The opening ceremonies will take place in front of the new grand stand at 2 p.m. today. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor being the chief performer. An address to His Honor will be presented by the directors, atter which His Honor will press a small button connected by electric wire with the machinery hall. This will set all the machinery in motion, and amid the screeching of steam whistles, the playing of "God Save the Queen," the Lieutenant-Governor will declare the Toronto Exhibition of 1892 duly opened. After this has been done the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Kirkpatrick will be conducted by the president and directors of the association through the different buildings and over the grounds.

On and after Thursday next, for the convenience of ladies who desire to avoid the crush at the gates, Exhibition tickets will be on sale at Messra. A. & S. Nordheimer's store in King-street east. Next Saturday tickets to the grounds in connection with the procession of the Trades and Labor Congress will be on sale after 7 a.m. at the store of R. Bigley, stove dealer, 96 and 98 Queen-street east, and at the store of A. D. Campbell, 117 Carlton-street, first house east of Jarvis.

A PECULIAR WILL.

Yankee-Dutchmen Fer Him.

A curious will was filed in the Surrogate Court yesterday. It was that of a man named James Malone, a carpenter, who died 21 years ago. After going along swimmingly through eightfor nine pages of foolscap, the devisor says: "I bequeath to my granddaughter, Many Ann Emery, $50 and my cottage and land, but if she marries a Yankee-Dutchman she is not to have the cottage or land or the money, but her sister Lucy is to have the land, cottage and money which would have gone to Mary Ann if she had not married a Yankee Dutchman, but if Mary Ann does not marry a Yankee Dutchman Lucy is to receive $200 out of my estate," The will goes on further to provide, in similar terms, that if Lucy marries a "Yankee Dutchman" she is not to receive anything from the estate. The grandsons, Frank and James Emery, are also barred from marrying "Yankee Dutchwomen," and if all four persist in forming such undesirable connubial partnerships the property is to go to another branch of the family.

Brotherhood of St. Andrew. At an important meeting of the Canadian Council held in this city on Saturday even-ing last the invitation of the Kingston chaping last the invitation of the Kingston chapters to hold the convention of 1893 in that city was accepted. Reports from all parts of Canada showed this aggressive Anglican organization to be doing an excellent work through its 87 chapters now in existence. About 25 Canadian visiting delegates will be at the annual convention of the American crder, which assembles at Boston on the 29th of this menth. This has grown to be the largest and most important Anglican gathering of the year on this continent. The 16 Toronto chapters met last evening at Holy Trinity school-house and a healthy and enthusiastic tone pervaded the meeting.

Women's Worthy Work A district meeting of the Women's Chris-an Temperance Union was held yesterday afternoon at their headquarters in Elmstreet. Arrangements were completed for the fair work. Two large tents have been the fair work. Two large tents have been secured and meetings will be held from 6.30 to 8 o'clock in the evening. Tea and coffee will be provided and baggage cared for at a reasonable charge. Mrs. W. L. Scott and Mrs. James Forster were appointed delegates to the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance. The annual meeting of the central district will be held on Sept. 19 at head-
