

young and old, makes voluntary and systematic giving, as far as possible, a principle of religious life, the Church must flourish. Strive to think of it as a very great privilege to give to the support of the Church of God, and that you are doing your part to help on Christ's work, even though your efforts may be small. During the past two years our ranks have been sadly thinned, and it will not do for us to sit down and bemoan our loss; we must still "move on." Let us awake to our position, and one and all, in every way we can, help on the work of the Church. Be loyal, be true, be in earnest, and leave the result to God.
