

Swan River, or Western Australia, i. 124. 247. ; ii. 81. Disposal of public land, 122.
Sydenham (Lord), ii. 40.

Tahiti, or Otaheite, movement of population there, ii. 207. 210. Civilization, 215.

Tariff, effects of, on the distribution of the precious metals, ii. 305.

Taxation in colonies, might fall without disadvantage on rent, where it exists, ii. 232. Falls chiefly on profits, 239. In what manner might be made to fall on land, 241—244 ; on rent, 244.

Terra Firma, provinces of, afterwards Republic of Columbia ; statistics, i. 31.

Texas, slavery there, i. 301.

Timber trade, of the North American colonies, details respecting, i. 202—204.

Tithe, or proportional tax on produce, probable effects of, in colonies, ii. 241. 251.

Tocqueville (M. de), his report on the emancipation of slaves in the French colonies, i. 322.

Torrens (Col.), ii. 41. 51. 225. His view of emigration as applied to Ireland, i. 150. Of the question, whether every subtraction from the fund for the maintenance of labour is necessarily injurious, 167. Of the introduction of capital and labour in the best proportions, 248. ; ii. 45. Of the effects of prohibitory duties on the distribution of the precious metals, ii. 305—311.

Towns, selection of sites for, in colonies, whether best undertaken by government, ii. 78.

Transportation, punishment of, first adopted by the Portuguese, ii. 3. To North America, 4. Its evils should be estimated by comparison with those of other modes of punishment, 16—18. Schemes for the improvement of the system, 19—22. Comparative expense of this and other punishments, 20. Possesses the great advantage of affording the offender a prospect of re-establishment, 22.

Tribute, in what cases can be said to be furnished by colonies, i. 230—237.

Trinidad, statistics, i. 95. 328. Economical condition, 309. Ill success of European emigration thither, 315. Account of its present condition, ii. 311—317.

Uloa, his "Secret Notices," i. 275.

United States, restrictions on their commerce with the British West Indies, i. 80. Their present trade with Great Britain compared with that which they carried on as colonies, 229. Different economical history of the States north and south of a line drawn from the Atlantic to the Mississippi, along the Delaware and Ohio, 257. Project for the emigration of free coloured labourers from thence to the West Indies considered, 316. Provision for education, ii. 99. 109. System of land-sale, 102—105. Policy towards Indians, in settling them on reserved lands and afterwards removing them, 173—181. Numbers of Indians within their territory, 218.