Newfoundlanders Wed- ed in Vancouver.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Church of Our Lady of the Holy Rosary. His Grace Archbishop McNeil officiated at the ceremony on Tuesday morning last at 8.30, when Mr. John T. Shortall, late drug merchant of St. John's, Newfoundland, was united in marriage to Miss Alice Delgado, daughter of Mr. A. Delgado, retired merchant, also of St. John's. Mr. L. F. Murphy, of England, supported the groom, and Miss Beatrice Harvey acted as bridesmaid, while the bride was given away by Mr. W. C. Harvey of this city. After the ceremony a reception was held, and the happy couple left on the one o'clock boat for Victoria and Seattle, where the honeymoon will be spent. A large number of valuable presents were received by the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Shortall on their return in about two weeks, will make Vancouver their future home.—Vancouver World, Aug. 18th.

FURLONG-WADDEN.

A pretty wedding ceremony took place in the R. C. Cathedral this morning when Mr. Ernest Wadden, printer with Messrs. Bowden & Co., led to the altar Miss Nellie Furlong, daughter of Const. E. Furlong. The ceremony was performed by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Roche. The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Michael Wadden, druggist, while the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Madeline Furlong. A number of friends of the young couple were present when the wedding took place. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the residence of the bride's parents, after which the newly wedded couple proceeded by train to Placentia where the honeymoon will be spent. Both were the recipients of many handsome presents. The Telegram extends felicitations.

Lake Simcoe Here.

The brig, Lake Simcoe, Capt. Wilson, arrived here yesterday forenoon after a run of 3 days from Sydney with a cargo of coal. The ship made the run up in 6 days but coming down had fog nearly all the way. As regards the assertion that one of the crew became demented on the voyage up from this port, Capt. Wilson says the Sydney papers greatly exaggerated the affair. It simply amounted to this, that the man had been drinking heavily, was for a time afflicted with the "D.T.s." and had to be looked after. When he jumped overboard, the ship was almost becalmed. No person went after him, but the man grasped a rope thrown him and was quickly pulled on board. The bath did him good and he has been in fine condition ever since. He was constantly at work since they left Sydney, having fully recovered.

A Disgraceful Scene.

Yesterday in a street opposite one of our city churches, after service was over, two young men who had a disagreement and who had just left the edifice, started to fight, and for a time pummelled each other unmercifully. Quite a number of other men were present and did not lift a finger to put a stop to such a disgraceful exhibition but formed a ring around the combatants and watched their pugilistic efforts in an interested manner. Sergt. Byrne came along and soon put an end to hostilities. He has the names of both and will summon them. Rev. such disgraceful conduct on a Sunday both deserve to be severely punished.

THE SANITARY INSPECTORS.

WHAT ARE THEIR DUTIES?

Editor Evening Telegram:
Dear Mr. Editor.—There is one point regarding the health of the City, as it is affected by the open drains, which has not been touched upon in any communication that I have noticed.

It matters little whether the drains are of cobble stones, or of concrete; in fact, in this particular the concrete is somewhat the worse.
I refer to the carelessness with which dirty water is thrown out from the houses. For one person who empties a pail carefully into a drain, nine throw it out "splash," so that only a portion goes to the drain and the balance is spread over the street and sidewalk. Many do not go to the drain at all, but with a woman's proverbial bad shot, cast the water from the door at the drain.

A few weeks ago one of our dailies printed an account of how a pall of dirty water, so thrown, gave a passing Council employee an unexpected shower-bath. Had he been one of the inspectors it might have wakened him up to his duty.

The dirt thus splashed over the thoroughfare cannot be reached by the flushing brigade, and is only got rid of when we have a very heavy rain shower. This, to my mind, is the cause of our streets being what is called "pestiferous," "pestilential," "smelling of putrefaction," etc.

Does the public know that we have TWO SANITARY INSPECTORS—one for the East and another for the West End—in addition to the Sanitary Surveyors?

Has the public ever heard of a charge being brought against a citizen for the above dirty habit, or for any other offence, by these inspectors?

Would His Worship the Mayor be good enough to state at the next Council meeting the duty of these Sanitary Inspectors? A Sanitary Inspector in most modern cities is a man on a woman who is an expert in Hygiene, and has the right of entry to all houses.

Have we a simple law under which these inspectors might prosecute?
I shall send a copy of this article, cut from your paper, to Mayor Ellis, and trust that he will shed some light on the above questions next Friday.

Yours truly,

SPIRO MELIORA.

Kaiser Raises a Storm.

Special to Evening Telegram.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.
The now famous speech of Emperor William of Prussia with its openly expressed belief in the Divine right of the Prussian King, and his choice, not by peoples but by God, continues to be the theme of the most excited discussion in the newspapers. The monarchist organs of the press are divided in their views of the Emperor's utterances, some of them taking a stand in opposition to his view, so that quite four-fifths of the German press are united in criticism of the Sovereign. Every shade of disapproval from mild regret to mockery of the alleged absolute pretensions of the Emperor is voiced. The opinions expressed in the minor German capitals appear to make no distinction between the Sovereign's position as Emperor of Germany and King of Prussia, which was inconsistent with his headship of the Empire. Inquiry is everywhere raised whether the Imperial Chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann Hollweg, knew in advance of the Emperor's purpose to deliver a speech of such a nature. The press generally comments also on the necessity of the German Parliament taking some action upon the subject when it meets.

Jap Policy in Korea.

Special Evening Telegram.

SEOUL, Korea, Aug. 27.
Lieut.-Gen. Teranuchi, Japanese Resident-General in Korea and negotiator of the convention of annexation, which, it may be stated, will be officially promulgated next Monday, said to-day in a statement to a correspondent of the Associated Press regarding the annexation: "No stone will be left unturned to make the Koreans and the world feel that Japan's rule in Korea is a beneficent thing for the Koreans. It will and must imply no degradation for the Koreans who, under the annexation, will enjoy exactly the same rights in Korea as the Japanese. It is the wish and command of the Emperor of Japan that every effort be made to make the Koreans feel no humiliation but rather relief through the annexation. The policy of Japan in administering the new portion of the Empire will be directed toward a steady improvement of conditions."

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.
Mayor Gaynor was removed from St. Mary's Hospital in Hoboken this morning to his country place at St. James, Long Island. He bore the trip well, but his insistent plea to be allowed to walk unaided resulted in three distressing incidents. The Mayor left the hospital at 9.30 this morning. Drawn up in the courtyard of the hospital to give him a final salute were 50 orphan children, cared for by the institution.

The Fogota's Voyage.

The s.s. Fogota, Capt. B. Barbour, arrived here at 10.30 a.m. yesterday from Fogo District. She had fine weather the whole trip with smooth water, but Thursday night she experienced rather unusual conditions. To complete the circuit Capt. Barbour was anxious to get over from Fogo to "change Islands before dark and set out to do so, but just after getting outside of the former port a dense fog of smoke closed down on the water and nothing could be seen, though the captain hugged the shore closely. The searchlight was then set going, but even with the aid of this no trace of the coastline could be had. Capt. Barbour was anxious to "pick up Stone Island, but nothing could be seen of it for over an hour. It was the captain's intention to anchor there and the lead was thrown and 25 fathoms of line paid out, but no bottom could be found, so that the ship was compelled to proceed in the gloom, though conditions were dangerous for navigating these waters. The Prospero was hung up at Seal Cove, at the rear of Fogo, and could not proceed owing to the dense smoke. After picking up Stone Island and the captain took a S.W. course to Hare Bay Head, and this being high land he could see over the smoke. He then took a N.W. course for Change Island Tickle and struck the right entrance, when she made port. She left Fogo at 7.35 p.m. and did not make Change Islands until 10.30, covering the 4 miles in three hours. When the searchlight was set going a peculiar circumstance was noted. Myriads of the little birds known as stormy petrels flew around the ship and many of them made straight for the light and were dashed to death, while others hit the bridge and were killed, and several times the light had to be shut off as mate Wesley Kean could not work it owing to the birds flying against his face. The passengers on deck were frequently hit by them and several of the birds flew into the smoking room and the captain's room on deck. Quite a number which were killed were swept off the decks by the crew. Capt. Barbour thinks that the smoke was the result of an extensive local forest fire. The ship left Change Islands Friday morning in a dense fog and on arrival at Seal Cove the Prospero had just left there. The ship handled 200 passengers on the round trip. Her passengers for this port were: Miss Malcolm, C. Bennett, Eli Russell, P. A. Abbott, Miss L. Abbott, N. Kean, R. White, A. S. Windsor, Mrs. M. Rice, S. Whiteway, and family, Messrs. Sherman, Power, Gillis, Valentine, Young and 7 steerage.

Beating Their Way.

As the shore train which arrived here Saturday night was coming down the South Shore, two foreigners got on board very quietly at Seal Cove, and when Conductor Kelly asked them for their tickets, they said they had been in the cars for some time, and that he, the conductor, had taken them. The conductor was on to their little game and told them to stomp up their fares or get. They thought to brazen the matter out, but Conductor Kelly is no "greeny," and stopping the train near the Gullies he quickly "fired" both.

Naval Vessels Ashore

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, Aug. 27.
Two British vessels, the torpedo boat destroyer Success and torpedo boat No. 13, were blown ashore on the Scotch coast by a gale this morning. The Success is aground off the Firth of Clyde. It is believed that she can be pulled off without much damage, but the torpedo boat No. 13 is driven hard on the rocks near the entrance to the Clyde and is seriously damaged. There were no casualties in either case. The Success is a destroyer of 380 tons, built in 1901, with a speed of 30 knots. The 13 is a new boat of the programme of 1907 of 256 tons; her speed was about 26 knots.

Football League Meet.

Saturday night the final meeting for the season of the Football League was held to wind up the business of the year. The financial condition of the League will not be made known until the annual meeting in April next; but it was ascertained that receipts for the senior division matches were up to last season, though there was a falling off in those of the brigade division, due to the fact that bad weather prevailed when some of the more important matches were held and consequently there was a small attendance. The medals have not yet arrived and the date for the presentation of these and the cup has not yet been decided upon. The medals will likely be here on the Carthaginian, and when they come arrangements will be made for the presentation of the trophies.
