

(b) Food Supplies

Another phase of our production effort is in the realm of agriculture.

Canada has approximately 630,000 men of military age engaged in farming, as farmers or farm workers.

Close estimates have been made indicating that our agricultural production would be seriously impaired if more than 160,000 of those persons were to leave the farm.