OLICEMAN FALLS IN WITNESS STAND

Robert and Ward Stevens, brothers, are in the police court this morning argued with drunkenness, willfully eaking windows in the saloon conducted by Richard Caples in Brussels street, using obscene language and also with slitting the police. They pleaded guilty to the first charge, but say they could member nothing as to the others.

Policeman Hayes told the court of hat happened.

Policeman Fuller was next called, and then in the act of stepping into the witness stand became weak and collapsed, falling to the floor. Court officials ordered with him for some time, and he covered sufficiently to be removed to a guard room. Dr. W. F. Roberts was nt for and had the man removed to his me. In falling, Policeman Fuller ruck his head and face against a sharp mer of the witness box. However, sthing serious was anticipated and it is ough he will be around again in a w. days.

The two prisoners were remanded un- tomorrow. In the course of Police- an Hayes' evidence he said that the prier of the saloon refused to come out to give evidence. The magis- te replied that "if they do not come lingly, then we will take them com- illingly." In consequence a sum- ons will be sent to the saloon keeper, L. King was fined $8 or two months' ul for using abusive language to man named Kimball. King endeav- ed to explain to the court that Kim- ll had threatened to shoot him and attempting to get an explanation of e threat from the complainant, he used e language. The piece the affair oc- rred did not seem to meet with the vor of the court, and the defendant as fined.

FURTHER WORD COMES FROM W. F. HATHWAY

A delayed postal card from W. Frank Hathway, dated Paris, July 6, says:—

"We arrived here two days ago and go to Italy on the 22nd. We will go to England for all of August. We are getting details about trade. France buys only $1 from Canada for every $5 we buy in France. The people are a- poated to buy of us if we deliver. I saw San Bey College annual meeting in the Salle at Blois."

La Presse of Montreal, in its issue of July 27 prints a picture of the Canadian trade delegates inspecting the serial transport at Bordeaux, and the clearest photo in the group is that of Mr. Hathway, who is easily recognized.

The Man In The Street

Preserving season again and the aromatic odors from the preserving kettle fill the house with suggestions of good things to eat when winter comes again.

While they are at it, 'tis a pity the housewives cannot preserve a bit of this weather for use later on.

But when it comes to dealing with the provincial government it will not be preserved; it will be "canned."

There was almost as many explanations of the atmospheric conditions on Sunday morning as there were explanations.

But it must have been an opponent of the present government who started the rumor that the murky skies were due to the reflection from the ruddy highways throughout the province.

In addition to the minister's promises we would like to see some work on these roads.

It takes more than a promise to swing votes in New Brunswick.

The foundations for the new grain elevator will not cost much money so long as the elevator continues to remain up in the air.

The government officials should get together and make their stories agree before they begin to tell why the elevator should be built in Water street.

Meanwhile, the Courtenay Bay works are dismissed with a lordly wave of the hand.

Everyone has forgotten about the U. S. war with Mexico, except the National Guardsmen who are still doing duty on the frontier.

Carranza backed down when Uncle Sam showed signs of going to war. Why doesn't our esteemed neighbor make a few shapies of the same kind at the nation which has murdered more of her citizens than Mexico has?

The hyphenated vote across the border seems to be about as popular with the presidential candidates as skunks would be at a garden party.

And just about as popular as the provincial government is with the electors of New Brunswick.

Here's hoping that the "Deutschland" never reaches Deutscher land.

Full Details

Captious critics occasionally have objected to accounts of weddings in which no mention is made of that insignificant member of the cast, the bridesmaid. They would find it difficult to find, on this ground, in a recently contrived story which not only gave the bridegroom's name, address and family history, but going further into details, admitted that he "looked very nice in a neat blue suit with white collar and cuffs."

Every Hammer Was Hammered

Even if Every Hammer did hammer, Johnny O'Leary could hammer a bit more, judging from the result of the fistic encounter last evening in which the Canadian light-weight used Hammer, the American ring artist, as an avvil. A name like that is a handicap when one can't deliver the goods.

No, Uncle Sam

You can't always tell by appearances. A citizen who is always ready to crack a joke met on the street an old man whose whiskers and other attributes coincided closely with the commonly accepted idea of that fabled person who stands for the United States.

"Hallo, Uncle Sam," he said.

But "Uncle Sam" did not appreciate the compliment, and he expressed his views on the subject with fluency and profanity. It was not so much what he said as the way he said it that convinced the would-be joker of his error. The brogue in which the remarks were clothed were convincing evidence of the error.

The joker bowed before the storm and blew away.

A GERMAN TRIBUTE TO CANADIANS

Pte. L. E. Oguler of Carleton Sends News Home

PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

Sees Gallant Act at Ypres Performed by Slight Young Soldier—A Touching Tale of the Battlefield

In a recent letter sent from Flanders by Pte. Leonard E. Oguler to his mother in West St. John, was a clipping from an English paper which reads as follows:—

"How the Canadians fought at Ypres is now related by the Germans themselves. The Cologne Volks Zeitung today in an otherwise fanatic report, says: 'Many of the Canadians made an obstinate resistance, and preferred to be killed rather than surrender. Many small groups of Canadians, who resisted desperately and refused all mercy, had to be cleared out with bombs. A general and several officers, who refused to surrender, were killed. The general drew his sword, and when a sergeant demanded his surrender he cut him through the face, whereupon an infantry bayoneted him while he was still fighting like a madman.'

Private Oguler adds the following, and as he was in the thick of the battle where so many Canadians fell, he speaks with authority:—

"This story is quite true for lots of brave deeds are done right here in the trenches of which the world will never hear. For instance, I saw a slight young fellow about the height of brother Powell, half drag, half carry three big husky soldiers who were wounded out of the line of danger and then came back and fight like mad. All the time the shells were bursting and bullets flying around him. That is the kind of fellows this battalion is made up of. They seem to be fighting for something more than the love of war. You would have laughed had you seen me the first time on my way to the trenches, dodging the bullets which were flying hundreds of yards above my head, but when I got in the first line of trenches it was different. We made the Germans dance to the tune of our bullets. Would like to be with you today in God's own country. Canada for mine, but we intend to fight to the final and some day see the British flag flying over Berlin. Hurrah, boys!

"You said in one of your letters that Rev. Mr. Sampson held special prayers every Monday for our soldier boys. I bet the old home church is crowded or should be. It is good to go forth to battle knowing that the people are praying for God to watch over and protect us in the time of danger. I especially am thankful for being spared after coming through that big fight. It was one of the worst bombardments since the war started. I am sending also this clipping, taken from an American newspaper:—

"Quite near me lay two soldiers mortally wounded; one, a Bavarian, young and fair-haired, with a gaping wound in the stomach, was lying close to a young Frenchman, hit in the side of the head. Both were in horrible pain, groaning piteously and piteously.

"In the midst of my own distress I saw a feeble movement on the part of the Frenchman, who painfully slipped his hand under his coat for something hidden away in his breast. At last he drew forth his hand, and in it a little silver crucifix, which he pressed to his lips. Feebly but clearly he began 'Hail, Mary, full of Grace!'

"Then, as I watched, I saw something which moved me to tears. The Bavarian opened his blue eyes, which were already glazing with approaching death, turned his head toward the Frenchman, and with a look not of hate but almost of love, finished in a murmur the prayer, 'Holy Mary, Mother of God, pray for us sinners now and at the hour of death.' The eyes of the two men met and they understood each other. They were two Christians who, companions in like misfortune, wished to die as Christians.

"In a sublime outburst of charity the Frenchman held out his crucifix to the other, who kissed it, and taking him by the hand said: 'Having served our country, let us go to God reconciled!'

"Their eyes closed, a shiver ran through their bodies, and they passed away. The sun disappearing behind a purple cloud, shed a golden gleam on the two blood-stained bodies."

"EVER HAMMER" WAS HAMMERED BY JOHNNY

Boston, Aug. 1.—Johnny O'Leary, claimant of the lightweight championship of Canada, got the decision over Ever Hammer of Chicago in a 12-round bout here tonight.

BOYS ESCAPE

Two boys escaped from the Boys' Industrial Home last evening, and so far no trace of them has been found. The report reached police headquarters this morning and the police are on the watch for the youths. One figured prominently in the W. H. Thorne & Co. robbery, and also in several other local breaks. He escaped about a month ago and was captured at Montreal.

Some cases will call for action from the board and will be attended to at an early date unless the delinquents meet the requirements of the inspectors.
