According to Principal Grant-The People Themselves to Blame-Paulshed for our Folly-A Sermon at St. Andrew's. Rev. Principal Grant preached at St. Andrew's church Sunday.

Amos iii., 6: "Shall a trumpet be blown in the city and the people not be afraid? Shall there be evil in a city, and the Lord hath not done it?" After an exposition of the text, he said : Were these questions written for the Israelites of the eighth century before of division representing issues as dead as those of Rehoboam and Jeroboam, and then the one thought in both camps must be; What man is likely to win. For often that means what man is most colorless, most free from having given offence to any class or section, or most likely to be called the prince of the same of the offence to any class or section, or most likely to appeal successfully to the passions and prejudice of the sufficient number required. The marvel is that the results are as good as we know them to be. Then, when the representatives assemble in parliament, instead of giving themselves unitedly to doing the work of the country, and electing as the head of each department the men among them of most honor and most experience in the business of that department, and requiring him to be directly responsible to the house, they divide into two hostile camps and the great sine of divided into two hostile camps and the great sine dallars. The marvel is camps and the great sine dallars are set of the men and provide the head just opened another lodge to be called the prince of wheth a pened another lodge to be called the prince of the called the prince of water members. The secretary read a communication from the Prince of Wales in matters canine last year. Up to that date no show of equal size or approaching merit had been held on the continent outside of New York. In some breeds we surpassed even that famous fixture. As one American paper had it: "To Toronto belongs the honor of an exhibition of surpassed even that famous fixture. As one American paper had it: "To Toronto belongs the honor of an exhibition of surpassed even that famous fixture. As one American paper had it: "To Toronto belongs the honor of an exhibition of the officers of Excelsion to ascertain full particulars of his death and expenses, so they could forward money payable to him for experience in the business of that department. The secretary read a date no show of equal size or approaching merit had been held on the continent outside for N ment, and requiring him to be directly responsible to the house, they divide into two hostile camps, and the great aim of each side must then be to baffle, defeat, or trip up the other. Men have only a certain amount of strength, no matter what the work may be at which they are engaged, and if they are obliged to spend it on the party, it cannot be given to the country. By party system, I mean that state of things when the party becomes an end. When party means cranization or the When party means organization or the means to an end, it is right; when it is means to an end, it is right; when it is made an end in itself, it is wrong. According to our system, and the prophets of the system tell us that there is no other possible, the claims of party must be absolute, consequently, the agents that any government selects must be not the best men in the country, not away the heat men in the narty, but the even the best men in the party, but the men who have been most serviceable to the party. They have been the parties worked and must be paid their wages, and the wages when they cannot be paid cut of private collections, levies on the secret service funds have to be paid by appointments to the civil, military, Indian, educa-tional and other service. The very judiciary and the senate have, as a matter of necessity, been shown in as a last edition to this bribery fund that is at the disposal of every government as a means of securing itself and baffling all opposition. Whose is the fault of this state of things? Clearly the fault is ours. That disposal of every government as a means of securing itself and baffling all opposition. Whose is the fault of this state of things? Clearly the fault is ours. That the great matters of interest of party are supreme is too often because we think of how we ourselves may be affected. Our selfishness is at the root of the whole trouble. How can any country ever become anything in that way? What does the word of God say to us at this time? This—you as a people and suffer—you shall suffer in your pockets, in the loss of those who are of God say to us at this time? This—you as a people are to blame; therefore you as a people shall suffer—you shall suffer in your pockets, in the loss of those who are near and dear to you, in national credit, in the bitter animosities and memories that are certain to survive the contest.

Put aside than your salishness your

that are certain to survive the contest.

Put aside, then, your selfishness, your materialistic views, your party idols; ever regard the franchise as a trust to be administered by you on the interest of the country. Be independent of party, be patriots, be willing to leave work and suffer for the general good, else a worse thing shall surely come upon you. One cheering indication, that in spite of our general sin, the head of the people is still comparatively sound, is indicated by the responses of our volunteers to the call for responses of our volunteers to the call for men to go to the front. To put down insurrection is the duty of the hour and the action of our volunteers is just what we would expect. The soldier's uniform is the symbol of a many allegispace to duty with the think the soldier's allegispace to duty. man's allegiance to duty; even in the battle a man true to his uniform ought to be the noblest kind of man. Every soldier should have the spirit of that hero, who freely gave his life again and again for the despised Chinese, the degraded South African, the enslaved Soudanese, was in his soldier's uniform the grandest missionary of the nineteenth century and which the state of the second second

The World took a ramble among the Grand Trunk employees yesterday, and found that while there was no apparent disposition on the part of the workmer here to strike, there was a tendency to sympathise with the strikers at Montreal. THE CENUINE PIANO. Manufactured by Rainer & Co., Guelph, Ont.
The undersigned respectfully announce that on the 9th day of April, 1884, Joseph F. Rainer dissolved partnership with Frank Sweetnam and John Hazelton, as piano manufacturers, and that said Joseph F. Rainer, with his son, will continue to manufacture the original cross-scale Pianos, of which the said Joseph F. Rainer is the sole inventor.

Since the above dissolution, Mr. Rainer, sr., has greatly improved the small Cross-scale Piano by adding one string more to each note throughout the middle, making three strings to each note instead of two, thus giving the Piano a third more power of tone throughout the middle. There will be fifty-three notes from the treble down that will have three strings instead of twenty-four notes from the treble down as formerly. The undersigned will give to wholesale and retail customers the benefit of this improvement by letting them have these Pianos for the same price as the ones formerly made with two strings.

These Pianos have now been before the public for 23 years, and have always and a model gand the very best, and are celebrated for quality of tone, great power and durability of action, prompt elastic touch, fine finish and elegant style of case, combined with every known improvement. The most complete and unbroken list on record, embracing a period of 30 years, and made up of 28 first prizes, medals and diplomas, received at the principal exhibitions in Canada—Montreal. Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton and London. At the Centennial Exhibition in Philadelphia, in 1876, we secured a medal and diploma for our piano. The great favor with which the cross-scale planos have been received for so long a period, and the reputation they bear, has induced others to imitate them. We therefore caution intending purchasers and dealers wishing to obtain the original cross-scale plano to see that the name of "Rainer & Co." is on each instrument.
