Conservatives...........67,988
Liberals...............67,520
Or a Conservative majority over t Liberals of 468 in the three lov provinces. The party vote stands the Maritime Provinces-Conscretive 24 members, and the Liberals, members, or five majority for the Co servatives. These five members, ta ing a strict party vote, are 60 and fraction each in the minority, but ac ing the Independent majority vote t 5 members take a majority vote of and a fraction each. It will thus seen that so far as the two parties a concerned, they are pretty evenly vided in the Maritime Provinces. Now we will take the figures bas on the majorities in each province s arately, not calculating the Indepen ents (with the exception, as before, Bell in Pictou, whom we count w

the Liberais	.).

He complains of the misleading pamphlets, especially in regard to the Manitoba springs, and tells us of a snow storm on batch of May; but as he writes of Arctic May in Nova Scotia, surely he should not complain if three weeks later in Manitoba he encountered a snow storm. But he neglects to tell us that seeding begins in Man. in April and that in spite of May snow those who are provident self. The Brooklyn certainly gives its May snow those who are provident self. The Brooklyn certainly gives its igh to have their land ready to sow so early as that are sure, so far as any-thing human can be sure, to reap a bountiful harvest of the finest wheat in the world. Then he says "pamphlets cannot lie"—let me add, nor writers of reminiscences" suppress the truth.

Our pion eer tells us of some fairly good Our pion eer tells us of some fairly good land about Broadview—strange he should have anything good to say—but still there is the qualification, "broken by 'slews.'" Here again the sin of omission or crojes out. These same "slews," which I have a feeling remembrance of my self, have their good side as they afford I have a feeling remembrance of my self, have their good side as they afford excellent hay ; so even these "slews" were not made in vain. He tells us of a fierce N. E. rain-storm, encountered in Brandon. I rather think I encountered the same, and truly it was bitter enough, but still our Nova Scotia North-Easters, even in June, are not by any means pleasant to remember. As regards the sea of mud in Branden, it must have been a very small one indeed, for I saw nothing of it; and as most of the town is built or adry ridge, I think the sea must have been a dream of Winnipeg. With regard to the mosquitoes, I found them troublesome enough but no worse than I have often found them in some places in Nova Scotia; but of his descrip tion all I have to say is, that if battalions lurked under every blade of grass : what grass, or what mosquitoes !

He says, "We put in three year watching the mercury vary from 65 de-grees below zero, to 105 degrees above grees below zero, to 105 degrees above zero." I think we all who were having our first experiences of Manitoba, watched the thermometer pretty closely, but to our writer belongs the plory of watching the mercury; for as it freezes at 39 or 40 degrees below zero, how he got it down to 55 degrees I fear must remain
