Che Foo, June 6 - 1:30 a.m. - But two miles separated the Japanese and Russian armies on the Liao Tung peninsula on June 2, according to Chiwho have arrived here from Dalny. The Japanese army, reinforced by the men who landed at Dalny, occupied Twing Ching and also San Chimpo, several miles west of Dalny. They then proceeded along the coast toward Port Arthur. On one side of the army are high mountains and on the other side is the sea, from which the Japanese gunboats are supporting the flank of the army. On June 2 the Japanese forces were within seven miles of the outer forts of Port Arthur, only two miles from the Russian army, which is ready to contest their, further advance. The Chinese believed that there would be a big battle at this point.

It is also stated by the Chinese that the Japanese have moved their base Dainy from Talienwan. larger Japanese ships are anchored outside the smaller ones inside the harbor. Troops are being landed, they say, from small vessels, apparently from Pitsewo or the Elliott Islands. The Chinese further reported that a number of Chinese have been shot while attempting to get through the

COSSACKS LOST THIS ONE.

London, June 6. - The Japanese and Russian forces located north of Pulantien, which were in a series of brushe during the early part of last week, had another encounter on Friday, June 3, near Chu Chia Tun. On that day the Japanese cavalry met the Russians at noon. Russians numbered two thou sand men and were composed of infantry, detachments of cavalry and artillery. They were pressing the Japan ese cavalry when the Japanese assembled their entire force and engaged the enemy. The Russians drew off gradhalf-past five in the af ternoon they retired to Telishu.
