Steamship Service to West Indies.

It is not because a certain section of the present Government has made up its mind to inaugurate a regular steam service between Newfoundland and the West Indies, British, French and Independent, that the project should be accepted by Newfoundland as having every advantage and no disadvantage. That there may be possibilities in the service, no one doubts, yet precipitate action is to be condemned. There is a great deal to be said in favor of such a connection. There is also we think, a great deal more to be argued against it. So far our ocean carriers trade with these islands have not warranted the introduction of large and costly steamships to be common carriers under contract with the Government of Newfoundland. But of course and as usual the Government press always and ever is determined to browbeat those who do not view the proposition from the angle which its writers draw. Honest and straightforward criticism of contemporaries is described as attacks upon and condemnation of the whole project. Before quoting a few interesting trade statistics, officially compiled, as evidence that at this stage there is nothing whatever to warrant the proposed contract, may it be permitted to ask that if this agreement is finalized, what is to become of the locally owned and registered vessels which have been engaged in carrying our exports to and bringing produce from the West Indies generally? Will these and their crews be scrapped, and Norwegians or some other foreigners be given huge subsidies, at the expense of the home fleet of West Islanders? These questions deserve consideration, and are not going to be allowed to be disposed of or answered in the customary flippant and superficial manner so characteristic of those who support through thick and thin, good or evil the policy of the Government of today. The merchant marine of Newfoundland deserve more of the administration than to be literally wiped off the ocean, because political visionaries have made up their minds to have steam carriage to and from the West Indies, probably controlled by foreigners. Anyway ships of two thousand tons dead weight carrying capacity, with accommodation for twenty passengers, are altogether unsuitable for the contemplated service. If any steam carriers are necessary—and we doubt it—at present and under existing conditions, why not fit out the Portia and Prospero, vessels of a tonnage to cope with the present, as well as an increased trade. Neither of these ships is making any money, according to the department operating them, and if they were utilized for this service, at least steady employment would be given Newfoundland mariners forming their crews.

To-morrow some trade statistics will be given in this column, which will prove conclusively that there is, yet, absolutely no warrant for committing the colony to further expenditure in the matter of mail subsidies. Readers are asked to take careful note of the Government organ's reply to the leading questions put in this article, and judge accordingly.

Canadian Revision of Prayer Book.

THE STORY TOLD BY THE RECTOR OF ST. PAUL'S, HALIFAX.

We thank the publishers of "The Story of the Canadian Revision of the Prayer Book," (University Press, Cambridge, McLeod and Stewart, Ltd., Toronto.) for an advance copy of the volume which tells of this most particular and important work. The author is Rev. Archdeacon Armitage, Rector of St. Paul's, and Canon and Archdeacon of Halifax, N.S. and who is also given the title of Custodian of the Canadian Book of Common Prayer. The Proclamation is by the Primate of all Canada, the Most Reverend S. P. Matheson, D.D., who also contributes a foreword. The dedication is "To the memory of the many who worked in the field, but saw not the harvest." There are forty chapters, each one dealing with the particular revision made in the various orders of Prayer and Offices. A complete review of a work of such a monumental nature would be well nigh impossible to write for a daily newspaper, yet one cannot but feel that much of the beauty and simplicity of the revision work will be lost, unless this is done by some theologian who has followed and compared the changes made in the Book of Common Prayer as used by the Anglican Church the world over. These changes, we think, on the whole are acceptable, not being drastic or open to controversial discussion, and are to be commended. Briefly in the first part of the volume the author, who was Secretary of the Revision Committee, tells the story of the movement for this revision in Canada, portrays the revisers at work, and records the progress of the revision through its many stages. In part two he takes the Revised Prayer Book, service by service and shows what alterations were made, and the sources or origin of the new matter introduced. Canon Dyson Hague, pays a splendid tribute to the author, when he writes that "Archdeacon Armitage was undoubtedly, throughout the whole of the work of the revision of our Canadian Prayer Book, the most conspicuous figure." The first to come and the last to go, he was like the watchmen on the walls of Zion, ever eager, ever alert. The Rector of one of the most important and influential parishes in Canada, an indefatigable worker, an eminent preacher, he brought, in addition to his pastoral labors, a strong and impartial scholarship. In fact it may be safely said that the Canadian Church owes to Archdeacon Armitage for this work a debt that can never be paid, and by many, will never be appreciated. The remarkable tribute that was paid to him by the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada at its last session, when the whole body of Archbishops, Bishops and clergy and laity, stood, while the Primate presented to him the thanks of the Canadian Church, was a well deserved tribute to his indefatigable labors and his untiring activity."

Cod Liver Oil.

Since it has been demonstrated that Cod Liver Oil is rich in oil soluble vitamins, special attention has been devoted to it by the medical profession as a curative agent. Its virtues had long been recognized as a therapeutic agent with great virtue when its richness in the new, but apparently highly valuable, constituent was not known.

Owing to the work of the Research Commission of the British Government in making special investigations regarding medicinal Cod Liver Oil, the University of London is sending out to Newfoundland one of their principal professors and the Lister Institute is doing likewise. They will be accompanied by a biologist, sent out by the British Minister of Fisheries.

This group of scientists visited Norway last year and were given every possible facility by the Government of that country to assist them in their work. It is expected that the very complete and careful attention given to the development of the Cod Liver Oil industry by the Newfoundland Government will show that Newfoundland Cod Liver Oil will head the list as a curative agent, as medical men are said to be finding that the vitalizing element in it is much superior in its effects, to the Cod Liver Oil of any other country.

The scientists named will commence their work at the time of the beginning of the Cod fishing season in order that they may be able to study the Cod Liver Oil industry in every detail. -National Drug News.

Bowring Park

MORE POPULAR THAN EVER.

The gift of Bowring Park to the people of St. John's by that prince of philanthropists, Sir Edgar Bowring is one which has been unequalled in the annals of the city, and day after day its increasing popularity as a pleasure resort for young and old is becoming more and more manifest. The thousands who frequent this ideal beauty spot on half and whole holidays, Sundays and evenings find every attraction to please the eye and to exalt the artistic taste. The sylvan magnificence, the kaleidoscopic floral colors, the lake and brooks with their promise of aquatic pleasure, the swimming pools, wherein bathers of both sexes disport themselves in the art, natatory, all have that drawing power which is so magnetic in nature and which delight the eye and make for innocent sport. We understand that a further improvement and additional attraction is to be a play ground for the children. This indeed will produce the very acme of pleasure for the little ones, and will give added recreation for the hundreds of juveniles to whom Bowring Park is an earthly paradise. Great praise is due Mr. Canning and his capable assistants for the assiduity shown by them in keeping everything trim and tidy.

Belvidere Cemetery.

DECORATION DAY.

On the principal streets and crossings to-day a number of young ladies were engaged selling flowers in aid of St. Michael's Orphanage. To-morrow is Decoration Day at Belvidere Cemetery and many citizens availed of the opportunity to purchase flowers to lay on the graves of relatives and friends.

Fire at St. Pierre.

BARQT VIANA BURNED ON DOCK.

The French Barqt Viana, which some time ago put in here in a damaged condition, was partly destroyed by fire at St. Pierre on Thursday last. The vessel was undergoing repairs when the blaze started. It burned for six hours and the forward part of the ship was gutted. The Viana had on board a cargo of salt for St. Pierre when she put into this port, but owing to her damaged condition it had to be disposed of before she was towed to the French Colony for repairs.

Garden Party at Manuels.

PROCEEDS EXCEED ANTICIPATIONS.

The Manuels Garden Party held yesterday at Power's Court proved highly successful, and the proceeds are in excess of the sum anticipated. By the train from St. John's a very large number of people arrived, and these added to the crowds from near-by settlements, helped to make the day the success it was. During the afternoon some interesting sports items were held. The side shows, stalls and tea tables were well patronized and altogether an enjoyable time was spent by those present.

Motor Accident.

A Ford motor car, driven by Mr. G. Howell, was ditched yesterday on the Bailline Line, and a man and woman, passengers, were somewhat hurt by being thrown against the front seat. In trying to avoid a deep cut the car struck a big stone, and turned sideways into the ditch. After considerable trouble the machine was hauled out on the road, and beyond a broken tire was not damaged.

Obituary.

JAMES NORMAN.
After several months illness, there passed away yesterday, a prominent citizen of Gambo in the person of James Norman. His passing occurred at his home, Dark Cove, in his 79th year, cancer being the contributing cause of his death.

The late Mr. Norman was a native of Greenspond, but had resided here most of his life. Besides his widow he is survived by one son and three daughters. He was an anglican in religion, and for many years held the office of rector there. He had the distinction of a true church member, and one of its staunchest supporters. To the bereaved ones we extend our sincere and heartfelt sympathy. -S.J.I.

Valuable Capture at Keels.

THIRTY SPERM WHALES DRIVEN ASHORE.

Special to Evening Telegram.
KING'S COVE, to-day.
The thirty fish captured at Keels on Saturday last are pronounced, by one familiar with the whale fishery on the Pacific Coast to be sperm whales. Thus far nothing has been done to manufacture them, the owners being incapable in handling them. Keels was crowded with visitors yesterday to see the bunch of seamonsters, as they lay along the strand at Sandy Cove. Hon. W.F. Coaker was to have been there yesterday, but owing to the insecurity of the bridge at Blackhead Bay, was unable to pass over it in his car. -CORRESPONDENT.

Rotary Spirit in Action.

OUTING FOR CRIPPLED AND DELICATE CHILDREN.

Arrangements have practically been completed by the Rotarians for the entertainment and outing to be given the handicapped and delicate children tomorrow. An energetic Committee have been working hard the past week securing the names of all the children, and the Entertainment Committee have left nothing undone to make Rotary's First Children's Day a complete success from the children's standpoint. Rotary members will call for the children at their homes at 2:30 p.m. and all cars will meet at Cavendish Square at 3 p.m. They will then proceed to Topsail and vicinity, later returning to Smithville for tea. To be followed by a special children's programme of entertainment. The services of the Mount Cashel Brass Band have been secured; moving pictures will be shown, and several of our well known children artists will perform. LADIES' DAY.

At the weekly luncheon to be held at the Green Lantern tomorrow, the wives of the Rotarians will be the guests of the Club; this being the first "Ladies Day" since the Club's inauguration. The chairman for the day will be Rotarian Dr. Tim Mitchell, and Rotarian Charles E. Hunt will give an address. In view of the afternoon's entertainment all members are asked to be on time so that no delay will be experienced.

Female Franchise.

CAMPAIGN OPENING WITH A SWING.

The Committee of the Newfoundland Branch of the Women's Franchise League of the World are now making extensive campaign preparations for the coming battle which they expect to successfully wage against all opposed to this modern movement. The first gun of the new campaign will be fired at Harbor Grace to-morrow afternoon, and as the slowness of war with the League are very strong, there promises to be something doing during the Autumn months. The primary subjects to be discussed as planks in the platform of the Women's Party have already been announced in the Telegram. Others will be given publicity later. There is a tendency on the part of the more advanced leaders to fly higher than local altitudes, and to reach into national atmospheres. In this connection would it not be well to consider that actual home affairs demand first consideration. Verbum Sap.

The Cachalot or Sperm Whale

HAS HIGH COMMERCIAL VALUE.

As reported elsewhere in to-days issue of Telegram a whole school of sperm whales has been driven ashore at Keels, Bonavista Bay. If it is correct that these whales are sperm then the people interested will be of fortune, for the sperm is the most valuable of all whales. According to naturalists, the Cachalot or Sperm whale is one of the largest of living animals, adult males reaching a length of sixty five feet. The head is about one third the total length. From twenty to twenty five teeth are present on each side of the lower jaw, but those in the upper are rudimentary and functionless. The diet consists mainly of cuttle fish, and the cachalot, which is a powerful swimmer goes down to great depths in search of them, and is said to remain under water for so long as twenty minutes at a time. The sperm whale which goes about in "schools" is most common in tropical and sub-tropical waters, especially toward the South, and is absent from both the North and South Polar regions. It possesses a high commercial value depending upon (1) the quantity of oil made from its blubber; (2) the spermaceti, a valuable oil contained in a cavity on the upper part of the great head; (3) ambergris, a concretions formed within the intestine, and found both there and on the surface of seas haunted by the cachalots. The sperm is easily distinguishable from the right and sulphur bottom whales by reason of the peculiar shape of its head, which is unlike that of any living thing on the earth or under the sea. There can be no doubt that if the thirty fish taken at Keels are cachalots, they are worth a veritable sea klondyke.

Daring Escape.

TWO LUNATICS AT LARGE.

The escape of two inmates of the Lunatic Asylum last midnight was reported to the police shortly afterwards by the Superintendent, Dr. Parsons. The patients' names are Grace and Hare. The escape was made by climbing through a skylight on to the roof, afterwards reaching the ground by means of a ladder. The mounted police are scouring the countryside for the men, but up to noon to-day they had not been located.

A tragedy in which two lives were lost is reported in the following message received this morning by the Deputy Minister of Justice from Mr. J. F. Roche, J.P., at Branchville: "Two boys, Charles and Clifford Kareen, were drowned at Lance Point, yesterday, while swimming. Clifford, seeing his companion sinking went to the rescue, and both were drowned. The bodies were later recovered."

Three young men appeared before Judge Morris this morning charged with stealing 5 bottles of brandy from the schooner Armistice. According to the evidence, the men entered the vessel on two occasions, the first being on Monday last, when they got away with the liquor. On their second visit they were not so successful. One of the prisoners was given the option of a $25 fine or two months imprisonment, it being his first offence. The other two were sent down for two months each with hard labour.

INSTRUCTOR HICKEY MAKES PLUCKY RESCUE.

Promptness on the part of Lawrence Hickey, swimming instructor at Long Pond, saved a youth from drowning yesterday morning. Hickey saw the boy struggling some yards from the bathing house, and not having time to get a boat, jumped in the water with his clothes on. He had to take the lad from the bottom and swim with him to shore. The boy was resuscitated by a number of people, who witnessed the incident. Hickey, who has already been recognized by the Royal Humane Society for saving life, has rescued several inexperienced swimmers this season.

After trying various preparations prescribed by the doctors without producing effect, we used Gibson's Ointment and this gave almost instantaneous and permanent relief. The Ointment was used regularly until the wounds had completely healed and there was no return of the irritation." (Signed) CHCIL WYLD.
