, McMechan, Cooper, Gerry and Winnett be the board. This was one too many, so he struck off Ald. McMechan. Ald. Stevely asked if Ald. Cooper was to be on every committee and every board, while other aldermen were to be on none at all. He moved that his name be substituted for that of Ald. Cooper. "You got a fair show last year," he said to Ald. Cooper.

Ald.Cooper—Yes, I know what you did last year. I didn't get what I wanted.
"It doesn't matter," Ald. Stevely said,
"a little fair play doesn't hurt." Ald. Winnett volunteered to retire in Ald. Stevely's favor, and the slate as SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

As successors to Messrs. Heath and Hamilton Collegiate Institute trus-Mrs. Lawrence Dampier, wife of the tees, the following were mentioned: Messrs. Peter Birtwistle, John Mcmanager of the Bank of Commerce at Lean, Alfred Wilkins and Dr. Ziegler. 8, 9; McLean, 7, 7; Wilkins, 5, 6; Zingler, 4; thus placing Birtwistle and Mc-Lean on the board. COURT OF REVISION.

Mr. John Forrestal was appointed a nember of the court of revision.

ANOTHER FOR COOPER. Ald. Campbell and Ald. Cooper were ppointed to represent the council at the Children's Aid Society, Ald, Greenlees was first named, but as a joke upon Ald. Cooper, he suggested that as Ald. Cooper appeared anxious to be on all the committees and boards, he be placed also on this one.

Ald. Cooper protested that he would not have it, but the aldermen, irrespective of party, refused to accept his refusal of the proffered honor, and laughingly voted him to the position. Again he protested, but unavailingly, since the vote had passed. RECEPTION AND MANUFACTUR-ERS' COMMITTEE.

No provision seemingly had been made for this committee; so when all other business was finished, Ald.Campbell asked "if the powers that be" in tended to appoint such a communee. "I don't think that's very nice, now," said Ald. Cooper. "You shouldn't have given yourself

THE INMATES OF THE HAREM

Dominion Ministers Will Meet Various Types of Beauty and Character

> Not Sit at Table With Her Husband.

[New York Tribune.] "The fact that all Turkish women must dress alike in the streets gives rise to the impression of a sameness of character that does not in the least exist among them," says Mary Mills Patrick, president of the American College for Girls in Constantinople. "A superficial observer who meets these veiled figures in public places, shroudkind of a life these figures really lead, without any clew to the solution of the problem. Yet life in Turkish society is as real and varied as in America, and often far more dramatic.

"There are decided types among Turkish women. There is the butterfly who lives for pleasure; the domestic woman, and even the strong-mindwoman, and, in addition to these, a class exists not found in America. the women who belong to court society.

"The butterfly is often a Christian woman, and was perhaps brought to Constantinople to be sold to the high-est bidder, and throughout all her childhood was taught to look forward to a possible life at the capital, to be made gay and bright, with plenty of money and flirtation and social suc-cess. She has, perhaps, the bright blue eyes and golden hair that are so rare among the Turks to give her the place of eminence that she desires. Because of her beauty her husband showers her with presents and fills her life with pleasure. Her eyelashes and eyebrows are painted, but not very noticeably, and diamonds and other beautiful stones flash from her hands, her wrists, her neck and her hair. The dress which she wears under her street robe is from Paris, and her shoes are low, even in winter, with pointed toes and very high heels.

NOT MUCH HOUSEKEEPING. "The domestic Turkish woman presents a great contract to the brilliant creature that we have just described. She is rather large and stolid-looking, careless as to her dress, and of a simple and amiable character. She has a very easy life cofpared with that of her American sisters. There is not much housekeeping in a Turkish house, and what there is is done by slaves and servants, who consider themselves permanent members of the family and realize what is expected of them. Rooms furnished with rugs and divans are comparatively easy to keep in order. There is a chef in the kitchen, who sends his best efforts to ments, a place seldom visited by the women of the household. Their own simple food is served to them at irregular intervals, when they feel hungry. There is perhaps a French governess to teach the children, who does and she dines at the master's table, where the food is served more to her the women, which is entirely separate the dining room in the men's apart-from the other half of the establishment. "The domestic Turkish woman does not look after the house particularly, nor have much care of the children. When things go wrong she is not held responsible, but the lord of the household calls up the servant or slave in charge of that department of work of any consequence in Montreal came and threatens him with unknown evils if he does not mend his ways. The lady of the house does not necessarily know how to sew or even to read and write, although that degree of ignorance is now quite rare in large cities. She spends her time in smoking, drinking coffee, and overlooking the nurses who have the care of the children.

THE EDUCATED MOHAMMEDAN

WOMEN. "Let us now turn to that product of modern progress, the educated Mohammedan woman She may be found here and there, perhaps in the harems of princes, or of pashas, or even some-times in the middle classes of society, although she is not commonly found sioners will conduct a formal investi- anywhere as yet. She reads English. French and German readily, with a good pronunciation, having the aptitude for languages usually found with Turkish women. She knows all about American life. She knows that there are four states in America where women vote, and often wonders when there will be any voting in Turkey, either for men or women. She reads the daily papers and has decided opinions in regard to all political affairs. The advanced Moslem woman has a During the past week the Canadian private room, instead of living in the Pacific Railway has moved 1,400 cars of mome with the other women, and in of western wheat to Fort William, and this room are found some unusual articles for a Turkish house, namely a writing desk, some bookshelves, upon which stand many of the new books of the day, and on the walls hang some really fine engravings.

"One Mohammedan woman has even published several books herself, and is at present writing a series of articles for one of the daily papers, which are of so progressive a nature that the censor of the press has obliged her to cut out about half of what she has written. She longs to travel, but that is not yet allowed to a Turkish wo-man, at least beyond the bounds of her own land. She has been to Egypt and Syria, but that does not satisfy her, and she even dreams of going to Paris and Berlin to work in the libraries there. She scorns the frivolities of ordinary society, and contemplates forming a club, where kindred spirits may discuss congenial subjects, but that has not yet been possible. Her influence in the press is already felt, and one may foresee that she will form one of the elements in
