CHILD IS FOUND IN REGGIO

Little Boy Rescued After Being Prisoned Twenty Days

EARTH SHOCKS CONTINUE

Number of Killed in Messina Now Estimated at Nine Thousand

Reggio, Jan. 16.—Another rescue has taken place, from the discovery of a five-year-old boy after having been imprisoned in the ruins of his house. The boy is the son of a woman who had been seen in the ruins of his house not even search for the woman passing the wrecked few days after the earthquake. She heard a person cry. It was a woman, and the woman sister went to Naples.

Returning to this place after a wonderful escape, she attracted the attention of Col. Corradi, in charge of a relief party, to her house, which was little more than a heap of stones and dust. The soldiers examined the wreckage and found a number of times. It was a woman, and the woman sister went to Naples.

SHOCKS CONTINUE

Messina, Jan. 16.—Earthquake continues here, but the damage is slight, and has done no further damage. Seven babies were badly injured, which event hastened the return of the city to the archbishop of Messina on the day of the earthquake. The United States battleship Illinois left here for Malta.

An official estimate of the Messina as a result of the earthquake on December 28, made by the United States Vice-Consul at Messina, estimates the number at 90,000. The work of getting the Messina at the time of the earthquake is extremely difficult, as the doubly ten of thousands of ruins and other buildings have scattered themselves all over the peninsula. Still in Messina are many thousands of outcasts, and it has been to take any census.
