BUILD UP CHATHAM.

On Saturday there were hundreds of visitors in the city. It was the day of the annual excursion of the employees of the Pere Marquette railway, and it was a big event. King street and other thoroughfares were crowded with people, and Tecumseh Park never presented a more animated appearance. It was the first visit to Chatham for many of the visitors, and those who had been here before were glad to come back again.

Many were the exclamations of surprise and wonderment at the beauty of Tecumseh Park, and its excellent fitness as a picnic ground. Everyone had a good time and they will go home and tell their friends about it. This will advertise the Maple City, and others will want to come here and see the city they hear so much about. The result will be good for Chatham.

Why is Chatham not advertised more extensively as a summer resort? It is safe to say that there is not a prettier or healthier city in the Dominion, especially at this season of the year. Certain it is, there is not another city on the continent which can boast of a prettier or more favorably situated playground than Tecumseh Park. In fact, as a summer resort there are a very few cities that can equal Chatham. Others should know of this. The fact should be advertised. In this way cities are built up and it is the ambition of every true citizen to build up Chatham.

In some cities of far less importance than Chatham, a reception committee is appointed on the civic council, whose duties it is to welcome visitors on such occasions as the one on Saturday, and to advertise and boost their city in every possible way. While everyone is welcome in Chatham, there is no formal evidence of it given by the City Council on Saturday. There was not even an attempt to fit the city out in her most becoming robe. The pavements were allowed to show evidence of a week's busy traffic and only a few of the merchants made any attempt whatever at decorating. There is food for thought in this.

PEOPLE AND THE PRESS.

"Put it done as a fact," says the Philadelphia North American, "that the man who decries and denounces the newspapers is either an exposed rascal or a person who fears exposure for himself or for his friends. He is a man who loves darkness and fears the light, because evil is in his soul."

Words of solemn truth and of urgent, everyday importance to the masses, is the comment of A. T. McDonald, a former Chathamite, in his paper, the Louisville Herald. The grafter tries, first of all, to stand in well with the press. If he can find a paper weakly enough managed to induce his methods openly, or cover up his rascalities, he lavishes on it every favor in his reach. He boasts of its independence; he commends its ability and belauds its enterprise. Such papers build up, he claims, the town where they are published. They lull the taxpayer to sleep while the grafter helps himself freely to the city's funds. They come in at the right time for a share in every "divvy" from corrupt contracts and from campaign funds.

But the independent journal, published for the benefit of the public, meets the grafter's early and bitter denunciation. The moment he finds it impossible to bend a paper to his will, he strives to break it. But the really independent paper neither bends nor breaks. It makes friends and wins support in spheres and in altitudes beyond grafters' reach.

LICENSE REVENUE.

Something over half a million dollars will be received in liquor license fees by the Provincial Government this year. This is about $200,000 more than last year, under the old Act, and over $40,000 more than was estimated by the Provincial Secretary, Hon. W. J. Hanna, when he

FASHION HINTS

BOYS SUIT.

No. 4150.

Blue chambray with a white pique collar, plastron and cuffs were used in the making of the boys' Russian blouse pictured here, and with it is worn a belt of black patent leather. The blouse portion buttons at the front, and a sailor collar finishes the neck. The sleeves, which are in full length, are completed by a turned-back cuff, and a shield with standing collar and embroidered emblem fastens at the back. An elastic or tape regulates the fullness of the knickerbockers at the knee, though the lower edge may be gathered and finished with a band instead. Loops of the material sewed at the side-seams hold the belt in place; this may be of the material or of leather. For summer wear suits of this kind are more serviceable if made of wash material, as they will require many trips to the laundry. For morning wear, blue, gray, tan or plaids will be satisfactory, with the shield of white linen. To wear for afternoon, white is given first choice, and linen, pique, serge and flannel are suggested. The same garment is suitable for a little girl, and petticoats may be worn underneath instead. The pattern is cut in four sizes, from 2 to 8 years. Size 8 requires 5 yards of 27-inch material. Four sizes 2 to 8 years.

Mailed postpaid on receipt of 10 cents, name, size and address to the Fashion Department of the C. Austin & Co., Chatham, Ont.

CHILD'S APRON.

No. 4160.

As a protection to cloth dresses, aprons for small children are almost indispensable, and the one portrayed here may be used for that purpose, or by closing the seam to the hem, a dress for play or morning wear is the result. The front and back of the apron are cut in one piece, and where a side plait gives extra fullness to the skirt. A deep hem completes the bottom of the skirt, and the pocket may be used or not, while a broad sash of material ties at the back. Choice is given between square or round neck, and in either case a wash embroidery band outlines the neck, sleeves and pocket; it may also be applied at the hem. White is given preference for garments of this description, but small figured goods may be suitably employed for making, if the mode is to be used as a dress, when the choice of patterns is unlimited. Lawn, muslin, dimity, nanook, percale, gingham, chambray and duck are all good fabrics. The pattern is cut in five sizes, from 1 to 8 years. The medium size requires three yards of insertion or any other preferred trimming for the neck, pocket and sleeves, and 1 3/4 yards of 36 or 40 inch wide material.

Mailed postpaid on receipt of 10 cents, name, size and address to the Fashion Department of the C. Austin & Co., Chatham, Ont.

JUST A LITTLE BIT OFF THE TOP

A cat has been discovered in Toronto, which is raising a young rat along with its own kittens. As it is a Toronto cat, we can understand the instinct which led it to want more than really belonged to it.

July is certainly putting up the real, old-fashioned summer brand.

Ohio forces drunkards to take medical treatment. This is a little variation from some hot-keepers' methods, who seem to anticipate things and "doctor" the booze instead.

With the high price of the frigid article this season, it is a little cleared up about the old chestnut, and everybody would like to be the iceman.

This is said to be a banner year for dry goods merchants. Provided the hot weather continues, the wet goods merchants should likewise have little cause to complain.

The Lib. press is giving Laurier credit for the manner in which he manipulated the London Day Bill. Manipulation is a science which Sir Wilfrid has worked more ways than one.

NOT SURPRISED.

I don't like your new hat, my dear. I'm not surprised. Madam Chamberlain said it was really the sort of hat that husbands wouldn't like.

CHILLS PROVE FATAL!

If warmth and circulation are not promptly restored, chills result in fatal pneumonia. This necessitates keeping Nervine on hand. Taken in hot water it breaks up a chill in two minutes. By rubbing freely over throat and chest it prevents colds. No liniment so strong, so penetrating, so swift to kill pain and inflammation. Nearly fifty years' record has proved the value of Folio's Nervine. You should get a bottle today.

Self-esteem is a vastly different feeling from self-control.

The Meaning of "Bridge."

The story goes that years ago, long before bridge was known in London clubs, two families who played the game under the name of "Russian whist" were living in neighboring houses at or near Great Dalby in Leicestershire. The only road of communication lay over a somewhat dangerous bridge. It was a frequent occurrence for the departing guests to say to their hosts: "Thank goodness, it is your 'bridge' tomorrow," meaning that the other party would have to cross the dangerous bridge the next night; hence is said to have arisen the title of "bridge." We give this story for what it is worth, but in our own mind we have little doubt that the modern name of "bridge" is merely a very easy corruption of the old title of "birch." The two words "birch" and "bridge" have absolutely the same sound when spoken quickly, so that it is easy to imagine how the change came to pass.—London Saturday Review.

The Deer's Tracks.

A deer if walking always places its feet firmly closed upon the ground, and consequently the track is sharply drawn—that is, the hoof is not spread to any appreciable extent. Excursions are sometimes the track of deer during spring and early summer, and those of old bucks during the rutting season. But even then the heels of their tracks are considerably closer than in tracks made by a hog or a sheep. The hoofs of the latter two animals are always rounder at the toe than those of deer, making the tracks they leave easily distinguishable, and if the difference is not discernible in frozen snow the fact that the trail made by hogs or sheep does not register should settle all doubts for the tracker. A deer if not wounded will always step with its hind foot in the track made by the front foot.—Field and Stream.

Some Puritan Names.

One of the customs practiced by our Puritan forefathers was that of inflicting ludicrous and terrifying names upon their children. One Puritan dame, when asked her baptismal name, answered, "Through-Much-Tribulation-We-Enter-the-Kingdom-of-Heaven, but for short they call me Tribby." Another unfortunate maiden bore the name The-Gift-of-God-Stringer. A little girl who had a propensity for crying was at the age of eight christened Weep-Not-Billing. There also were Thunder-Goldsmith, The-Work-of-God-Farmer, Search-the-Scriptures-Morton, Be-Courteous-Cole and, worst of all, Kill-Sin-Pimple.

The Way He Viewed It.

"Good news!" cried the lawyer, waving a paper above his head. "I've secured a reprieve for you!"
"A reprieve?" replied the convicted murderer indifferently.
"Why, yes. Don't you see you ought to be happy?"
"Ah," replied the prisoner gloomily, "that simply means a delay, and I've always been taught that delays are dangerous."

He is happiest, b. he king or peasant, who finds peace in his home.
