U. N. R. FOOTBALL TEAM AT WORK

Fredericton, Sept. 18.—Capt. Jewett, of the University of N. B. football team, and Jack Astor, who was the coach in 1921, last thirty-five rugby players set for an initial workout this afternoon. The regrass field was a great improvement and looks sufficient to stand up under practice and matches. Billy Lonsbury of the back division, was not out today, but will be later. Slipp is not likely to be with the red and black. The rest of 1921 backs were on hand. Five of the forward were also out. There also was new material including Fraser, of St. John High and Gligson, or Rothney Collegiate, who are trying out for back field positions. The prospects of the 1922 team are considered good. The local college will do its utmost to hold the Clark trophy, won last season, and if sent against the winners of the eastern section, will try to do better than in 1921.

In 1909 Fred Cameron set the record when he did 5 miles in 26 minutes and one and 1-5 seconds. Mooney, of the Halifax Crescents won the quarter mile event in 65 seconds.

Pancho Villa is flyweight champion of the United States having taken the title at New York the other night from Johnny Buff of Jersey City. It was Villa's fight from the first. He was always active, always punching for an opening instead of waiting for a chance as Buff did. His terrific body blows with both hands sapped the American champion in the early rounds and his crushing left hook and jab to the head in the latter rounds brought him the victory.

When Father comes home from the Golf course smiling like one of Ringling Brothers pet hyenas you can bet that he has slipped in a couple of strokes when no one was looking, if he raises the cat's paw two miles you can bet he got away with more than that. Golf is a great game. It improves the arithmetic wonderfully. Half of 8 is three if you forget to put down the left half of the numeral.

Bill Brennan, of Chicago and Al Benedict of New York, have been matched to box on rounds to a decision in Toronto on Friday night, Sept. 22. On the same card, Jack Sharkey, conqueror of Jimmy Wilks, clashes with Curley Wiltour, Canadian featherweight champion.

Cold weather at New York last night caused the postponement of a twelve-round contest between Pal Moran, of New Orleans, and Clonie Tait, of Canada, lightweights, in the open air arena at the New York Velodrome.

On Thursday afternoon last at Hillbop the Academics of the Catholic inter-church league were defeated by the Hillbop team 7-3. The Hillbop moundsman had 19 strikeouts.

Jack McKenna, North Sydney amateur welterweight champion of Nova Scotia, successfully defended his title in a 3-round match last Friday night at Halifax with Arthur O'Grady. McKenna scored two knock-downs in the third round.

E. F. "Pop" Geers at Louisville yesterday, had added another trophy to his collection, but in acquiring it the 71 year old redman broke a record of forty-seven years standing on the turf. He was made the recipient of a silver loving cup.

The date for the lightweight boxing championship bout between Benny Leonard, titleholder, and Charley White, Chicago challenger, has been advanced from October 4 to October 12, as it is not to conflict with the world's series.

Ralph McCready, Sackville, has been elected captain of the Provincial Normal School football team for the 1922 season. Eldon Daggett, a former player with the 1921 team, has been appointed manager of the P. N. S. team.

Wanted to Be a Parson. "And what, dear little boy," asked the minister, "do you intend to be when you grow up?"

"A farmer, sir."

"Very good indeed! To supply natural food—most good."

"And you?" turning to the second.

"Please, sir, a schoolmaster."

"Even better! Filling the mind of the rising generation with mental food—yes, even better."

"And you?" turning to the third.

"A preacher, sir."

"The best of all, my dear little boy, for filling the mind or body. And what bids you to become a minister?"

"We always have chicken for dinner when you come, sir," replied the boy.

The subway train was swaying from side to side as a passenger who hadn't seen a strap to hand to was suffering as a consequence.

Three times he landed in the lap of a stout matron, who finally lost her temper and inquired:

"Here, what are you doing? What do you call yourself?"

"Well," came the smiling reply, "I think I must now describe myself as a lap-lander."

The joke appealed to the matron, who not only forgave him but decided to retell the humor. She tried it first on her husband. "Yes, dear," she said, "three times he landed on my lap, and when I asked him what he was he said an Eskimo."

Absent-Minded. Rogers was walking with an absent-minded friend.

"Yesterday," he said, "Mrs. Fulson half recognized me. She asked me if my name was Rogers."

"And was it?" asked his friend.

Not His Honor. A well known judge fell down a flight of stairs recording his passage by a bump on every step until he reached the bottom. A servant ran to his aid and said:

"I hope your honor is not hurt."

"No," said the judge, sternly, "my honor is not hurt, but my head is."

Not Sure Himself. Mrs. De Fashion (at a children's party) "Maria!"

Nurse Girl—"Yes, ma'am."

Mrs. De Fashion—"It's time for us to go home. Which of these children is mine?"

A Good One. Seven years ago an Iowa farmer hung his vest on a fence in the barnyard. A calf chewed up a pocket of the garment in which was a gold watch.

Last week the animal, a staid old milch cow, was butchered for beef and the timepiece was found in its possession between the lungs of the cow that the respiration—the closing and filling of the lungs—kept the watch-winder wound up, and the watch had lost but four minutes in seven years.

His Version. Elith Root said at a dinner in New York:

"In the distant days when I was in general practice I often noticed how a railway accident brought out everybody's greed."

"I pleaded once for a chap who had been dreadfully injured in a collision. This poor fellow, unconsciously manful, was rushed to the nearest hospital, and there all kinds of operations had to be performed on him."

"When the operations were over and the patient was lying in bed, I said to him: 'Where am I?'"

"You are in a hospital, my poor fellow," the surgeon said. "You have been badly injured in a railway accident, but you're going to recover."

"A hard glint came into the victim's eye."

"Going to recover how much, doc?" he gasped, and faintly away.

MR. FORD'S POLICY.

The same influence which was regarded as the decisive factor in the adoption of prohibition in such a large part of this continent is likely to make itself felt in the enforcement of the prohibitory laws. Prohibition was advocated for many years as a moral reform without being adopted. It was only when the economic arguments in favor of that policy became overwhelming that it gained ground so rapidly. In war times, when it was realized that everything which interfered with the case of winning the war must be brushed aside, the liquor problem was viewed from the standpoint of national efficiency, and it was decided in most of the provinces of Canada and in the United States that the war must be eliminated. The war brought the matter to a head, but the decision in favor of prohibition probably would not have been arrived at, even then, for the fact that the peace-time demand for efficiency already had heralded the doom of the saloon.

The saloon has been abolished on the greater part of the continent, but its place has been taken by the ubiquitous "bootlegger" to such an extent that excessive drinking again has become a problem which must be reckoned with in business and industrial circles. How business and industry will cope with the problem may be indicated by the policy announced by Mr. Henry Ford. When he has ventured far outside the limits of his own business, Mr. Ford has shown that his judgment in public affairs is by no means infallible, but no one can dispute his success in building up and operating a tremendous industry nor his ability to shape business policies which others have been glad to adopt. As a business man and a manufacturer, Mr. Ford has decided that the prohibition law must be enforced in the interests of his business, and he has indicated upon himself the duty of enforcing it, in so far as it applies to his thousands of employees. The order has gone forth that in future no one who is known to violate the prohibition law may remain in his employ. From now on it will cost a Ford employee his job if he is found to have the odor of intoxicants on his breath or to have illegal beverages on his person or even in his home. "So far as our organization is concerned," says Mr. Ford of the eighteenth amendment, "it is going to be enforced to the letter."

Liquor and business never did mix successfully, and the attempt to mix business with liquor of the "bootleg" variety has proved even a more disastrous experiment. It is probable that other employers, in self-protection, will find themselves compelled to give active support to the enforcement of the prohibitory laws.

THE MAGIC OF PRINTING. When Wendell Phillips, the abolition agitator, started to speak on one occasion a crowd of opponent thought they could drown his voice in their noise. But Phillips lowered it, so that only the newspaper reporters, close by could hear him. He kept right on talking to them as though nothing had happened. Naturally this disconcerted his enemies and their noise subsided. Then he said: "You think you can throttle my thoughts. If this crowd would be allowed to hear me, it would be best mean only a audience of several hundred people."

In talking to these reporters, who will print my speech, I am reaching thousands and thousands of people throughout the country. Here is a lesson the open-minded business man can apply to his own sales problem. He, too, can reach thousands and thousands of prospective buyers, can put his message before his employees and his customers, before anyone whose interest means an advantage to him. That is the magic of printing.
