At daybreak on the eventful day the tenantry were gathered in the master's big hall, whither also were invited a sprinkling of the surrounding gentry. The strong beer was broached, and the black-jacks went plentifully about, with toast, sugar, nutmeg and good Cheshire cheese. If the hacken (the great sausage) was not boiled by daybreak, two young ran her round the market-place until she was ashamed of her laziness. The tables were never cleared, but remained constantly spread throughout the joyful season with huge sirloins of beef, capons, turkeys, geese, plum-

Don't Fail to See It.

The great Super-British Production, "COMRADESHIP."

The text upon which this story is founded, as spoken by the King of England: "I hope that the splendid spirit of comradeship on the battlefield will be kept alive in Peace." "Comradeship" is a picture which will appeal to the moving-picture public even more than did "The Cavell Case." Of a class never before shown here, it will be sure to grip you and hold your breathless interest right through. A seasonable story, inasmuch as it is full of the spirit of Christmas and good-will to men. The Great War was fought for an ideal and the purpose of this picture is the perpetuation of the idea that the spirit of comradeship of the trenches should continue in civil life. Don't fail to see it.

Used After the Bath Dr. Chase's Ointment Keeps Baby's Skin Soft and Smooth

Baby's skin troubles are generally caused by chafing and skin irritations resulting from friction of the clothing.

Baby's skin is tender, and if neglected these irritations of the skin develop into eczema. Everybody knows the suffering caused by eczema and the tendency of eczema to become chronic and spread over the body.

While Dr. Chase's Ointment cures eczerna, it is always better to prevent such ailments, and this is why mothers use the cintment after baby's bath so as to prevent irritations and more serious skin troubles,

> Powders clog the pores of the skin and are on that account a cause of skin irritation. Dr. Chase's Ointment, on the other hand, cleanses the pores and keeps the skin in healthful
