HAVING THEIR PICNIC TODAY

At last old Sol has seen fit to shine forth in beautiful sunshine and as a result the children of three orphanages of the city are enjoying their long looked for picnic. J. D. O'Connell, of Sussex, who is giving the outing to the kiddies, took the children from the city a little after noon today by auto, to Rockwood Park and that they will enjoy themselves goes without saying.

Mr. O'Connell has come to the city on three occasions to hold the picnic, but the weather man intervened and the affair was three postponed. From Saturday the picnic was postponed until today and the glorious sunshine of today coupled with the good time that Mr. O'Connell has arranged will make the day a banner one for the little ones. Abundance of candy, cake, ice cream and other good "eats" will be distributed among the children.

POLICE COURT

In the police court this morning Magistrate Ritchie drew the attention of the police to bootleggers, who were illegally distributing liquor to certain individuals in the North End. He pointed out the locality and said that men were being supplied on Sundays and at other illegal hours in "behind the old Shamrock grounds." The police had found men in this vicinity and His Honor attributed it all to bootlegging.

A total of six arrests on drunkenness charge was the result of the activities of the police over the week-end. Three escaped the humiliation of court attendance by leaving 88; one was given nine months and the other two were fined $8 each.

A sailor taken into custody early this morning by Policeman O'Shea on charge of wandering about, was fined $8 or two months in jail. The fine was paid by the sailor's captain.

CLEANING THE BERTHS.

The government dredge Fielding has completed her work in the city berths at West St. John, and has commenced cleaning up the berths at the government piers. J. S. Gregory's dredge will follow the Fielding to complete the work.

C., of Montreal, are here for the defendant, C. A. Barnard, who is in the city. The chief local witnesses are T. H. Somerville and Ross Thompson.

NO HOSPITAL ROOM FOR CASE OF WHOOPING COUGH

That is Situation in Saint John Today

What if Epidemic Broke Out?—Children's Home in Elliot Row Quarantined and Society's Work Seriously Handicapped

The Children's Home in Elliot row is now a children's hospital, and will be such for two months or more. No matter how urgent the case, no child can be taken within its doors for that period.

Nor can any children be taken out of it; foster homes, unless those taking them are willing to run the risk of whooping cough.

The Children's Aid Society is halted in its work, and the cost of maintaining the Home is increased. If the police should raid a house and gather in little children, they could not be placed in the Home.

All this is due to the fact that there is no children's hospital in St. John, nor room in the public or epidemic hospital for a child with whooping cough.

Two children recently taken to the Home after their mother's arrest, were found to be suffering with whooping cough. Application was made for their admission to the hospital. The reply was that there was no accommodation. The matron of the Children's Home therefore placed the two in a room by themselves, and did the best she could; but last week another child, taken from the Home to the children's ward in the hospital to be treated for another serious trouble was at once sent back because it had developed whooping cough.

There are thirteen children in the Home, some were about to be sent out to foster homes and others were to be brought in. Now the house is quarantined and the matron will probably have to deal with thirteen cases of whooping cough among children, nearly all of whom were ill-nourished when they entered the Home. To continue taking in children would be to come each new-comer with a probable attack of whooping cough, and make a special nurse a necessity. It is, however, worthy of note that proper care in the Home unquestionably saved the life of one of the children that had whooping cough when taken there.

Of course the most serious result of the present condition of affairs is the interference with the society's work, which as yet has only touched the fringe of the problem of child welfare in St. John; but there is another consideration. If there is no hospital accommodation in St. John for one case of whooping cough, what would happen if there should be even a small epidemic of diphtheria, scarlet fever or measles?

A BIG WINTER SEASON AHEAD

Commissioner Russell Brings Cheery Report

ALL WE CAN HANDLE

C. P. R. to Have Extra Passenger Sailing Each Week—Hudson Bay Company May Send Fleet—Hon. Rob't Rogers Here Soon

Glowing reports of the prospects for a big winter business in St. John have been brought back from Montreal by James V. Russell, commissioner of harbors, who returned on Saturday after attending a conference of harbor authorities.

The C. P. R. officials in Montreal gave the commissioner the assurance that their service from St. John would be on the same scale as last year, with the addition of an extra passenger steamer each week, making two passenger steamers instead of one as last year. It is his expectation that the arrangement of freight offering at St. John will be limited only by the extent of the harbor facilities and the number of steamers which can be docked here.

Another announcement of great interest is a possibility that the Hudson Bay Company may send its fleet of steamers to St. John this winter. The company now has ten steamers of its own and, with other craft under charter, has understood that it is dispatching a fleet each day from Montreal for France. It is understood that they are willing to come to St. John provided that a warehouse of sufficient size can be found for them.

Owing to the contention which is already being felt seriously in Montreal it has been necessary to divert some freight to Quebec and to load the steamers there. Under the circumstances it is expected that the winter season will open in St. John much earlier than usual and the commissioner has been laying the advantages of this port before the proper authorities.

The allotment of 12 berths for winter use has been partly completed and it is expected that the arrangement will be about the same as last winter.

Before going to Montreal, the commissioner visited Halifax and looked over the harbor works there. He was much impressed with the amount which has been accomplished on the $7,000,000 harbor contract. One big pier is nearing completion and at least one berth is promised for the first of the year.

Hon. Robert Rogers, minister of public works for the dominion, is expected to visit St. John in about ten days' time and when he arrives it is the intention of the city commissioners to have a further conference with him regarding harbor matters. One of the most pressing claims which will be laid before him is the need for the extension of the Negro Point breakwater to Partridge Island to protect the West Side berths. This work was promised and the contract let, but it since had been held up nominally on account of the war, although the work at other ports is proceeding without interruption.

Dr. Dyas Enlists

Dr. Douglas Dyas of St. Stephen, formerly of Eastport, has enlisted for service overseas, and expects soon to be transferred to France. Dr. Dyas has been trying for some time to get work in the hospitals at the front.

ARE FLOODING CARLETON COUNTY WITH LIQUOR

Carleton county is being flooded with liquor by way of Victoria county. It is said to be the case from three distributed through Carleton, to uphold the cause of Hon. B. Frank Smith and Mayor Sifton, who refused to agree to a joint committee to prevent the use of money and rum.

NO CITY ACTION RE THE PRICE OF COAL

Speaking today of the suggestion which was made in council a short time ago that the city should interest itself in the price of coal, Mayor Hayes said that a short investigation showed that coal prices have been forced upwards by the same circumstances which have had the same effect on almost every commodity. The difference in the freight rates now and before the war are enough in themselves to explain most of the increase in price. As the trouble is general and not local there is nothing that the city can do about the matter.

SUNDAY SELLING

Yesterday the telephone at police headquarters had a busy day and the policeman who answered it also had a busy time. It was, however, as like every Sunday, only with a few more rings. Sunday complaints were pouring in about "such and such a one selling milk, groceries, etc." on the Sabbath. It may have been a coincidence that the ones who are giving the information are in the same business and, according to the police, are selling such things themselves. The complaints are coming from the vicinity of Brasserie, St. Patrick and St. David streets. The police officials want the information laid in the proper way before they will act. Milk and bread, perishable necessities, are allowed to be sold in reason, but when the privilege is abused and carried beyond that degree the police will take the matter in hand.

BECOMES THE NEW BRUNSWICK DISTRICT

New Name For Atlantic Division of the C. P. R.

A change in the designation of districts on the C. P. R. will become effective with the change of the fall timetable on October 1. The Atlantic division, which includes all lines east of Megantic, both in Maine and New Brunswick, will be known as the New Brunswick district.

There will be two sub-divisions, No. 1 including from Megantic to St. John, the Fredericton branch, and the Shore Line. No. 2 will include all branch lines north and south of Megantic.

Similar changes have been made all over Canada. The Eastern division will in future be known as the Quebec district, the Ontario division as the Ontario district, the Lake Superior as the Algoma district. In the west the name division will be changed to district.

CHILDREN PLAY IN SEWER STREAM

Why have they not a full-fledged epidemic in Chapel street and that vicinity?

This is the question asked because there is a small sewer pouring its contents in a steady stream from the foot of Chapel street across a stretch of ground to the harbor front, and little children with the old tin cans and other receptacles lying about dip into the stream and play about it, if they are not chased away by the nearest residents.

The sewer once extended much farther out. As it is now it is not only a disgrace, but a menace to the public health.

The children of that congested area are in sore need of a place in which to play, and an evening recreation place of some sort under proper supervision would be a profitable investment for the community.
