BOLSHEVIK PRESSING THEIR OFFENSIVE

Have Superiority in Men and Guns on Front South of Archangel.

Archangel, March 3.—The Bolsheviks continue to push their offensive against the American and allied troops on the front 160 miles south of Archangel. According to reports received at headquarters here this morning, the allies have evacuated the village of Vovskovskaya.

To allies, however, still hold their position at Vistavka and the villages of Maximovskaya and Kites.

The Bolsheviks were reported yesterday to be moving a considerable force along the road from Tarabeve in the Kadish sector, toward Maximovskaya, and last night the Bolsheviks artillery bombarded Vistavka heavily. The Americans evacuated Vovskovskaya yesterday after the blood houses had been set afire. Airplane observers reported that the town was still burning last night.

In the meantime, the Bolsheviks continue to shell the allied positions at Tulgas on the Dwina. The allied guns are replying vigorously. The enemy apparently is attempting to drive the Americans from Lat Vaga and out of the column along the Dwina, which is thirty miles south of

REORGANIZING BEHIND LINES

Since the Bolsheviks have been reorganizing behind the lines and bringing up new guns. The columns on both the Vaga and the Dwina are outnumbered at least three to one and the Bolsheviks have a great superiority in guns. There is now 12 hours of daylight each day in northern Russia and the weather is improving, favoring fighting operations.

The renewal of the Bolshevik offensive began on Sunday after the enemy had been inactive for nearly three weeks. Following a twenty-four hour bombardment, the Bolsheviks launched a strong infantry attack against the American positions on the Vaga River Sunday afternoon. Heavy fighting resulted.

In the meantime, the Bolsheviks were also moving considerable forces on the Dwina. An American patrol on Sunday encountered superior numbers of the enemy in the woods near Tulgas and the patrol was engaged several minutes in a brief but hot action during which the Americans lost five men killed. The airplan observers reported considerable activity at this time, behind the enemy lines.

CANADIANS INVITED TO TOUR INDUSTRIES

British Federation Ask Representatives of Dominion to Inspect Manufacturing Centres.

London, March 4.—The Federation of British Industries, consisting of twenty thousand firms, has invited Major S. T. Layton, Captain E. V. McKague, Major G. H. Shearer, Capt. F. H. Dunham, Captain A. S. Brown, Major W. M. McGhie, Lieut. W. B. Scott, Capt. W. Hogg, Captain W. Stevens, Captain R. Franks, Colonel W. B. Worsnop and Colonel D. S. Ellis, as representatives of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, to tour the chief manufacturing centres of Great Britain before returning to the Dominion, the idea being that they shall meet prominent manufacturers and gain knowledge for improving business relations between Great Britain and Canada. The delegation was entertained at luncheon by the federation. Among those present were: Sir George Perley, Canadian High Commissioner in London; Harrison Watson, Canadian government trade commissioner, and Col. Edwards, Canadian headquarters. It was announced on behalf of the federation that arrangements for foreign countries to represent British industries would be appointed.

Sir Geo. Perley said that the war had shown that the empire ought to be self-contained, for it had everything man could need for peace or war. Its natural resources should be developed in our own hands, not by foreigners, who look away the raw material and brought back

GERMANY TO KEEP MUM ON WAR OUTBREAK

Held That to Make Public Secret Documents Would Be a Tactical Mistake.

Berlin, Monday, March 3.—The foreign office and the government in general have not only taken no steps to publish the promised white book with the full German diplomatic foreign correspondence covering the outbreak of the war, but they are decidedly opposed to any such publication before the conclusion of peace. Their spokesmen argue that the one-sided publication by Germany of such correspondence before the entente governments likewise lay open their archives would be a tactical mistake. This is also the view of the great mass of men prominent in business and political life. Only a few of the radical Socialists, like Karl Kautsky, who no longer have access to the German archives, believe that Germany should print these documents for the judgment of the world.

Instead of publishing this correspondence a new edition of the documents alleged to have been taken from the Belgian archives at Brussels is now being brought out. The government launches this publication with its blessing in a column and a half review in the official North German Gazette, under the heading:

ASK RELEASE OF BOLSHEVIK

Washington, March 4.—The British government has asked the government of India to release a Russian Bolshevik prisoner, now held in Persia, in exchange for United States Consul Roger C. Tredwell of New York, who has been held prisoner by Bolshevik officials at Tashkend, Turkistan, for several months.

NEW DOCUMENTS CONCERNING GUILT FOR THE WORLD WAR

Arguments Used for Suppression.

An idea of the argument made by the official organ may be found in the following quotation from the article: "When three or four bandits surround a peaceful traveler and keep closing in on him until, in recognition of his danger, he strikes out in self-defence, is it, forsooth, inexcusable that he does not wait for them to spring upon him, and is his the guilt for the blows and the bloodshed?"

The Gazette's only admission is that there was considerable sniping on the German as well as on the other side in the tactical handling of the Anglo-German difficulties, but after citing briefly a number of what it declares are hitherto unpublished Belgian diplomatic reports, it claims that these show a steady policy on the part of Russia, France and England to enclose peace-loving Germany, and that the documents gravely compromise the entente powers in connection with responsibility for the war.

The publication will include documents from 1897 to 1914, but the two volumes now issued only cover the subjects, entitled, "The Dual Alliance," "Anglo-German Rivalry," and "The Morocco Crisis—King Edward." Bringing the documents up to 1907. These volumes were issued today.

CANADIAN DELEGATES BUSY AT CONFERENCE

Borden and Two Colleagues Attend Meeting to Discuss Economic Conditions.

Paris, March 4.—Sir Robert Borden and two of his colleagues attended an important meeting of the British Empire delegations this morning, at which the question of economic conditions after the war was under discussion. Sir George Foster has been appointed chief of the British delegation upon the economic committee, which is to consider and report upon the economic provisions of the treaty of peace. Sir H. Llewellyn Smith, K.C.B., is the other British delegate on the committee.

It is anticipated that Hon. Mr. Doherty will be a member of the important committee which will report upon the treaty in existence with enemy countries before the war. The rules of international law will require consideration, as will the practice hitherto prevailing, some of these treaties might be considered as only suspended, and not entirely abrogated by the existence of a state of war. The expediency of abrogating any such treaties as might otherwise be reviewed by the conclusion of peace will be considered.

Hon. Mr. Sifton was engaged all day at a session of the commission of the international regime of ports, waterways and railways. Sir Robert Borden had an important conference with General Currie, and afterwards with members of the American delegation.

SIGNS WHEAT PURCHASE BILL

Washington, March 4.—President Wilson today signed the wheat guarantee bill, carrying an appropriation of one billion dollars, to maintain the guaranteed price of $2.25 a bushel.
