

no man shall see the Lord." "Be ye therefore holy, even as he is holy"—"Lights of the world"—"Salt of the earth"—"Living epistles, read and known of all men." O let us be deeply impressed with the abiding truth, that God would have us to be holy and useful; else, as fruitless branches, we shall wither and be cut off. Let, therefore, a Christian sanctity pervade all your conduct as individuals, as brethren, as heads of families, as children, as masters, as servants, as members of the community and of the Christian church. Let us, in godly sincerity, meekness, plainness, and simplicity, with watchful, prayerful, quenchless zeal, emulate our Master's example, vindicate the doctrines we profess and the name we bear. Conscious of the awful responsibilities God has laid on us, may we, in the true spirit of earnest Christianity, be "all at work, and always at work," seize the golden opportunity, show ourselves equal to our day, and as disciples of our triumphant Lord "press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and we pray God your whole spirit, and soul, and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen."
