

THE FAIRIES
The fairies have never a penny to spend. They haven't a thing put by. But there is the dower of bird and flower. And there is the earth and the sky. And though you should live in a palace of gold. Or sleep in a dried-up ditch. You could never be poorer as the fairies are. And never as rich.

Blue ever and over the world began. They have danced like a ribbon of flame. They have sung their song through the centuries long. And yet it is never the same. And though you be foolish or though you be wise. With hair of silver or gold. You could never be younger as the fairies are. And never as old.

—Punch.

A Canadian girl in Jerusalem. I am the representative of Canada in general, and Brandon in particular. St. Catherine's Day. Saint Catherine's Day, but lately past, was celebrated in Venice with more pomp than has been witnessed for the last century. Saint Catherine being the patron saint of that old-world city.

In England and on the Continent the good Catherine is considered the special friend and patron of spinners, and in Paris her fête day is generally known as "Old Maid's Day." Special services are held in some of the churches and maidens young and old carry flowers thither to be laid upon the altar, at which they beseech the Intercessor of St. Catherine in procuring for them a good husband. And now that Europe has been robbed by the war of so many of its young men, the vogue of St. Catherine is likely to increase in the coming years.

Milton Abbot was the long favored son of French maidens and old maids on St. Catherine's Day, and there was a special prayer for his restoration which was:

TALENTED ARTISTES WERE HEARD
Senor Antonio Sala Gave a Musical Recital at Victoria Hall
SPLENDID PROGRAM

Senor Antonio Sala, the distinguished cellist, and assisting company of three artists, Miss Florence Hardman, violinist; Miss Edith Henry, pianist; and Miss Rosey Donner, soprano, appeared last evening at Victoria Hall in a recital of numbers representing the highest in musical art. Senor Sala was royal court cellist to King Alfonso at Madrid, and his playing would be ranked with the very best cello artists ever heard in this country. He began the study of the cello at the age of five. Back of his wonderful technique lies a native temperament filled with emotional power. His Aird, one of the council members of the I.O.D.E., introduced the artists. The Brent Chapter of the I.O.D.E., under whose auspices this opening number of the Lyceum series, was given are to be congratulated for the treat that it afforded the kind and appreciative audience that attended. Favorable numbers were the "Spanish Trio" with cello, violin and piano. A "Sonata" by Valentin on the cello; by Senor Sala, was played with brilliancy and feeling. Miss Hardman on the violin achieved much favorable comment in the following group: (a) To a Wild Rose, by McDowell; (b) Orientale, by Giuliani; (c) Gypsy Song, by Sarasate. Miss Lo. Rosey Donner, soprano, who substituted for Miss Mable Powers, who was taken ill at Kitchener, best pleased her audience in the two numbers, (a) The Winds in the South, by Novello. Little Damosel, by Novello. In the high notes she is particularly effective. Miss Donner is a youthful artist, until recently a student at the Conservatory School, Chicago, studying under Mr. Grandel. The pianist, Miss Edith Henry, of this company, was chosen for her peculiar fitness for the requirements of this organization, by Senor Antonio Sala himself. The next number of the Lyceum course will be Judge Alden in his popular lecture, "The Needs of the Hour."

Pleasure, mere pleasure, is animal. God gives that to the butterfly. But progress is the law of life to the immortal. So God has arranged our life as progress, and its working principle is evolution.—Henry Drummond.

JOSEPH MADE RULER OF EGYPT.

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 41:34-44.
GOLDEN TEXT—He that is faithful in a very little is faithful also in much.—James 3:10.

DEVOTIONAL READING—Psalms 65.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Genesis 38.

Thirteen long years have passed since his brethren sold him. They have been years of sore testing for Joseph, but his faith is triumphant. There is a mighty contrast between Joseph in the pit at Dothan and Joseph as prime minister of Egypt.

I. Joseph Made Prime Minister of Egypt (vv. 35-44).
1. The Occasion (vv. 35-37).
It is the interpretation of Pharaoh's dreams. In his dreams Pharaoh saw seven fat kine coming out of the river, followed by seven lean ones, which devoured the fat ones. This dream was followed by another in which he saw seven ears of corn come up on one stalk, rank and good, only to be devoured by seven thin ones. These dreams produced uneasiness in Pharaoh's mind. Being thus troubled over them he sent for the magicians and wise men of Egypt to interpret them to him. Upon their failure to interpret them, the chief butler calls to mind the prisoner who had interpreted his dreams two years before. Pharaoh hastily brings Joseph from prison and places his dreams before him. Joseph distinctly brings wisdom for himself, but confidently asserts his faith in the wisdom of God. God is pleased with those who will thus lean upon him in the crucial hour, and will never disappoint them (James 1:5). Little did Joseph's brethren, the Ishmaelites who carried him into Egypt, or Potiphar who sold him to become a slave, realize that the future would bring to him. His years of suffering and waiting were part of God's plan for his discipline and education. It is God's law for those who would reign, that they suffer. "If we suffer we shall also reign with him" (2 Timothy 2:12). Joseph's exaltation from the state of humility is a fine illustration of Christ's humility and exaltation (Philippians 2:9, 10).
