"STOP MY PAPER."

The men who insist that the paper they read shall never say anything contrary to their view are the ones who are responsible for the craven cowardliness and the weather-cock propensities of modern journalism. In a community composed entirely of these "stop my paper!" true independent journalism would be an impossibility. When you are convinced that a paper is dishonest and deceitful, stop it. When convinced that it is unclean, stop it. When it lacks enterprise and fails to give you the news, stop it. When some other paper gives you more of value, stop it. But don't stop that paper you believe to be honest, courageous, enterprising, and clean, simply because its editor has written his own sincere views instead of yours or somebody's else; for if you do, you are putting a premium on insincere journalism and serving notice on an editor that the way to succeed is to write what he thinks will best please his readers instead of what he honestly believes to be the truth.
