

I N D E X.

W.

- Wampum*, or Porcelain of Canada, i. 318. Of the branches and collars of Wampum, their use, i. 319, 320.
- War*. Manner of singing the war song among the Indians, i. 315. Of the God of war, i. 316. Of the declaration of war, i. 317. Motives which engage the Indians to make war, i. 327, 328. In what manner they resolve upon it; preparations of the chief, i. 328, 329. Deliberations of the council; measures taken for having prisoners, i. 330. Songs, dance, and feasts of the warriors, i. 331, 332. Trials made of the warriors; precautions for the wounded, i. 333. Farewell of the warriors, i. 336, 337. Their arms offensive and defensive, i. 337, 338. Their care to take their Gods along with them, i. 338. Of the march of the warriors, i. 357, 358. Of their encampment; of the meeting of different warlike parties, i. 358. Of their entering an enemy's country; of the approaches and attack, i. 359, 360. Their manner of fighting; their instinct in finding out the tracks of the enemy, i. 361. The monuments they leave of victory; precautions for securing the retreat and guarding the prisoners, i. 362. How they proclaim the victory in the villages, i. 363. Triumph of the warriors, i. 368.
- Widowhood*. Of widowhood and second marriages among the Indians, ii. 191.
- Woman*. Tradition of the first woman among the Indians, ii. 228, 229. Woman-chief of the Natchez, ii. 260, &c. Women, their power in some Indian nations, ii. 25, 26. Advantages of the mothers over the fathers, ii. 53. Of their lying-in, and its consequences, ii. 54. Of the care they take of their children, ii. 55.
- Whale*. His combat with the sword fish, i. 77. Of the whale-fishery in the river St. Laurence, i. 229.
- Wolf, Sea*. Of its fishery, i. 222. Description of that animal; its different kinds, i. 223. Use of its flesh and