 Address in reply, 15. Congratulations to mover and seconder; serious responsibility on new ministry in consequence of election campaign promises; absence of members who were formerly prominent in debate; Conservative victory more apparent than real; official returns of votes cast on July 28, 15; comparison of election results with popular vote; Conservative party does not represent the majority of votes cast; record of Liberal party during nine years in office; co-operation of opposition with government in dealing with the special situation for which parliament has been summoned; Mr. Bennett's promise to deal with unemployment; no Minister of Labour on the treasury benches, 16; choosing a minister for the Labour department who has not been elected by popular vote; no Minister of Finance in the present government; portfolios held by Mr.
